Flat arched windows; rock-faced window lintels with brackets; rock-faced lug window sills; flat arch window with smooth stone window lintels and sill - six in section B.

43 History and Significance Goldie Kennett owned the house about five years. She had worked at the State Hospital, has retired and is moving to Arizona to live with her daughter.
This house has at least Neighborhood Significance and should be preserved. It is a good example of a small brick worker's home built in a vernacular style and made quite distinctive by the way the window lintels have been treated; it is a unique variant of its style in Fulton.

the basement was also added by Mr. & Mrs. Murphy; new wood floors were put in 12-15 years ago.

#42. Segmental arch windows and doors; heavy stone lintels over basement windows; stone lug window sills. There are no interior hallways in the house; the interior walls are very thick, according to Irene Murphy, and they are very well insulated. The house has always been painted red as far as she knows.

43 History and Significance

The Wrights moved here approx. 4 yrs. ago; they bought the house from Mrs. Julie McCune who had lived in it for approx. 4 yrs. The house has also been owned by Bruce Halsey since 1968. This house is probably contemporary with 205 W. 2nd. The two of them are good examples of worker's cottages which may have been built by German bricklayers.

42. Further Description of Important Features

The house has had numerous alterations and additions. The kitchen was enlarged and a hobby shop & garage were added; a bathroom was added and the porch railing was added; the original interior woodwork has been replaced. The siding has been altered. The original part of the house is a log cabin.

43 History and Significance

The Matsons have owned this house since Sept. 1953. The original structure of this house is of log construction and, according to the Matsons, may be antebellum. Further research is needed, both physical and otherwise, in order to determine the degree of significance this house has.

rough ashlar construction, hipped dormers on front & rear, sided with wood shingles, flat arch windows on 1st story, segmtl. arched windows on basement level, enclosed rear porch is sided with asbestos shingles and the foundation of this porch has been reinforced by concrete; a bathroom has been added; the front porch steps have been altered

43 History and Significance

Oscar Taylor, a stonemason & builder built the house in 1917. It was completed in May of that year, according to Rose & Elizabeth Green, the current residents. Taylor sold it to William Woods College; later Stuart Kikley owned the house. Mr. & Mrs. William Green bought the house about 30 years ago.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings

The present owners believe that the cannon-shaped rock in the front yard is an interesting feature of the house.

This house is an excellent example of a variation of the Bungalow style of architecture which may reflect an influence from the German architecture found in Missouri. It is very significant architecturally for the City of Fulton. Further research may reveal a greater degree of significance.

This building was an excellent example of a Missouri-German stone commercial building. In addition to that it was probably one of the rare examples of a 3-story building of this type; further research would have been required to determine this. This building stood like a symbol of Fulton's strong German heritage; it should have been preserved.

It was built in the early 1860's for H. T. Doerries as a dry goods store; early ads for his business have been found in the Missouri Telegraph, vol. 20, Sept. 2, Sept. 9, Sept. 16, Sept. 23, Sept. 30, Aug. 12, Aug. 19, Aug. 26, 1864, which advertise that he sold "cigars, tobacco, candies, oysters, sardines, etc."

In the May 12, 1865 issue of the Missouri Telegraph an ad states " (H.T.) Doerries and (J.A.) Moore's Mammoth Grocery Store is now open and in full blast at "Doerries Large Stone Building" corner of Broadway and Court Streets.

When Doerries died it was written in his obituary that "the career of Mr. Doerries in an example of what thrift and energy will do. He began life as a poor boy and grew to be a man of means & influence."

He was born in the Dukedom of Brunswick, Germany, received a fair education in Germany learning the barber and dentistry business, served as Captain-at-arms in the German Army between 1844-51 and c. 1851 came to the U.S. He landed at New Orleans and went upriver to St. Louis, where he stayed for about 5 years. In St. Louis he married Miss Henrietta Sweeney and they had a daughter, named Emma. Sometime between 1855 and 1858 the family moved to Fulton, where Henrietta, at the age of 21, died. (She is buried in Pioneer Cemetery). Doerries is reported to have worked as a barber during his first years in Fulton; but by January of 1861 he was advertising the same services in partnership with Nathan C. Kouns; he was also advertising in the German St. Louis papers at this time. On May 22, 1861 he married Lucy Jane Davis of Fulton; and the same year or shortly thereafter he opened his groceries store. He continued to operate this business until shortly before his death in 1904. He was a leader in Republican politics in Fulton; c. 1884 he served as Fulton's City Treasurer; c. 1900 he entertained Republican Postmaster General Hon. Carl Schurz at his home in Fulton; and he was said also to have been a founding member of the German Evangelical Church (now the United Church of Christ) in Fulton.

After his first wife died, his daughter, Emma also died, in 1874 at age 17. He had a number of children by his second wife: Alvin V., William R., Souis W., Herman T., Anna P. and Lillie.

2 E. 4th & 316 Court/2

The Doerries building seems to have been used for a variety of things after Doerries died. In 1910 it was listed as a Sewing Machine (factory?), in 1917 it was a bottling warehouse, and between 1910 and 1917 the E section of the building that was situated behind 4 E. 4th (a smoke house?) had been removed. In 1968 it was a laundromat; and it was a pool hall last year before it was vacated prior to demolition by Bill Hardin. The upper floors were being used as low-rent apartments.

43 History and Significance

According to the Sanborn maps this was built between 1884 and 1890. In 1890 it was listed as a harness shop; this was also the case in 1895. From 1902 until the 1917 Sanborn map it was listed as a barber shop; it was probably Giles Bell's barbershop, a descendent of slaves brought to Missouri by the Ovid Bells ancestors.

43 History and Significance

Alke's Meat Market was established in 1883 at another location on E. 4th (no longer extant). He handled fresh beef, pork, mutton and all kinds of sausages, as well as smoked and dried meats and fish. Mr. Alke used to kill most of the meat sold, at his store. The Sanborn maps indicate that there used to be quite a few butchering-related bldgs. behind this one. In 1912 Alke employed 5 other people.

August Alke was born in Germany in 1851 and was educated there. He came to Fulton when he was 31 yrs. old and was always in the butchering business. He was a member of the Maccabees and the Knights and Ladies of Security, A.O.U.W. and was, according to the 1912 Fulton Souvenir, considered one of Fulton's "progressive citizens." In 1907, August Alke lived at 201 Nichols with his wife Laura and their children Emma and August J. Alke.

#36 (cont.) there used to be a balcony on the 2nd floor; it was still there in 1937 (see photos pertaining to E. 4th) #97, 115

43 History and Significance

J. Albert Frank ran a saddlery here for many years (in 14 E. 4th); After he died, W. F. Schultze and E. W. Erdman started their saddlery business. They handled harnesses, vehicles, whips, robes, saddlery & turf goods, as well as Regal Buggies. They employed 3 harness makers & used 2 floors (92 x 22 ft.).
12 E. 4th was a general store from 1890-1917, according to the Sanborn maps.

Central segmental arch window was taller - it has been bricked in to make all windows closer to the same size - the center window is now smaller. Marker above ctr., 2nd story window - "J.F. Wichmann" 1877; decorative cornice.

43 History and Significance

An advertisement in the Callaway Gazette, Nov. 30, 1877 indicated that: "John Weichman (sic) has just opened his large and elegant saloon on Columbia Street (4th St.) and will sell wine, whisky, brandy and beer, foreign and domestic". The editors of the Gazette then added that "Pap" was an "old hand in the saloon business" and would keep all the brands on hand constantly.

Triangular-shaped window panes in upper section of 1st story and in windows of shed dormer.

This motif may indicate that the house was built by Bell.

#36. the kitchen has been remodeled and a bathroom has been added.

43 History and Significance

Sanborn maps indicate that this house was built between 1910 and 1917. Juanita Woolery inherited this house from her husband, who inherited it from his father, who had the house built c. 1910. The house is a good example of the bungalow style of architecture. Its significance is decreased because of commercial encroachment.

#42. George Bellamann did the woodwork. Decorative scrollwork in bargeboard area; decorative jigsaw work on porch, stained glass panes frame a clear pane in upper section of facade windows, transom light above front door. This house has not undergone any major alterations , according to Mabyl Backer. It has only been rewallpapered. It has always been painted white, she says.

43 History and Significance Fred Backer had this house built. He was Mabyl Backer's father, and in 1907 Mabyl lived here with her parents, Fred & Louise, and her sisters Nellie and Myrtle and her brother, William Ernest. Fred Backer was a baker and had a bakery shop (Backer & Backer's Bakery) that was located at 8 W. 4th in 1907. Mabyl Backer has lived in this house all her life.

This house is a significant example of a Queen Anne Revival Cottage with Gothic Revival Detailing on it; it is significant also because it has been so little altered and because it is still owned by the original family.

43 History and Significance
This house should certainly be eligible for inclusion within a multiple resources district. This small house with elements of the Italianate style is particularly significant because this style of architecture is so rare in Fulton. Further research is needed to determine the extent of the historical significance of this house.

42 Further Description of Important Features One cast iron facade with pressed tin cornice covers the three buildings (11-15 E. 5th); the balls with pedestals have fallen off the W side of the cornice, however they remain on the E side; the center section is surmounted by a pedimented gable; below that is a lintel decorated with squarish rosettes, with round rosettes articulating each place where a pilaster intersects with the lintel; below the lintel is a... (see cont. page)

43 History and Significance According to the Sanborn maps, these two buildings were built between 1890 and 1895. In 1895 and 1902, 11 E. 5th was the location of the Post Office; and 13-15 was a clothing and boot and shoe store. The two buildings had (an) iron clad front(s). In 1910, 11 E. 5th was a milliner's shop (the Post Office was located at the SE corner of E. 5th and Market, in the Bell Block.) 13-15 E. 5th was listed ... (see cont. page) denticulated cornice with a relatively plain entablature below it; each building has a fluted pilaster at each corner - thus there are four fluted pilasters dividing the whole cast iron facade into three sections; each window is flanked by a smooth pilaster or a smooth pilaster and part of a fluted pilaster if it lies next to one of the tri-sections mentioned above; each pilaster has a squarish rosette above it. The windows are tall and narrow, sash-type; there are four narrow windows in the central section and three wider windows in the two outer sections of the three buildings. The building at the W still exhibits some of the lower part of its cast iron facade; the central and E sections are obscured by an obtrusive "Western Auto" sign.

11 E. 5th has two rows of denticulation in a cornice-like treatment below the windows; below that are circular motifs; this latter section of the facade below the windows is flanked by bracket-like details each of which is decorated with an inset squarish rosette and a larger squarish rosette below it; portions of the fluted pilasters are still visible on the lower story of the Western Auto part of this group of buildings; both buildings 11 and 13-15 have had their first stories altered quite a bit in order to incorporate large plate glass windows into the facade.

42. Further Description of Important Features

#34. Brick facade added after 1900.
#42. On the rear (N) wall the stone construction can be seen; it is stuccoed over on the E. wall. The walls appear to be one and a half to two feet thick. The interior of the building has been altered several times and in 1975 part of the W wall was removed in order to connect the building to 13 E. 5th next door.

43 History and Significance: This building is historically significant for several reasons. For one it was one of the first buildings built downtown. This building has been an office building, a dry goods store, and a Western Auto store. It has been an integral part of the growth of Fulton. It was originally built by the Tucker family and was part of the V.E. Reed estate before being bought by Robert Guerrant in 1975.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings

This building has a store front facade and is in an urban setting. It is bounded on the W ide by another building.

43 History and Significance: The Fulton Gazette was established in 1877. Ovid Bell, Sr., began publishing the paper in 1901. In 1912 it changed from a weekly to a daily paper. Ovid Bell sold the newspaper business in January, 1927 and established the Ovid Bell Press. He continued to operate the business in this building until 1936 when the present building located at 1201 Bluff was built. At that time the Sun Gazette ... (see cont. page)

Publishing Co. bought this building.

In 1912, the author(s) of the Fulton Souvenir wrote: "The Gazette occupies its own building, a commodious brick structure located at the corner of East Fifth and Ravine Streets, which was erected for its special use, and which is said to be a model printing house building. A standard linotype, two fine cylinder presses, three job presses and half a dozen other standard printing office machines are included in its equipment business, probably is better prepared to handle fine work than any office between Fulton and St. Louis."

This building is well-preserved and is especially significant in that it is still being used for the "special use" it was designed for.

#43. (cont.)

This house has significance because it is a good example of a Queen Anne Revival Style of architecture, probably designed by M. Fred Bell, c. 1890. The house can still be restored and should definitely be preserved.

Further research is necessary to establish the degree of significance the house has; but its association with Bell's daughter, Beulah and her husband, George, definitely increases its historical significance.

This house sits on the property that was owned by Sallie Ann McCredie from 1852 until 1878, when she sold the property to James K. Sheley, Jr. James K. and Kate B. Sheley owned the property for about a year and then sold it on May 14, 1879 to John F. Craigo for $1000. (Bk. 12, p. 13)

John F. Craigo gave the property to his wife, Annie, on December 31, 1881 (though the Deed was not filed until October 25, 1887). On September 23, 1882 the Craigos borrowed $500. (Bk. I, 69). On February 26, 1886, they borrowed $1000 (Bk.L, 79). On January 25, 1887, they borrowed $1000 (Bk. N, 535), and on July 1890 they borrowed $675 from M. Fred Bell (Bk. Q, 410). On February 17, 1891, July 24, 1902 and September 17, 1903 a total of $4100 more was borrowed (Bk. R, 421; Bk. 4, 129; and Bk. 15, 402). Annie and John Craigo deeded the house to Mary Alice Craigo on June 10, 1910.

Further research is needed on the Craigo family.

On August 26, 1911 Miss Mary Alice Craigo sold the property to Greene D. McCall for $2900 (Bk. 70, 493). He and his wife, Minnie owned the property for a few years, and on January 13, 1914 they sold it to S.V. Lynes and his wife, Annie. (Perhaps this was about the time that the new house of the McCalls was finished and ready to be moved into - 301 E. 5th). (Bk. 75, 128)

On August 10, Mr. and Mrs. Lynes sold the property to A. Finley (Bk. 80, 334). Mr. Finley's will was admitted to probate court on June 3, 1916, his daughter Madge, inherited the property, and sold it to George Berry on January 8, 1920 (Bk. 84, 587).

George W. and Beulah Bell Berry, M. Fred Bell's daughter, owned the house until October 1944 when they sold it to C.D. Carrington for $1000 (Bk. 129, 285).

The Carrington's sold the property to Donald J. and Frances J. Tucker on July 23, 1959. Louis Steinrauf now owns the property.

#36. New concrete foundation; pipe porch railing; siding altered; aluminum storm windows and doors; asbestos roll roofing on porch roof. #42. Dentil brackets in pedimented entranceway of porch; diagonal bracing of hewn wood decorates porch; porch has exposed rafters and narrow vertical wood strips form porch railing (as at 319 W. 7th); rope-type molding decorates cornice of gable on facade.

43 History and Significance

This house may date before 1884 and was probably designed by M. F. Bell; an engraving of this block appears in the 1884 Callaway County History. It has been altered considerably but it still has Neighborhood Significance. Its significance could be increased with proper restoration.

Wall was originally stuccoed, aluminum siding added 15 years ago; new entrance door; new brick porch steps; enclosed rear porch and enclosed porch on E side. #42. Hipped dormer, wide overhanging eaves; two triple windows as at 219 E. 5th; transom light with six beveled glass panes and five beveled glass panes in each of the sidelights that surround the entranceway.

43 History and Significance: The Cookes have owned the house since 1958; they bought it from Dr. G. McCall. Dr. McCall was a prominent physician in Fulton. In 1912 he had an office in the First National Bank Building. He was born in Portland, Mo. in 1873, and received his early education there. Later he came to Westminster College and then attended Barnes Medical College. After that he took a post-graduate course in medicine and surgery in Chicago, Ill. Besides being a physician and surgeon, Dr. McCall was also a member of the Masons, I.O.O.F., and the Elks. He was a county physician and health officer for a number of years and was also a surgeon for the C & A Railroad at Fulton.

This house is an excellent example of the Spanish Bungalow style of architecture. A proper restoration is recommended to increase its significance.

An addition (recreation room and garage) is being built at the rear; some aluminum storm windows #42. Corner pilasters, denticulated molding on gabled facade, tripled Tuscan porch pillars; decorative appliqué work on gabled facade; some windows have wooden segmental arches.

43 History and Significance: Mrs. Danuser has owned the house for 12 years. She believes that the house was built c. 1900-10 by M.F. Bell. The Boyd family owned this house at one time. Other previous owners include: G. Backer, G. Schaeffer and Lois Fisher (1968).

This is a very nice example of a small cottage with Queen Anne detailing which exhibits the beginning of a Bungalow style influence.

Slate roof replaced with asbestos shingles; some foundation work has been done; aluminum storm door, some white aluminum storm windows; new front door. (See cont.page).

43 History and Significance

This is an excellent example of an Eclectic Style of 19th c. architecture which has a combination of Fr. 2nd Empire, Queen Anne Revival and Neoclassical Revival Elements in it. It has special significance, however, for the City of Fulton - having been built by Bell for his family it is symbolic of him and his tremendous contribution to Fulton, and particularly to the architecture of Fulton.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings

Gazebo-has new foundation built in 1977; pagoda-like roof; latticework; semicircular windows with stained and clear glass panes; rows of "engaged balls" and paneled wood as decoration (some of the engaged balls are missing)(See cont.page).

42 Further Description of Important Features #36. Aluminum storm windows and doors; sandblasted; originally had slate roof. Mr. Hague removed shutters on the house when the Bakers owned it. #42. Decorative cornice with denticulated molding and dentil brackets; corner pilasters; pedimented porch entranceway; balcony over pedimented section of porch; Tuscan porch columns; Palladian window (with enlarged wood keystone in center window and lattice side windows) ... see cont. page

43 History and Significance Mr. Hague has owned the house about one year; he purchased it from Frazier and Mary Virginia Baker who owned the house for about 20 years having bought it in 1958 from John Jacob Neukomm, son of John Neukomm, who succeeded his father in the tailoring business in Fulton (taken over after his father's retirement c. 1881). The house was built in three or four stages. The original house built c. 1865...see cont. page

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings The house at one time had a white wrought iron fence surrounding it; a walnut grape arbor is now located on the W side of the house; there is a 2-car brick garage located at the SE corner of the lot.

45 Sources of Information Interview with Ronald Hague by J.M. Medart - 11/20/78. "House of the Week", Fulton Sun-Gazette, March 25, 1971, p. 8. History of Callaway County, Missouri (St. Louis:National Historical Co., 1884), p. 688.

located in gabled dormer; imbricated shingles on dormer; some heavy stone window sills and lintels; some windows, including those on the porch, have segmental arches; art nouveau style stained glass window on E side (in dining room); leaded glass transom light over doorway and in transom window of bay window on facade (N side); solid brass window hardware.

The woodwork in the house is quarter-sawn oak - floors in the front, first-floor rooms are parqueted with a border of different kinds of wood. The dining room floor, however, is made of 16' long maple wood planks. An oak partition is between the staircase and living room has decorative wood molding on it; stained glass window is located on landing of staircase.

contained one ground floor room and one attic room and was constructed with square nails. In 1910 John Neukomm had the main section of the house built, the front part of the first floor and an enlargement of the second floor, apparently using designs of M.F. Bell. Special care was taken to match the original bricks; they are said to be hand-made.

Finally, in 1970, the Bakers added a rear addition with a bedroom, bathroom, laundry and a second story porch. The Bakers also sandblasted the home to remove the paint on the brick exterior and had the brick tuckpointed.

This house is a significant example of the Neoclassical Revival Style of architecture in Fulton. In addition, it is a very well-preserved example of a house designed by Bell. The house also has historical significance because of the fact that it was built for J. J. Neukomm, a member of one of Fulton's prominent families. J. J. Neukomm was born in Fulton in 1861, and was the son of John Neukomm, whom he followed in the tailoring business. J. J. Neukomm established the Neukomm Clothing Company at 509 Court St. in 1908; however he had been in the family business since 1886.

W.H. Humphreys was born in Callaway County in August, 1841, the son of John and Susan (Crawford) Humphreys, born and raised in Virginia. The Humphreys came to Callaway Co. and settled in New Bloomfield, where John Humphreys worked as a tailor for many years. W.H. Humphreys was raised and educated in New Bloomfield, learned the cabinet-maker's trade and worked at it there until 1868. He then went to Texas where he worked as a carpenter, but he returned to New Bloomfield a few years later and went into the furniture business. After eight years in the furniture business in New Bloomfield, he came to Fulton in 1879 and went into the furniture business here, as indicated above.

On December 10, 1861, W.H. Humphreys married Julia A. Slaughter of Audrain Co. They had five children: Sallie A., Effie, Susan, John and Evelyn. The family attended the Presbyterian Church, and Mr. Humphreys was a member of the A.O.U.W. and the Masons.

Evelyn Humphreys was a teacher of the deaf and has been recognized as one of Fulton's famous women.

Previous owners since 1968: Mr. & Mrs. W.W. Hardin, Raymond P. Williams, Ernest Mirts, and Walter E. Henderson (1968).

Henderson's Department Store was established in 1909 and in 1912 was said to have been "one of the largest and most extensive establishments of its kind in north Missouri". The store handled ladies ready-to-wear, shoes, gents furnishings, dry goods, rugs, and millinery. Nine clerks were employed in the business in 1912.

W.H. Henderson, the manager of the store, was born in Fulton in 1875, and went to school in Fulton, including Westminster College. Before beginning his own business, Henderson worked for 12 years as a traveling shoe salesman.

In 1912 the real estate, insurance and loan firm of Adcock, Gilpin and Criswell was located in the Henderson Building.

43 History and Significance: Since this house has been so greatly altered in appearance, it is primarily of interest because of its age and the fact that it was moved.

Walter Backer, a grocer, (store located at 5th & Nichols, where Klinginsmith's Chiropractic Office is now), moved the house to its (cont.)

present location probably in the summer of 1913 from the SW corner of W. 7th and Jefferson were Elwood Gingrich and his daughter now live. He had had it painted white. (Information from Goldie Backer, Harry Backer, Ruby Thomas Backer, and Gingrich Abstract). Since that lot (200 W. 7th) was partitioned off from a larger corner block on Nov. 5, 1881, the house may very well have been built shortly after.

Mrs. T. L. Nolin, a 92-year old neighbor on 7th St., recalls the house in 1910 when a Mrs. Louis Gaw lived there. She recalls it as having been painted a rusty brown color and Goldie Backer too believes that this may have been the color of the house. Mrs. Nolin also recalls a boardwalk going past the house and has said that the house seemed old to her in 1910.

Ruby Thomas Backer lived in the house as a girl till 1905 but does not recall any details or how long they lived there. (Goldie Backer recalls that there was some sort of separation in the Thomas family at the time. The local story has it that Wilmoth D. Thomas, father of Ruby and Pearl, stole money from the Deaf School where he was business manager for which he served time in the penitentiary. He was also Editor of the Sun Gazette; this would perhaps explain Ruby Backer's lack of memory here. According to local residents, Wilmoth D. Thomas is Miles Jackson in King's Row.)

The Gingrich abstract has not to date been made available for checking information on the house, but Miss Gingrich says the realtor in both the case of the property partition and the last sale before the Gingrich place was built (probably moving date) was W. Ed. Jameson. Also, there is a note in the abstract that the drive between the original place and the property south of it had room enough for horses to draw in a wagon to unload coal.

Walter Backer bought the 206 W. 5th location which was the first partition of the J. T. Bryan property (now four lots). The Bryan's grape arbor ran back somewhere between 204 and 206 W. 5th behind the Bryan house which faced 4th St.

After Mr. Backer's wife and one of his daughters died within a year of each other (the daughter, of typhoid), he sold the place to J. D. Underwood on Dec. 6, 1928 to set up housekeeping in an apartment with his remaining daughter. (This is the beginning of the Rummels abstract.)

There were elderly people living in the house in the forties, one W. Mason McCowan, and two laidies, one a Mrs. Lydia James who was blind and smoked a pipe, according to her granddaughter Frances Brickley.

On July 1, 1949, Mr. McCowan sold the house to Mr. & Mrs. M. L. Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton died on Jan. 7, 1954 and Mrs. Hamilton died on Dec. 11, 1964. The property was purchased on Nov. 6, 1965 by Ida Backer and Jeannie and John Danuser (of Backer Realty and Sky-Go Farms). The Danusers made extensive alterations to the house including the residing, rewiring and plumbing, adding a bath, walls, and enclosing the back porch and putting up the privacy fence.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rummel bought the house from the Danusers late in Nov. of 1971. (Dick Rummel is Chaplain at the State Hospital; Sylvia Rummel is a music therapist and a free-lance writer. - P.S.)

42. Further Description of Important Features: #29. The unfinished basement is just large enough to house a furnace which was probably added at a date later than the house's original construction. #30. Stone piers and concrete block filler #34. Painted cedar shingles and clapboard #36. The cedar shingle siding may or may not be original. Clapboard siding would be more common. There are one-story additions at the rear of the house. (See cont. page)

43 History and Significance: Howard and Pat Maddox have owned this house since c. April 1973. Mr. Maddox is originally from Pulaski County, Missouri.

In July, 1871, Joseph W. and Jessie Wallace sold Thomas B. Nesbit this property and that to the W of it. Nesbit then sold it to Charles M. Wright. (See cont. page)

#36. (cont.)

Aluminum storm windows and probably the shutters have been added.

#42. A half-circle pedimented portico shelters what was apparently an umbrage porch. A fan-shaped section is over the door and sidelights surround the entranceway. There is a transom light above the E door to the enclosed porch on E-central side; cedar shingles still side what were originally the exterior walls. The house has a boxed cornice with gable end returns which have dentils. The cornice on the N facade has eave brackets. Has 6/6 sash-type windows on facade and on first-story room on W side.

The interior has been altered very little which is good although it could use some renovation. The front parlor has a gas-burning fireplace with a very rich-looking dark mahogany or walnut mantlepiece which is very simply styled. The fireplace in the room behind the parlor is wood-burning and has a mantlepiece that has slightly curvilinear panels which suggest more of an Italianate flavor. The woodwork in the front parlor has simply carved molding. The woodwork in the rear parlor is plain.

(A few months later in September, he sold a section [the eastern section] of their land to James H. Dorsey). The 1876 Callaway Co. Atlas lists this property as belonging to Wright but does not indicate that a house stood on the lot. In 1884 and 1886 Charles Wright and his wife, Eleanor borrowed a total of $1800 which may indicate when the house was actually built.

Charles M. Wright was born on November 1, 1844 in Cole Co., son of James L. and Elizabeth Thompson Wright of Pennsylvania and Tennessee, respectively. James and Elizabeth moved from Cole to Miller Co. with their children, when Charles was twelve years old. James was a farmer and a wheelwright. Charles enlisted with the State Militia in 1861 and the Union Army in 1862. For the last six months of the war he worked as a steward in a St. Louis hospital, in which position he served as druggist. Soon after the war he came to Fulton where he worked for two years at the State Hospital as a pharmacist. Then he went to Middletown in Montgomery Co., where he operated his own drugstore. He returned to Fulton shortly thereafter and in 1878 opened another drugstore. He was still operating it in 1912 (when it was located at 518 Court), according to the Fulton Souvenir in which he was described as "one of the pioneer druggists in the state". He was also described as "a highly esteemed and valued member in the Masons and the I.O.O.F." Eleanor Bamber Wright was born in England but raised in Callaway Co.

In 1888 the title to the house was transferred to James H. Dorsey, the Wrights' neighbor (Deed book 28, p. 216), and in 1889 James and his wife Sarah transferred it back to Eleanor Wright (Deed book 50, p. 397). The house was owned by Eleanor Wright until her death on November 25, 1932. Eleanor's heirs were Mable C. Wright, Mary Munson Fisher, her niece-Mary Florence Lynes, and her grandchildren Rose Eleanor Wright Byler and Lee Windsor Wright and his wife Virginia W. Wright. They sold the house in January, 1945 to Dorothy Newland Coats (Deed book 129, p. 485).

Dorothy Newland Coats owned the house with her husband George Dewey Coats until her death on July 4, 1957. Dorothy left some of her favorite jewelry to a number of her cousins. George inherited the house, remarried Mildred Dearman and had a son by Mildred, William Richard. George Coats was apparently associated with the Missouri School for the Deaf, since when he died on September 4, 1965 he willed some of his estate to the Missouri School for the Deaf and the National Association for the Deaf as well as his wife, son, two other relatives - Dorothy Atwood of St. Louis and Mary Jane Friery of California and the Fulton Presbyterian Church.

Mildred Dearman Coats sold the house the following year (June, 1966) to Rudie and Genevieve Fink from whom the Maddoxes purchased the house.

This house is significant because it is one of the few examples of Italianate style architecture in Fulton. It is historically significant as the home of C.M. Wright "one of the pioneer druggists of the State".

300 W. 5th - Addendum

According to the Griffiths, who live across the street, the cedar shake shingles were added to this house by Mr. Coates. He also built the front porch and the mantelpiece in the living room. According to the Griffiths, Mr..Coates was a cabinetmaker, who taught at the School for the Deaf, and made various improvements on the house. He and his wife also removed the old wallpaper which had built up through the years and found that the original horsehair plaster was still intact and in excellent condition.

The John A. Griffiths purchased the house in 1910 from Dr. Baskett who shared the residence with his son-in-law, Dr. G.A. McCall. (They had been in the house since 1908.) The Griffiths moved from the Earl neighborhood (8 miles northwest of town, out past Sky-Go Farms). Mr. Griffith was a farmer and country school teacher. He was born in Millersburg, Ky. in 1847, but was a Callaway County resident most of his life, teaching at Dorsey, Brown, and Portland Schools. He traveled by horse and cart to his work and when living in Fulton kept his horse in the barn a block behind the house. (The property originally extended to what is now W. 8th Street--an area of 2 acres.)

After his death in 1918, Mrs. Griffith took in boarders and from 1924-1926, the residence housed the fledgling fraternity ΘΚΝ (now ΔτΔ) on the second floor. Mrs. Griffith served as housemother to the ten or so members.

In 1926 Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Griffith, the current owners, were married and she joined the household. Mrs. Griffith came from Mokane and attended William Woods. Mr. Griffith (b. 1901) and his brother ran the Griffith Hatchery on the northwest corner of 4th and Nichols. He later joined Missouri Hybrid Corn Company where he is still employed half-time.

Previous owners:

Evans (Catherine, Samuel, Willis, B.P.) in Dec. 1869. Lot partitioned from original Nichols government purchase. House probably built sometime during the seventies. Sold in 1882.

McGary (Anna, Susie, Lydia, Louisa) 1882

Robbins (Amanda and Augustos) 1886-1892

Atkinson, C. O. 1892-1898

Brown, John J. 1898-1903

Rogers, Robert 1903-1908

Baskett (Mary J. and T. J.) 1908-1910

This house may have been owned by or even built for the Evans family - the parents or some relation of Dahl Evans, who has been associated with Drake McHugh of King's Row.

A porch was converted to a sun room, double windows were removed to make an opening and a door in the kitchen was closed off. The dining room has been paneled. House was painted white and is now green. A porch bannister was added. #42. Has boxed cornice with returns on end gables, wide entablature board and attenuated corner pilasters. (See cont. page).

43 History and Significance: Mrs. Calvin has owned the house for 16 years; it was purchased from William Pemberton, possibly the original owner.

City Significance - Demolition would be a major cultural loss to the City of Fulton.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings: A garage and one out-building next to it are located behind the house at the SW corner of the lot.

#36. (cont.)

a new floor was put over the original pine floors and all but one ceiling has been lowered from 11' to 9½'; all but one room have been paneled.

#42. (cont.)

Transom light over entrance; tall, narrow segmental arch windows; Tuscan porch columns, nice porch railing with rungs turned on a lathe; front door is paneled and has two round arched windows in it as is the case with the door at 307 W. 5th next door; The interior woodwork is painted; the walls were wallpapered until the Smiths put paneling up.

James Lawther, April 28, 1883; Hans Lawther, December 2, 1884; Edward Levy, February 7, 1899; Robert E. Ebersole, April 16, 1907; Harrison Shiffler, July 8, 1914; J.O. Divers, August 26, 1920; Lena Powell, November 28, 1936; Hover J. and Haden H. Houf, September 16, 1947 and Ronald L. and Pamelia A. Smith, June 17, 1974.

The Smiths believe that the house was built c. 1882 by Samuel Lawther. However, the stule of the house, could indicate a much earlier date; it is possible that the house could have been built by the Evans family, for example. The 1876 map shows a house on either this site or the one next door, listed as the B.P. Evans Est.

Further research is needed to come up with anything conclusive.

This house is significant and should be preserved.

41 Further Description of Important Features
#36. Brick has been sandblasted to remove paint; front porch has been removed, rear porch was removed about a year ago; aluminum storm windows and doors added.
#42. Tall, narrow, segmental arch windows; transom light with stained glass above front door; triangular-top vent in attic.

42 History and Significance
Mrs. Randolph has owned the house approximately three years; she purchased it from a Mr. Devine(?), and a Mr. Neal or Neill (?) owned it at one time. Mrs. Randolph believes it was built c. 1865. Mrs. Randolph is a teacher at Bartley Public School in Fulton.
This house is a good example of a Gothic Revival Cottage and should be preserved.

#36. Siding has been added on rear addition S side with concrete foundation. Slate roof has been painted aqua. Plastic garden fences are being used as decorative shutters. Flat-roofed porch is undoubtedly an addition.
#42. Centre chimney needs some repair work, segmental arch windows with heavy stone sills and segmental arch transom light over entrance.

43 History and Significance

Mr. & Mrs. Kistner have owned the house for 26 years. They bought it from Barton Truitt. Mrs. Kistner believes that their house was built in the late 19th c. This house would be significant architecturally if it were properly restored. Rose Neukomm lived here at one time; this house may have been built for her by her father, John Neukomm. It is thus possible that the house was designed by Bell, a favorite architect for the family.

#36. Front porch has been removed, back porch was converted into a room; a green house on the E. side has been removed; there was at one time an apartment upstairs with an outside staircase leading to it - this has been removed. Kitchen has been remodeled, porch has been added. #42. 11-foot high ceilings, pine floors; on the exterior, decorative Italianate brackets support the roof cornice; staggered dentils decorate cornices in bellcast gable ends as can be (cont.)

43 History and Significance: Dr. Jones, history teacher at William Woods has owned the house since 1962. He purchased it from Mrs. Ollie Pigue. The house was built in the 1870's for Mr. John Neukomm, a Swiss immigrant who came to Fulton and opened a tailoring shop in the 1850's. When he died his daughter Rose Neukomm, who used to sew vests for her father's shop, inherited the house; when she died her daughter (Neukomm's granddaughter), Mrs. Pigue bought it.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings

House sits back from the street on a large corner lot.

The original brick sidewalks are still extant.

seen on the Scott Coley House at 810 Court St.; segmental arch transom can be seen over the double-door entranceway; tall, narrow segmental arch windows; a round arch window is located over the entranceway on the second floor and a round window is situated above the round arch window.

#36. (addendum)

There are 3 one-story additions on this house; A is of brick construction; B and C are frame construction; and C includes a screened-in porch; there was originally a greenhouse on the East side of the house; John Neukomm enjoyed growing and selling plants; the original slate roof was replaced within the last 2 or 3 years

#43. (cont.)

This house has City Significance. It is a very well-preserved example of an Italianate style house, which, in addition to that, was built by M. Fred Bell. The house also has significance because it was built for John Neukomm, one of Fulton's prominent citizens.

#42. (cont.)

Upon further examination this house appears to have begun as a T-shaped cottage to which additions were added with the first addition probably being section AA. This section has a foundation which is treated slightly different from the one on the left - the mortar is molded; the bonding is also common bond but with a different number of stretcher layers than the SW section of the house; also the segmental arch windows are slightly different from those on the SW section of the house because these ones are plain, while the others have slightly projecting keystone.

43 History and Significance On August 9, 1880 John and Kunigunda Neukomm sold a lot to John Langenbach E of the Durr lot. That same month John and Henrietta Langenbach took out a loan, probably in order to build their house.

#42. Stained glass window; 2/2 windows; segmental arch windows with stone lug sills which are painted white; there are four chimneys-three of Neo-Jacobean style, but all four are different from each other.

A porch on the E side has decorative, curvilinear scrollwork brackets; the house has segmental arch doorways. Gabled dormer on N side in mansard roofed section of house; the walls are 18" thick, according to Mary Wilson.

The house had green shutters on it when it was bought by Mary Wilson and Helen Overstreet in 1949. The property also included a smokehouse, a chicken house and an outhouse; there was a brick walkway which led to the garden in the backyard and the outbuildings. These were torn down and the lot behind the house was sold.

Miss Wilson and Mrs. Overstreet added electricity, gas and plumbing to the house. The basement room was paneled. A fireplace was added and a staircase was removed by Ms. Wilson and Ms. Overstreet.

#43. (cont.)

On August 10, 1891, John and Henriette Langenbach sold a lot (& house?) on the north part of their lot to Herman Langenbach.

On December 31, 1892, John and Henrietta Langenbach sold their home to their son, William Langenbach, with the restriction that they would be able to continue living in their home.

John and William Langenbach were both brickmasons.

The house remained in the Langenbach family until Minnie Langenbach, William's wife died on January 31, 1948. Mary Wilson and Helen Overstreet bought the house from the Langenbach estate in May, 1949. Mrs. Overstreet recently sold out her interest in the house to Marjorie Barnes, Mary Wilson's sister.

This is a significant example of German-Missouri domestic architecture in Fulton. It is in a very good state of preservation.

42 Further Description of Important Features: #36. First floor facade has been greatly altered-it is now faced with aluminum and modern (commercial) glass; room-size air conditioners protrude from aluminum sided wall; interior has been paneled and converted into a doctor's office. #42. Second floor originally had 4 windows-sash type (2 over 1), the 2 center windows are slightly narrower than the outer ones. Now the 2 windows on the right (W side) have had their ...(see cont. page) upper sections boarded up. The roof line appears to have a metal cornice with egg and dart molding and cast iron or pressed tin brackets at the corner. There is a chimney at the NW corner of the building. There is a freight elevator located at the back of the building.

43 History and Significance: Mr. Alexander has owned this building for about 8 years. He purchased it from Mrs. John Zickos, 222 W. 6th. At one time it was part of the Ford Motor Company store.

Ten W. 6th seems to have been built between 1890 and 1895, according to the Sanborn Maps. The building was used as a carriage works shop, in which"painting and trimming" were done on the second floor. In 1910 it was listed as a wagon shop.

R.H. Fowler, a blacksmith, ran the business. Fowler was born in Virginia in 1836 and received his education in the rural schools in Callaway Co., according to the Fulton Souvenir. He worked for 15 years in the grocery business in Mexico before coming to Fulton. He was a member of the Masons and was the Mayor of Fulton from April 1898-April 1906 and again from April 1910-April 1914. In 1907 he lived at 107 W. 7th with his wife, Elizabeth, and their daughter, Laura.

In 1917 this building was vacant.

This building has neighborhood significance; restoration is recommended.

42 Further Description of Important Features: #36. Middle bay, 1st floor-now has modern-commercial style window with aluminum siding below; end bays resemble corner towers-the one on the left (E side) is slightly narrower and without the window with 16 over 16 panes and heavy stone lintel and sill that the other "tower" has. #42. Second floor middle bay appears to be stucco. Projecting cornice with dentils; W side faces Nichols - has new board and batten siding- (see cont. page)

43 History and Significance: Mr. Wren bought the building about 5 years ago and remodeled the rear section of it to be a hairstyling salon. He had purchased it from Stan Davies who had purchased it from Mrs. Joan Zickos. The whole building (Wards and Wrenwood's World) was originally a movie theatre - The Gem Theatre. According to the Sanborn maps of 1910 & 1917, this building was built between 1910 and 1917.

42 Further Description of Important Features #36. Has new hardwood floors.
Tuscan porch columns; stone porch with concrete steps - need some repair work; oriel window to right of entrance and on east side of house; west side has a projecting bay entrance has transom and sidelights arranged in a sort of inverted Palladian manner; screen door may be original; a second front door leads off of the front oriel window.

43 History and Significance Mrs. Martin has owned the house since 1954. She says it is a three-generation home. Her aunt, a Mrs. Douglas and her aunt's husband had lived in the house since 1939. Mr. Williams had the house built c. 1905 or 1906.

This house is not in good condition right now, but it is a good example of an early bungalow and could be restored; it has Neighborhood significance.

In 1907, according to the Fulton City Directory, R.H. Fowler, a native of Virginia, a blacksmith and the mayor of Fulton from 1898-1906, and 1910-1914 lived here with his wife, Elizabeth and their daughter, Laura. Mr. Fowler ran Fowler's Carriage Works located at 10 W. 6th.

Because of its association with Mr. Fowler this house has City Significance. Demolitian would be a major cultural loss to the City.

200 W. 7th - Addendum

#43. According to Mrs. T. L. Nolin, who has lived at 203 W. 7th for many years, this house, and the house next door at 202 W. 7th were designed by Hugo Harner, the son of Horace Harner, who went away to school and studied architecture.

Oscar Taylor did the masonry work, including the stone porch posts, on this house and signed and dated the posts Oct. 4 or 5, 1914.

According to Mrs. Arthur Daro, Oscar Taylor's daughter, who lives in Kingdom City, her father always signed his work with his initials and the date. She said that he did a lot of stonework in Fulton, especially during the teens, e.g. the stone gates at the State Hospital and Seminole Apartments. Oscar Taylor built the house at 223 W. 2nd for himself; its heavy stone lintel over the main entrance is dated 1917.

The house that was originally on this site was moved to 206 W. 5th, and is currently owned by Sylvia and Dick Rummel.

43 History and Significance: Mr. and Mrs. Irl Brown Krause have owned the house for eight years (since c. 1970). They purchased it from Mr. Thompson, a political science teacher at Westminster College. Prior to that it was owned by Marvin Moore for over 20 years. Mr. Moore was an important figure in local politics. It is said that President Truman and six governors have slept here. Mr. Krause believes the house may have been built ...

for a jeweler, c. 1906.

Kathryn Christian confirms this belief. She says that this house was built for M. E. Leavens, the jeweler. M. E. Leavens was born in Bloomfield, Canada, in 1865. He graduated from the Ophthalmic College of Chicago in 1895 and, according to the 1912 Fulton Souvenir, had always worked in the "jewelry and optical business". He was a 32nd degree Mason, Knight Templar, and a member of the Elks.

Neighborhood Significance - This residence contributes significantly to the integrity of the neighborhood.

43 History and Significance: The log part of the house was probably built c. 1853. In 1853 the lot on which this house sits was sold to Woodson Johnson and his wife, Mary. It is possible that they were later divorced. In 1870 the property was sold to Martha Johnson for $1827. But in 1874 the property was foreclosed. William F. Marshall and his wife, Dollie, bought the property for $455. (See continuation page.)

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings: In 1964 the original lot was divided in half and a new house was built in the back of this one which faces W. 6th and which covers the original garden. Kathryn Christian has said that before the basement was built you had to "step down" to get to the house.

In 1876, Martha Ford, who was married to D.D. (Daniel) Ford, bought the property. (The name, Mrs. M. Ford, appears on this site on the 1876 map of Fulton.) The front portion of the house, or at least part of it may have been built when Mrs. Ford owned it. She died c. 1890 and left the house to Elizabeth (Betty) Bragg. (Kathryn Christian said that Betty came for a visit and ended up staying in this house the rest of her life.)

Betty Bragg willed the house to Elizabeth McMillan, and she used it as a boarding house. Daniel (Danny) Gage, a professor of Theology at Westminster College, lived here for almost 50 years. (When he died, according to Dave Devaney, more than 2,000 of his books were found in the house.) Elizabeth McMillan willed the house to her niece Nell Goodrich. In 1951, she sold it to Orville and Hattis Baysinger. (Mrs. Baysinger now lives on the S half of this house's original lot which faced on W 6th).

In 1964 Irene and Sam Fleming bought the house. It was sold to A.D. and Lois Mulvaney in 1972; they were living in California and planned to retire in Fulton and live in this house; John Mulvaney, A.D.'s brother(?), lived in the house. Lois Mulvaney sold the house [after A.D.'s death(?)] to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dunlap, who lived here for a year or two and then bought the house they live in now on Court Street.

This house is one of the two or three houses with partially log construction that have been discovered in Fulton. It is most definitely significant and further research is recommended.

43 History and Significance According to Kathryn Christian, Cam Guthrie, the recorder of deeds in 1907, had this house built around 1900 and then sold it to a relative, who later sold it to the Carter family, of which Mrs. Stewart is a member. Mary Stewart bought or inherited the home in the 1960's; she is employed at William Woods College.

Dean Charles McKenzie let some of the displaced Westminster College students live here. Dean Brooke Sloss also stayed in a room on the second floor.

The Presbyterian Church owned this house for awhile and used it as their manse. Mr. & Mrs. Eugene Francis Abbott lived here during that time. (See photograph, #128).

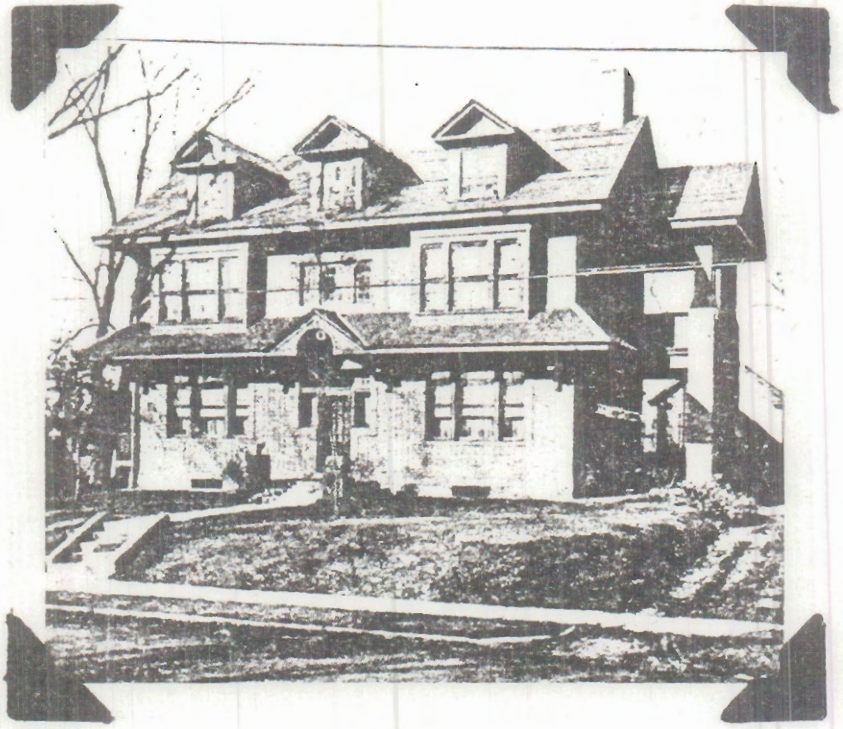

The house was built for Mr. & Mrs. Gooldy, c. 1917. Mr. Gooldy owned a saloon. The couple had two children, a girl, who married Ray Hamilton and moved to West Virginia, and a boy who moved to Colorado; both are deceased, according to Kathryn Christian.

Mrs. Gooldy lived here until she died, according to Ms. Christian.

Neighborhood Significance - This home contributes significantly to the integrity of the neighborhood.

Kathryn Christian, however believes the house was built by J.H. Tureman, Mrs. Marquess' father. According to Ms. Christian, Tureman gave the house to his daughter after she married Prof. Marquess and then Tureman had the house at 320 W. 7th built. E.H. and Mary Tureman Marquess had two children: Marian and Tureman.

E.H. Marquess was born in Gallatin, Sumner County, Tennessee on November 19, 1842. He was educated in Virginia and graduated from Hampden-Sidney College in 1860. He served in the Confederate Army in the "Hampden-Sidney Boy" regiment. After the war he began teaching Latin in Mississippi and came to Westminster in 1882.

Charles Christian, the brother of Robert Christian moved to Fulton from New Bloomfield around 1912. In Fulton he continued to practice medicine and had an office in the Carter Building.

Charles H. Christian was born in Barry, MO in 1861. He graduated from the St. Louis Medical College in 1890. Charles Christian married Annie Ferguson, also of New Bloomfield. They had six children: Estell, Robert, Harvey, Mary Jane, Susan and William. Estell attended Synodical College for two years; she married William Langtree, a high school teacher in Clayton, MO. After Williams death Estell returned to Fulton; she now lives at Presbyterian Homelife. Harvey attended Westminster and Susan attended Synodical; both became teachers of the deaf and both are now retired.

John Paul Taylor, a real estate agent, owned the house after the Christians.

Henry Durst, M.D., lived here with his wife, until they were divorced.

Martha (Whitlow) CLapp was raised in Fulton. Her husband, Harvey Clapp, III grew up in Virginia, worked in the gardens of Washington's home at Mt. Vernon as a youth. He came to Fulton to attend Westminster College and met Martha and then decided to settle here.

City Significance - Demolitian would be a major cultural loss to the City. Historically and Culturally Significant.

#36. (cont.) During the 1930's new hardwood floors were put in throughout the house; at that time the house already had hot air registers, In the late 30's the Fergusons added a bathroom off the dining room on the 1st floor. Between 1942 and 1961 shutters were added which had originally been on a house at 315 W. 7th; the front porch was removed; a patio was built and an opening was created from the dining room to the patio; the doors used had been doors taken from 315 W. 7th; windows were added to a butler's pantry, which has been converted to a breakfast room, a wall was removed between the front and back parlors to make it one large living room; sheet rock was put on the ceiling in the hallway and paneling was added to the walls; 2 windows were closed off at this time (one on each floor); central air was added; and a white wooden fence was added which has since been removed. The Jones completely remodeled the kitchen and removed a stairway to the cellar; they removed a brick fireplace in the process; the bathroom upstairs was remodeled; bookcases were added in an upstairs study; sheetrock has been added in most of the rooms; 3 rooms were added - a playroom, bedroom and bath; and the patio was expanded around 1968.

The cellar reveals that the foundation includes brick and wood supports as well as the stone; and a cast iron Corinthian column can also be seen there, according to Mrs. Jones.

#45. History of the house provided by Wilma Jones using the following sources:

Interview with Maureen Rootes

#43.

The Legal Abstract for 311 W. 7th indicates that on Feb. 22, 1848, William W. Robertson bought the land this property now sits on. He owned the property until May 23, 1894, when he transferred the deed to his children Anna M. Russell and Sallie R. Thurmond and her husband, N. D. Thurmond.

W. W. Robertson was a Presbyterian minister and educator and the founder of the Fulton Female Seminary which according to an advertisement in the Missouri Telegraph, March 14, 1850, was scheduled to open on April 14, 1850. According to O. Bell, this was the only school for the higher education of women between Fulton and St. Louis, and during the ten years of its existence, attendance averaged about 125 students. "The school opened in a dwelling located somewhere southeast of the State Hospital, and soon afterward moved into buildings Dr. Robertson erected for its use at the corner of West 7th and Walnut Streets." According to a historical sketch of Synodical College included in a Synodical College Bulletin, Robertson had begun conducting the school "in a rented house and his new building was a large frame building with 6-rooms which Robertson had erected at his own expense." The Jones house may have been built either as Robertson's own home, which seems the most likely assumption, or it may have been built as one of the school buildings. Another building, which was part of the school was located at the corner of W. 7th and Walnut and was demolished during the 1950's.

According to some Fulton residents, this house has been moved from a site closer to Walnut; others say, "no," that it simply appears that way because of the more recent buildings built between this house and Walnut to the E of it.

Ann Patton Vance, of Fulton, was the first graduate of the seminary, and received her degree in 1854. At the beginning of the Civil War, Dr. Robertson moved to Concord, where he opened and conducted a seminary for boys and girls which lasted several years. The Fulton Female Seminary did not reopen after the War, but it is generally considered the predecessor of the later formed Presbyterian-affiliated Synodical College.

William W. Robertson was born on Dec. 6, 1807 in Danville, KT. He attended Centre College for 2 years and then went to Miami University of Ohio, from which he graduated in 1834. He stayed there and taught until 1840 and in 1841 came to Fulton where he took charge of the Presbyterian Church and the Concord Church. From 1850 until 1862 he ran the Fulton Female Seminary.

In 1850 he was a member of the Committee to consider founding Westminster College. From 1871-83 he was Chairman of the Board of Synodical College. He had married Mary A. Bishop of Oxford, Ohio, and the daughter of Robert H. Bishop, a president of Miami University, in Oct. of 1832. The date of her death is unknown. Robertson died on May 29, 1894.

Robertson had 2 daughters, Anna M. Russell, who married Dr. S. N. Russell of Mexico, Mo. and Sarah, who married N. D. Thurmond Esq. of Fulton, in 1865.

N. D. Thurmond was born on Oct. 30, 1843 in Pike Co., Mo. where his parents had been farmers; in 1857 the family moved to Callaway Co. In 1862 he enlisted in the Confederate Army under Col. Porter but served in this capacity only for the summer as he returned to Fulton to attend Westminster in the fall. He later went to Centre College, Danville, KT. and in 1864, joined Perkin's Regiment. By 1867 he had graduated from Westminster and taught for a year there. He then went to Paynesville, in Pike Co. where he founded the Forgey Seminary. In 1871 he was in Fulton, where he taught high school for women and he also was studying law, which he began practicing in 1876. In 1877 he was a founder of the Callaway Gazette along with James I. Nichols and John J. Rice, but sold out to the other two in June, 1879. He was a director of the School Board in the early 1880's. He and Sallie had 2 children - Ben, who became a Fulton City Engineer and Nellie Thurmond Collet. Sarah Thurmond Hermann attended William Woods College, is a large benefactor of Westminster College and lives in Florida.

In 1904 the house was sold to Maggie S. Cunningham, who was married to John T. Cunningham. They had 2 children, Tom and Morton. They sold the house on Oct. 12, 1908 to George E. Tutt, and his wife Lena. He worked for Henderson-Maughs which later became George Tutt and Son and is now Tutt's Men's Wear, his son B.G. Tutt and his grandson Jack are now the present owners. B.G. Tutt's other son, George, is an artist and Chairman of the Dept. of Art of William Woods College. George E. Tutt's daughter was married in this house and was a long-time distinguished member of the William Woods College Dept. of History and Political Science.

On June 30, 1928 the house was sold to Blossom de S. and James E. Pixlee, who was a Football Coach at Westminster College, developing winning team through the use of "professional" recruiting. (Mrs. Pixlee now lives in California.)

In the 1930's the house was rented to several people including John Pratt, Mattie Belle Pratt Tucker's brother, and Otha Wilderson. Maureen Wilkerson married George Rootes in this house and then moved next door where she still lives.

On Aug. 22, 1935, the house was sold to A. A. and Ada R. Ferguson. Arthur Ferguson was a medical doctor and was president of the Callaway Co. Medical Society the year that the Callaway Co. Memorial Hospital was built.

On July 12, 1939, the house was sold by the Fergusons to John Robert and Margaret Ferguson Henderson. J. R. Ferguson was affiliated with the Henderson Lumber Co., in Mexico, Mo.

On Sept. 1, 1942, Warren C. and Rayma E. Parsons bought the house. Warren Parsons owned Parsons Jewelry Store in Fulton. On Dec. 28, 1960 Warren and Tera Parsons sold the house to Russell Mosley and Wilma Murrow Jones on April 21, 1961. Russell Jones is a professor of European History at Westminster; Wilma Jones was the first woman to serve on the City Council, 1977-79, in Fulton. She was formerly the Chairman of the Physical Education Dept. of William Woods College.

carving in sunburst design; stained glass transoms over 2 of the front windows.(S side) and in transom light over entrance; round window in attic story with 4 projecting "keystones" in wood framing as decorative element; decorative shingles in gable story; attenuated 2-story pilasters at cornices; decorative wood framing in Eastlake style surrounds windows and doors. Double-door entrance with transom hood forms over diagonally faced 'octagonal' room on NE corner of house with drop pendants and pendant brackets and wheel motifs in angle; wide entablature board. There is a stained glass window over the staircase landing with a built-in wooden bench below it. There is a back stairway that goes from the kitchen to the maid's room and also a speaking tube between these 2 rooms.

#43. Mrs. Francis Minor (Maureen) Rootes has lived in the house since 1935. She inherited it from her father-in-law, Dr. George Minor Rootes, D.D.S., in 1933. (Francis Minor Rootes was an abstractor). George Minor Rootes had the house built in 1899. George Bellamann, Henry Bellamann's father, was the woodworker. The sitting room doors were stained by him. He (or his grandchildren) may also have hung the wallpaper. Mrs. Rootes believes that the interior walls of the house were originally painted white, but that a few years later wallpaper was hung that had a large floral pattern. Mrs. Rootes says that the interior has not been changed much. She owns a few pieces of the original furniture, including a blue loveseat, a wooden loveseat and an etagere. Dr. Jerry Reeves had a room here when he was a professor at Westminster College.

The George M. Rootes House is significant architecturally because it is a very well preserved example of the Queen Anne Revival Style of architecture in Fulton and in addition because it was designed by M. Fred Bell.

This home has historical significance, first because it has remained in the original family up until today, and because of the contributions the Rootes family have made to the Fulton community.

Dr. George M. Rootes was a "leading dentist and highly respected citizen of Fulton", according to the 1884 Callaway County History. He was born in Fredericksburg, Virginia on July 6, 1849. In 1865, George moved with his parents, Captain Thomas R. and Mary O. (Minor) Rootes to Pike County, MO. George received a general education in Virginia, entered the Confederate States Navy in 1862, serving until the end of the War, and later studied dentistry in St. Louis. In 1869 he moved to Fulton and set up practice here. The County History asserted that he was "regarded as one of the most capable and skillful dentists... in this section of the State, (and) as a citizen and neighbor he...established an enviable reputation as a man of intelligence, public spirit and upright character." On December 5, 1876, he married Mary F. Watson of Callaway County.

Dr. Rootes was affiliated with the Episcopal Church, while his wife was a member of the Baptist Church, in 1884.

43 History and Significance Robert Hudness, a partner in the grocery business Everhaart and Hudnall, located at Court and 6th in the I.O.O.F. Building, lived here in 1907. Later his sister, Kitty Hoffman lived here. She had been a milliner and her husband had died. Kitty had a son and later a daughter, named Callie; she married Jack Maland. They inherited the house and lived here for many years. (See cont. page).

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings There used to be a barn behind the house where the Malands kept a horse. The Klinginsmiths plan to restore the brick sidewalk. W. 7th also had maple trees along the curbline; these died when gas lines were put in.

In 1912 Jack Maland was a member of the plumbing firm of Bloodgood and Maland. J.G. Maland was born in Minnesota in 1886. He was raised and educated there and later attended school in St. Louis. Jack and Callie had a son named Robert. Jack died in the 1950's; Callie died in the 1960's.

Clifford Christopher, a building contracter, owned the house after that.

Charles K. and Betty Klinginsmith bought the house recently. Charles is a chiropractor, as is his father, Charles Klinginsmith, Sr.

This house has been altered too much to stand on its own in a nomination to the National Register, but it could be included within a multiple resources district. This building does, however, contribute significantly to the integrity of the neighborhood.

room to the kitchen. The original butler's pantry is now a kitchen. The largest bathroom was originally the back porch, as the house originally did not have indoor plumbing. The Maughs also had a new foundation put under the house. The current owners have converted the attic to a two bedroom area and a sitting room; they also have added a deck behind the house and have re-wallpapered the interior.

The fireplace mantle in the parlor was originally marble and walnut. The Williams' have added ornamentation to it. The plan also to reroof the house in the future.

In 1925 the house had dark red rose and grey floral wallpaper. The exterior was painted reddish brown.

43 History and Significance The house was built around 1905 for J.H. Tureman. J.H. Tureman was a grocer in the firm of Watson and Co. He was born on February 16, 1831. His parents came to Callaway Co. from Kentucky in 1827. At age, 14, J.H. Tureman became apprenticed to a saddler and worked in that trade for 16 years. In 1850, he went to California and tried mining for a time, however, he went into the dry goods business in 1865. (See cont. pg.)

It was built for Howard Penn, and possibly was designed by M.F. Bell. (Mr. Harris believes that Howard Penn may have been the basis for a character in King's Row).

This house is very similar to the house next door, 319 W. 7th.

E. Howard Payne, the son of E.H. and Maggie (Robnett) Payne, was born in Fulton in 1875. He operated a shoe store at 523 Court with E.C. Henderson. He was the father of Hickman Payne, who later lived at 309 W. 7th.

Howard Penn was the son of Rev. George Washington Penn. Howard Penn supposedly committed suicide and is believed by many Fultonians to be associated with the character of Peyton Graves in H. Bellamann's King's Row.

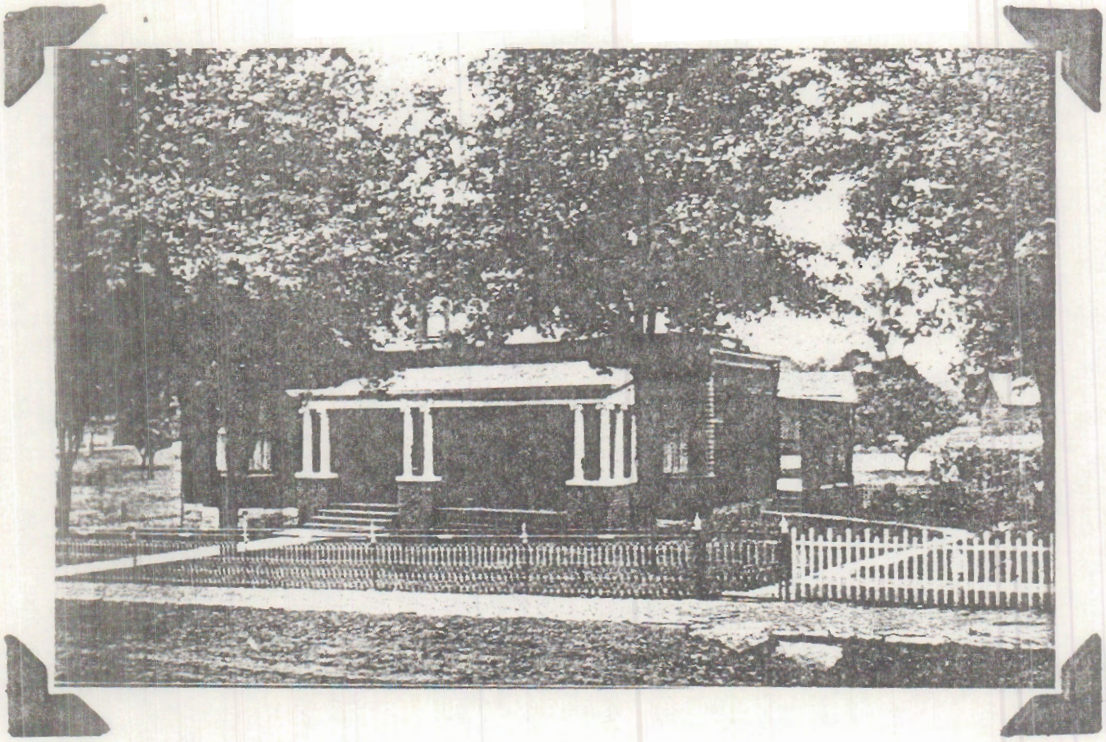

John Harris, the present owner, is president of Callaway Bank.

43 History and Significance: The house was built in 1890 for Ernest Tuttle (1865-1935), a real estate and insurance salesman. He married Mary Hind who lived here with him and continued to live here after he died. She died at age 70. She willed the home to Warrene Tuttle Williams who had married a Westminster College student. She died at age 80 in 1972 after having willed the house to the Kingdom of Callaway Historical Society. (See cont. page).

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located on a corner lot across from the Churchill Memorial. There is a cast iron fence in the yard which has been damaged by vandals in recent years.

The Society received the home in 1973. The Society operates the house as a museum and has been given many antiques from members of the community and also has items that had belonged to Warrene Tuttle, such as her baby carriage, a treddle sewing machine, a treddle organ and the linen and lace clothes included in her trousseau. The Society also found a letter that Warrene had written to Santa Claus when she was a child, asking for a pony as well as a photograph of her seated on the pony she eventually received.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Ernest N. Tuttle House, now the Kingdom of Callaway Historical Society Museum, 331 West 7th Street, Fulton, Missouri, is a two and one-half story building designed in the Queen Anne Revival style. Located on a 79' x 273½' rectangular corner lot, the house is irregular in plan.

EXTERIOR

The foundation is rockfaced ashlar with brick under the porch. The wall construction is frame with clapboard wall treatment. The roof is hipped and gabled with asbestos shingle. A single stack chimney is in the middle of the house. The house has a full basement.

An eastlake front porch with an eastlake balcony on the second level are on the south side. Narrow two-story pilasters are at the corners of the wraparound porch which have entablature with turned spindles. The columns are attenuated and scroll acanthus over the urn capitals. Brackets link the capitals to the entablature. The balcony over the entranceway has spindlework decoration. The pediment over the entrance to the front porch has decorative scrollwork. Double screen doors on the front entrance have art nouveau decoration in the corners. The double door front entrance has cut, beveled glass with an etched "E" on the center of the pane on the left and an etched "T" on the center of the pane on the right. A gabled dormer which has circles jigsawed out is on the attic level of the south side. A two story bay window is on the east side. The attic story of the west side has a half round window. A stained glass transom is over the window on the first floor, next to the entrance. There are also two stained glass windows on the west facade.

INTERIOR

The interior features brown wood trim around the doorways, windows, and baseboards. White wood trim is found in the kitchen, back hallway, and the entire second floor. The trim has decorative motifs. The two large rooms on the first floor, east side, each have a fireplace with wood trim and mantles. Tiles surround the fireplace openings and the floor in front of the fireplace. Several of the rooms on the first floor have wall-to-wall carpeting. The other rooms have hardwood floors. Each room is wallpapered with different designs. The kitchen has wooden trim halfway up the wall and wallpaper the rest of the way. The entranceway has a wide widing staircase which is carpeted with decorative wooden handrails.

ALTERATIONS

Alterations, done by the Kingdom of Callaway Historical Society, include new wallpaper in the kitchen, aluminum storm windows, and new wiring. A one-story detached garage was originally located behind the house, but has since been removed.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Ernest N. Tuttle House, built ca. 1890, is significant for its architecture and its historical associations.

The architecture of the house reflects the unique Queen Anne style. The decorative elements, such as the stained glass windows, etched glass doors, and decorative trim combine to form an unusual design. The house is well preserved and maintains its architectural integrity.

The house is located in an historical neighborhood. It is directly across from the Churchhill Memorial and near the Westminister College Gymnasium, both of which are on the National Register of Historic Places.

The original owner, Ernest N. Tuttle, was a prominent Fulton businessman. He dealt in real estate, life insurance, loans, and wholesale tobacco sales. He was manager of the City Cemetary which laid out by his relatives. He was also prominent in social activities in Fulton. As a real estate dealer, he developed the Westminister Place residential area on West Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Streets. He donated some of this land to Westminister College and many fraternity houses are now located there.

The Kingdom of Callaway Historical Society was willed the house in 1972 by Warrene Tuttle Williams (daughter of Ernest N. Tuttle). The Society has done much work in preserving the house. The museum features many antique and historical items, both of the Tuttle family and other individuals in the community and state. The museum recreates an historical period and maintains the integrity of the house.

Thus, the Ernest N. Tuttle House is being nominated to the National Register of Historic Places in the categories of architecture and other reasons.

43 History and Significance
According to the legal abstract for this property, the land for this house was sold on September 26, 1883 by Louis and Lizzie Kuss to Theodore Lacoff (Blk. 18, 144), for $450. Theodore Lacoff and his wife Josephine owned the house until June 8, 1888 when they sold it for $4,000 to William R. Terry.

#42. (cont.)

According to Ms. Hosch, the stairway to the upstairs was added later because the upstairs was finished later than the rest of the house; a bathroom was also added at a later date; the kitchen was originally in the basement with an exterior entrance to the basement and there was also a trapdoor in one of the rooms which used to lead to the kitchen, but which has been closed off. The present kitchen at the rear of the house was added at a later date. The upstairs was used as an apartment before Ms. Hosch bought the house.

Thus, based on the increase in the economic value of the house and its style, it is clear that the house must have been built between 1883 and 1888.

Theodore Lacoff was a contractor and builder, "one of the most prominent and successful contractors and builders in the interior of the State," according to the 1884 Callaway County History. He was born in Luxemburg on March 25, 1845 and came to America in 1868. He went first to Chicago and then to Iowa, where he worked on the Burlington bridge. In Iowa he learned the stonecutter's and mason's trade and then acquired knowledge in other building and mechanical trades. He worked as foreman of stone work of bridges on the Vandalia Railroad, and after that worked for the Chicago and Alton Railroad on the construction between Mexico and Jefferson City, Mo. It was at this time that he decided to live in Fulton. In Fulton he worked as a contractor on the State Hospital, of 1880, and the construction of new buildings at the Missouri School for the Deaf, both projects of which were designed by M.F. Bell. "He . . . also built many fine private and business houses, and . . . . erected probably over half of the buildings . . . constructed" in the time he was in Fulton.

Theodore Lacoff was also awarded the contract for the buildings on the E side of the quadrangle of the UMC campus (The Law Building, The Chemistry Building-now the Art History and Archaeology Building, and The Biology and Geology Building). (Ohman, pp. 27-28). Bell, of course, was also the architect for the buildings on Francis Quadrangle, (c.1890's).

He also served on the City Council. He was married to Josephine Harner of Pennsylvania on October 23, 1870; the couple had two children - William F. and Florian Leo. (H.C.C., 674-5).

It is possible that Bell was the architect, and Lacoff, the contractor, for Lacoff's own house. The house is so similar to Bell's house and the Renshaw house that he designed on E. 5th, that there seems little doubt about this. However, it is also possible that Lacoff designed the house himself. Further research is necessary. The next step might be checking contemporary newspapers to see if Bell is mentioned as the architect for this house. The fact that the second-story may not have been completed originally, might be explained by the fact that Lacoff was a builder himself and thus planned to finish the house himself.

William R. Terry owned the house until his death on April 3, 1925. (In 1907, he was listed as being a county judge and residing at 409 St. Louis Ave.) Terry was a farmer and stock raiser who had been born in Callaway County on April 28, 1838, the son of George S. and Ursula Boles Terry of Kentucky. Terry married Maggie Berry on September 29, 1867 and they had five children: George Gaither, Mattie A., Thomas A.B., Sally U. and William A. The latter two had died by 1884; and Mrs. Terry died on October 1881. Mr. and Mrs. Terry were members of the Christian Church, and Mr. Terry was also a member of Fulton Lodge, no. 49, A.F. and A.M. Mr. Terry owned a considerable 780 acres of agricultural land in 1884; and when he died in 1925 his heirs received a considerable amount of city lots and houses. His heirs in 1925 were G.G. Terry, living in Fulton; Mrs. W.L. Callaway, his daughter living in Chicago; and T. Angus Terry, who was living in Newtonville, Mass.

The Terry family owned this house until it was sold by Martha Callaway, and her brother G.G. Terry and his wife Myrtle on October 13, 1943 to Percy H. and Carrie Smith. Two years later a new warranty deed was made for the Smiths in the name of Percy H. and Maud D. Smith, apparently Percy's second wife. They owned the house until August 19, 1953, when it was sold to John P. and Sally Huggett. Leo T. and Fredonia L. Sheets bought the house on July 17, 1957 and on January 2, 1958 it was sold to Delmus H. and Nina M. Crump, who were living in the house. On October 22, 1976 the house was sold to Luther J. and Harriett Rumbaugh, who sold it to Sevilla Hosch, the current owner, on June 28, 1977.

This house is an excellent example of French Second Empire Style Architecture and should be preserved.

42 Further Description of Important Features

43 History and Significance Was used as Fulton Bible Baptist Church

Originally, this was Mel Frank's grocery store, according to Paul Lorenz, who used to be a delivery boy for Mr. Frank. Melvin Frank (March 9,1894-March 9,1975) was the son of Charley & Emma Frank. He married Lula Humbrock, and they built the house at 206 E. 10th.

42 Further Description of Important Features

#36. Aluminum storm windows on some of the second story windows; louvered vent in front dormer; a closet and bathroom have been added. The French doors between the dining room and the living room have been removed. The room now used as a livingroom used to be used as a parlor; the former sitting room (which the Wilsons had used as a bedroom) is now used as the family room. #42. (See cont. page)

43 History and Significance

Mary E. Wilson and her sister Marjorie (Wilson) Barnes have owned the house since August, 1923. Before that it had been owned by their parents, Charles M. and Martha V. (Simpson) Wilson. The house was built in 1915 by a carpenter, Mr. Audrey for John P. Newcomer. Charles M. Wilson, who had been in the grocery business, was the mayor of Fulton from 1926-1930, and was the State Representative ... (see cont. page)

Large wraparound porch with Doric pillars; leaded glass sidelights flanking front door; four hipped dormers-three with leaded windows; at the rear is a bay window with hipped roof and three stained glass windows with entablature heads; two chimneys; plain frieze beneath the cornice; radiators still in use; interior woodwork is oak.

from 1940-1942; he also served 2 terms on the Fulton City Council; in 1916 Charles Wilson served as a steward at the State Hospital. He died 3/8/43.

He married Martha V. Simpson. Mrs. Wilson was active in the Court Street Methodist Church, in the Women's Club and organized the DY Chapter of the P.E.O.

Martha and Charles Wilson had three children - Mary E., Charles M., and Marjorie. Mary (who graduated from Synodical College in 1922) has directed three choirs at the Methodist Church, has been a member of the P.E.O. for 31 years and A.A.U.W., the American Association of University Women. Mary is part of the Owl Insurance firm on E. 5th.

Charles M. Wilson graduated from Westminster College in 1930, he later became Treasurer of Western Auto in Kansas City and in 1974 was honored as an outstanding Westminster College alumnus.

Marjorie is a graduate of William Woods College and has taught at the School for the Deaf. She is a member of the P.E.O.

This house has both City and State significance, due to the fact that Charles Wilson lived here.

There appears to be addition (post 1930) to the SE corner (as in the site plan) because of differences in the map and the foundation material. The Collins' added the wooden shingles on the exterior. The kitchen has been remodeled; the hallway and living room have been restored according to Ms. Sweezer. Some interwalls have been removed. The house was at one time painted white and had a ... (see cont. pg.)

43 History and Significance Granville Collins, Ms. Sweezer's father, an attorney whose office is located at 707-B Market, has owned the house for 13 years. It was purchased from the Bratton family. They had owned it about 5 yrs, according to Mary Barnes. Dr. W. H. Renoe, a dentist, and his family lived here for years. He & his wife had 2 daughters, Virginia & Frances, who now live in the East. Dr. Renoe practiced dentistry till he was 90.

43 History and Significance
The Gentners, 834 Center, moved to area in 1941, when Mrs. Sally Baskett was living in this house. She told Gentners her house was 80 years old in 1941 and that the site had originally been part of a farm. She had sold the 834 Center site off her E. 9th property in 1936. Mrs. Baskett died in 1943. Longden's were told by owner's previous to them, this house was at one time a duplex.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings
Existing architecture would not appear to date back to 1863, as Mrs. Baskett related.

C; med. gable. 36. A; original entry to cellar, now an enclosed room. B; lattise work porch. C; appears to be original to house, pressed tin ceilings interiors, both stories. (cont.)

43 History and Significance
Mrs. Roy Tucker, 917 Court, Fulton, who is in her early 90's, can remember being carried over as a child by her father, to watch construction of this house for some relation. Some time later, the house was owned by the Judge Moore family. Judge Moore was a presiding (?) judge in Fulton. A son, Marvin Moore, is still living in Fulton. After Judge Moore's death; (cont.)

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings
After the Stahrs bought, there were still political posters about Judge Moore hung on the inside of the small barn on the NE corner of the property. These have been given away. Large, attractive yard to N of house.

#36. (cont.)
Back staircase, north mid-section house, closed off. Under the staircase on the 1st floor, a small closet had been constructed. Still accessible.
An original tile fireplace, in SE room, 1st story, on west wall, was replaced by owner previous to Stahrs, John Walker Frank.
Interior woodwork is handsome, with the exception of the very plain woodwork in section C, both stories, (Suggests C, 2nd story, was a servant's room; located at top of original rear staircase.)
Fancy woodwork is said to have been especially milled for family that built house, who were cousins or some relation of Mrs. Roy Tucker, 917 Court, Fulton.
Original main door treatment, south side, was replaced by Stahrs in 1962, before they moved in.
Aluminum siding put on in 1962. Shutters and aluminum storm windows installed. Of particular note is great trouble taken to paint aluminum storms to match rest of house; very attractive.
Converted coal furnace. Remains of chimney show on W side slope of roof, marked "E", painted to match roof.
#43. (cont.)
one source said 40 years ago, Mr. John Walker Frank bought the house. (Judge Moore is said to have performed marriages in the SW corner room of the first floor.) During Frank's ownership, the house was vacant the last three years before 1962 when the Stahrs bought it. Frank made a number of alterations though not many specific ones have been verified.

Wilbur Stahr's family has owned and operated Fulton Auto Supply, 213 E. 5th, Fulton, for 40 years.

House is of distinct neighborhood significance. More research is encouraged.

Period detailing includes decorated window entablatures which include denticulation, and cornice bracketed over windows.

FULTON'S RAILROAD & DEPOT

by Kirk Koepsel

The railroad in Fulton has been an important factor in developing the cities economy and industry. For many years the railroad was the main way to travel to other towns and cities. Fulton is very fortunate to have one of the most outstanding old depots in the Midwest. The depot was designed by General M. F. Bell (Fulton's famous architect), and was considered a model depot in its own time.

In 1872 the Chicago and Alton Railroad Company completed forty one and one forth miles of track in Callaway County to establish a line from Mexico, Missouri to Ceder City, which is on the southern border of Callaway County. $640,000 in railbonds were issued to the county. The railroad made travel much easier and faster to such cities as St. Louis and Chicago.[1] Fultons first depot was a wood framed one, and at first only one train ran both ways each day.[2]

In April of 1909 the depot burned down. The Chicago and Alton Railroad gave Fulton the choice of having another wood framed depot built right away or waiting a couple of years and getting a brick one that would enhance the beauty of the town. The people governing the town at the time decided to wait the two years.[3]

The new brick depot was started in early June of 1911. It would handle both passenger and freight traffic.[4] The depot was completed on November 21, 1911, and on that same day the railroad had an open house

there to show people around.[5]

It cost $12,500, and was considered one of the best depots for its size. The Chicago and Alton planned to use its design for future depots. The size of the depot was forty two feet by one hundred and seventeen feet. It contained the agents office, waiting rooms for both men and women, baggage and express rooms, ~~bath~~rest rooms, a telegraph office, and a very large basement. The depot was built of brick and bedford stone, had a slate roof, and had hardwood trimming stained mahogany inside. One of the special features of the depot was a drinking fountain hooked up to city water. It was by J.W. Evans Sons' Company of Bloomington, Illinois. It had its own coal/steam heating plant built by F.W. Ball of Fulton. As mentioned before General F.M. Bell designed the building.[6]

At the same time the depot was completed, the Chicago and Alton started running two trains each way everyday, and this kept up until the automobile began to replace the train as the chief means of transportation. In the 1920s the steam engine was replaced by a one car gasoline train called the Hound Dog, ~~and~~ but by the late 1920s or the early 1930s the Hound Dog was shut down. The depot was still used for frieght and as a telegragh office.[7]

One of the big events each summer in Fulton was when the circus train came. Fulton was never able to get any large circuses because the Auxvasse Bridge could not handle the extra weight, but many smaller ones did come. The train would unload at the depot and there would be a parade down Jefferson Street.[8]

and Ohio Railroad Company.[9] Later the Ceder City to Fulton section of the line was abandoned because of the declining cattle and hog industry.[10] On August 10, 1972 the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio merged with the Illinois Central and Gulf Railroad.[11] Illinois Central closed the agents' office in the Fulton depot and started sending a traveling agent to coordinate the railroads activities.[12] Jerry Danuser owner of Danuser Machine Company purchased the depot from Illinois Central in July of 1976. Danuser uses it as a warehouse for his company.[13]

Illinois Central is now studying the possiblity of closing the tracks to Fulton altogether. A group of Fulton residents have formed a group called Save Our Service (SOS), headed by Carmen Rand of the Fulton Chamber of Commerce. If the rail line is abandoned chances are that the brick plant along with other industries will probably close.[14]

There is some hope for both depot and the rail line. Captain Roy Stevenson (ph) of the ROTC Department at Westminster College has plans to lease the Illinois Central track on weekends and run an excursion steam engine powered train for tourists from Fulton to McCredie. The plans call for restoring the old depot to its orginal appearance with a shop inside that sells products from Callaway County. The plans are presently being held up by Illinois Central because they have to accept the leasing terms.[15]

The train service in Fulton has played an important role in the development of the city and the county as a whole. Train service has been a part of Fulton for over one hundred years, and the depot has been a landmark here for over almost 70 years. The depot is truely a landmark because of precedent setting and practical design, which Bell incorperated in it. The railroad and its depot will hopefully be a part of Fulton for a long time to come.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The James St. George Tucker home was built in 1912 by Mr. Tucker's grandfather, John William Tucker. The house's frame was built using bricks frmm a house built previously on the site in 1856 using bricks from the old Callaway County Courthouse which was built in 1825. It is supposed that the bricks were made by slaves in 1823 or 1825. Behind the present house is 1½ story brick structure built in 1856 and used as a slave residence before the Civil War and as servant quarters after the war. Several of the Tucker's former slaves remained with the family.

The outside of the present home is covered with a light-colored stretcher bond brick. The house is built in a Neo-Classical Revival Style. The walls of the house are 18 inches thick. The foundation is made of rough ashlar and is viewable from all sides of the building. The roof is made of red-hipped tile.

The house faces south on East 10th Street. The front entrance has three bays. A set of two Tuscan columns marks the division of the three bays. A two-story portico with railing graces the width of the front entrance. A tripartite dormer is over the central bay. The two outer windows of the dormer are 6 over 1 and the center window is 8 over 1. The windows in the remaining two dormers of the house are the same. Sidlights flank the entranceway with leaded glass. The glass has never been replaced since the home was built in 1912.

Heavy stone lintels are located over the first story windows. There is a total of eight sash-type windows located on the front of the house including the three windows in the dormer. Two one-story Tuscan columns mark the corners of the house.

The east side of the home has 4 bays and a single story addition at the back side. A porch with railing and two one-story Tuscan columns is present. There is also a tri-partite dormer on this side. The single-story addition was part of the original 1912 home. There also eleven sash-type windows and a door.

The west side of the home also has 3 bays and a side entrance. A carport with two coupled Tuscan columns replaces the porch on the east side. The balustrade over both the east porch and the west carport has been removed and the posts from them used to replace missing or broken posts on the front. There is also a tri-partite dormer here. A total of 9 windows is present. A back porch enclosed with white wooden siding is visible from the west.

The back of the house has three bays. The single story section juts out from the back. A stained glass window located above a staircase landing in the house, is also visible from the back of the house.

Behind the house is an old 1½ story brick building. It has been used as a garage for several years. The bricks are deteriorating rapidly.

Significance

The James St. George Tucker home in Fulton is significant historically as the home of one of the primary pioneer families of Callaway County. Although the present house on the site is not the original home, it was constructed from the bricks of a home built there in 1856. The present home was built in 1911.

St. George Tucker and his family arrived in Callaway County in 1830. They started from Amhearst County, Virginia. In 1826, St. George, his wife, Mary, and two sons, James H. and Daniel M., set out for the west. Just before leaving Virginia, a daughter named Anna was born. They settled in Madison County, Kentucky and lived there for four years, during which time a third son, William B. Tucker, was born. In 1830, the family settled in Callaway County. In 1831, P. Dudley Tucker was born.[1]

In 1835, St. George Tucker moved his family to Fulton. He bought interest in an old hotel located where the Palace Hotel is now. According to an interview with Tucker's great, greatgrandson, James St. George Tucker, the hotel contained a tavern and a dining room frequented by the prominent people of Fulton. The Masons also apparently held meetings there. St. George Tucker died in 1855.

Of the six children born to St. George and Mary Tucker, only three grew to maturity. These were James Harris Tucker, Daniel Matthew Tucker and William Blaydes Tucker. It was these three gentlemen who made the Tucker name famous in Fulton. Only Daniel Tucker married and continued the Tucker name. He had one son, John William Tucker.

D. M. Tucker began a mercantile business in 1848 with T. B. Harris. According to the 1884 History of Callaway County, T. B. Harris retired from the firm of Tucker & Harris in 1852. J. H. Tucker, the youngest brother, took Harris' place and the firm became known as D. M. & J. H. Tucker.[2]

The Tuckers, all three, became very successful businessmen in Fulton. D.M. and J. H. Tucker were partners in three ventures:

The main store, known as D.M. & J.H. Tucker, was located in ntown Fulton. James St. George Tucker says the building, ch now houses the Fulton Western Auto, was built in 1848 so is older than the H. F. Doerries ~~Dorries~~ building which was ently torn down. He was told that the store building was structed using logs which ran from one wall to the other as or joists. He says these logs were hewn in 1848. This re was the largest retail store between Kansas City and St.
is at one time.[3]

2) The second store was known under the name of J.H. Tucker &
It also carried an extensive stock of dry goods, notions, s, boots and other similar items.

3) A third store was located at New Bloomfield and it was o known under the name of D.M. & J.H. Tucker.

William B. Tucker was also a well-known businessman in Fulton.
formed a partnership with William E. Berghauser in the hardware si ss.[4] During his life, he was also engaged in a drug store, grocery store and was county collector for six years.[5] He nained a bachelor.

All three Tucker men were the subject of several character etches, both during their lives and after, but D.M. Tucker ems to have been the most popular Tucker brother. In a 1902 nembrance by an anonymous Fulton citizen, D. M. Tucker, nearly , was described as having a "philanthropic spirit" and mind and dy "characteristic of our forefathers."[6] He is quoted as saying,

> A man of my age who tries to take life easy won't last long. There are no soft places in this world, and I haven't time to waste a minute of my allotted years."[7]

And true to his principle, the story says, D. M. Tucker rose 5:30 every morning. His first duty after breakfast was to de over the 3000 acres of land comprising his several farms.
the afternoon, he tended to whatever business his 12 other ores and firms required. His advice to young businessmen:

> Work like the devil and attend strictly to business. Keep out of debt and when you have a good thing hold on to it. If you ever get in a tight place, stick to business the closer.[8]

KEEPER OF THE NATIONAL REGISTER

re's another man still living down by New Bloomfield and he told me and then there's another old fellow told me that lives down on Highway 54.

B: How about that. That's something.

T: I guess he wanted a boy or wanted somebody named after him. But Mrs. Lamar was one of the best historians, Mrs. John Lamar, she's dead now but she lived on the Lamar Lane, east of town. She described the front yard out here, of the old house. We used to have an old firebush, one of these red bushes with all the thorns on them? And she told me where that was and she told me about this old apricot tree that's twisted so bad out here. She remembered that and she say's D. M. Tucker's wife, they called her Aunt Polly. Duringthe Civil War, the soldiers down around Calwood, the Confederates down around Calwood, and they needed horseshoes, so she says Aunt Polly got a bunch of horseshoes in town and they put her on a horse and put the horseshoes in the bottom of her skirt and some in an egg basket that she carried and she rode a horse down to Calwood, 7 miles away, maybe not actually quite to Calwood. But they were desperate in need of horse shoes.

B: Were there Union troops stationed around here?

T: There were. They, have you ever read this how the Kingdom of Callaway got its name? Well, they were...the soldiers from Pike County were coming in here. All the Confederate men were fighting on part of the Confederacy and were away from here. And they left only the young boys and the old men around here and they didn't have but very few guns. So they, all the old men and the boys, got together and they carped out on the Laws Creek north of town. And then they, the Union troops, from Pike County, were coming in here and the old fellows rigged up some cannons, some hollow log cannons, and stuck them in camaflouge--in a bunch of trees and brush and so forth. And the officer went over and talked to the Union general. And it was agreed that the Union forces uldn't come in here if the Confederate forces would disband. They'd seen all those cannons and thought they had quite a force you know.

much if Gus worked on that other house. That other house was built in about 1853. So he wouldn't be around.
T: That's an old meat house, an old log meat house. It still left the marks out there where it is because so much salt is there from the curing of meat. And it kills everything--grass--we're just getting so the grass will grow now. There used to be a whole bunch of sheds back there, buggy sheds and storage sheds. A great big old barn, a big hay barn and there was another barn for the horses. The land used to go clear back to, well, it went north back of the Imperial gas station. It included the red brick house on up to the north of that. Then it went across the railroad tracks. And that was the land sold to William Woods where the big lake is. There's the old Nichol's place on over to the west of that. That was about 120 acres. This other land to the north back here was about 100 acres. They sold that to Harbison & Walker.

The rest of the interview talks about present day Tuckers. Jim Tucker is a friendly, congenial gentleman. He reminds you of a Southern aristocrat, following some stereotypical traditions, including the use of a uniformed black maid.

Sarah Amelia Camp Tucker, daughter of James Philip Camp and Emma Henderson Camp, was born Oct. 8, 1887, in Munford, Ala. She moved to Fulton, Mo. on May 9, 1902 and attended Synodical College, graduating in June, 1906. She was Literary Editor of the 1st annual published at Synodical, she was a member and president of the sorority Beta Sigma Omicron, Beta chapter, and was Associate Editor of the national magazine "Beta Sigma Omicron" in 1908 and 1909. Amelia was married to Percy Tucker on June 7, 1911, at her home in Fulton, 817 Nichols.

Percy William Tucker, the youngest son of John William Tucker and Carrie Lee Hockaday Tucker, was born in Fulton on Sept. 5, 1880. He attended Westminster College, was a member of the Fulton Country Club and the First Presbyterian Church in Fulton. He owned half interest in a drug store in Fulton. He loved "high stepping horses and fancy vehicles. His hobbies were hunting and fishing. He took part in many home talent shows, always an end man in the town minstrels. He sang and tap danced." Percy died on Feb. 28, 1920.

In 1947 Amelia moved to Memphis, Tenn. and then in 1950 moved to Warrensburg, Mo. Amelia and Percy had two children: Emma Lee and William Camp. Amelia's hobbies were genealogy, collecting pictures and fans, and taking part in home talent shows. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Fulton for 50 years.

43 History and Significance
This was Mrs. Bob Gilmore's family home; Dr. Carrol Crews was born here.
This is a very well-preserved example of the Queen Anne Revival Style in Fulton. It may also have been designed by General Bell.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings
Two-car garage with access from West Ave. is located behind the house.

Thane Olsby was the business officer of Westminster College; he has also been a city councilman of Fulton.

The Olsby family did extensive interior renovations about 8 years ago including adding a furnace, rewiring, putting in sheet rock, painting and wallpapering. The Gilmores had used it as rental property.

In 1907, A. P. Pollard and his wife, Elizabeth, lived here with J. Will Pollard, a reporter, who was probably their son.

FULTON, MISSOURI

Synodical College and Conservatory of Music for Young Ladies

1873-1928

(An Institution Affiliated with: the Presbyterian Church)

A Report By:

Amy Fisher

April 20, 1979

East Hall

The 1905 annual College Bulletin for the Synodical College and Conservatory of Music for Young Ladies eloquently describes the community of Fulton, Missouri:

> "It is (the school) located in Fulton, one of the oldest towns in the State, and celebrated far and near as the seat of refinement, culture, and hospitality. Few cities of the State, of the same size, equal and perhaps none surpass Fulton in morality and the high character of its community."

Today there are those more worldly who may find such a statement exaggerated and even humorous. But clearly, the founders of both the Synodical College and Westminster College in Fulton believed that the relationship between community and its intitutions was an important one. It is still equally important as we approach the 21st century. Early communities in Missouri were eager to have colleges located within them. So great was this desire, that private citizens often donated large amounts from their own personal incomes for this very cause. This was true also for state institutions- - particularly the university in Columbia.[1] People felt that if a college were to be located in their town, that the growth and economy of the town would be stimulated to a larger degree.

Early settlers also felt the same about railroads, industry and commerce. Time has proven that this belief was a true one. That is to say, communities did grow and many people did prosper. Today; however, there seems to be a great distrust towards such growth because it often benefitted only a few wealthy speculators. Many of us hope that our cities will slow down in the mad race of industrializat ion and return- if you will- to a less complex way of life. Hence, the increasing popularity of the historical preservation movement. The movement does not so much romanticize the old, but holds practical and educational value to the present-day inhabitants of America.

The founders of the all-female Synodical School and college hoped for the growth, not only of Fulton, Missouri, but for the school as well. The campus is located in what used to be known as D.M. Tucker's 3d addition on Clay Street.[2] The street is now called Tenth Street. This addition to the town was organized in 1872 and in 1873 the first building was erected for the school. The campus later was to have three main buildings of which two survive.[3] (See photo illustration on following page.)

At one time, the grounds of the campus were well-kept. The landscape design provided a pleasant atmosphere for the students' daily exercise. A white-washed picket fence surrounded much of the grass areas. There were also several walks, and a lawn tennis court. Mrs. Ladine (Wayley) Wallace who attended the school in 1915 and 1916 described the appearance of the campus favorably. She says that the boys from Westminster used to attach love notes to the lilac bushes which the Synodical girls would then retrieve eagerly.

Architectural ornamentation was a mixture of late 19th and early 20th century styles. The main building or West Hall was basically Italienate, but the porches were Queene Anne or "Gingerbread" style. A gazebo or "summerhouse" as it was called, graced the lawn and offered a popular place to escape the Missouri heat in the warm seasons. (See drawings on following page)

There were plans to expand the campus which the board of trustees publicized in 1928. The 1928 Seminole featured an illustrated proposal of planned expansion, but in that same year the school closed.

Mrs. Wallace says that it was not a great surprise to anyone that Synodical was forced to shut down. The school had been having financial difficulties for years. There was an effort to raise privately donated money, but most of the students were not from wealthy familes. Rather, the student body was made up of young women from middle class families. "The rich girls," states Mrs. Wallace"went to William Woods, don't you see?"

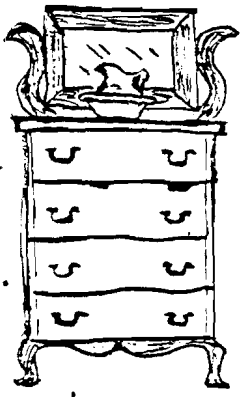

There was a great rivalry between the two female academies. On church days, a double parade could be seen walking down Court Street headed for the Presbyterian Church with the William Woods girls taking the west sidewalk and the Synodical girls using the east sidewalk.

The floor plan of East Hall was arranged such that the lower level was for kitchen and dining room, the main floor for parlors and reception rooms. These rooms always contained at least one, if not two pianos. The upstairs was the living quarters for students and teachers. There were large rooms called "suites" onto which the individual students' rooms entered. The teachers were afforded some privacy by having rooms which were at a different end of the hall from the girls' quarters.

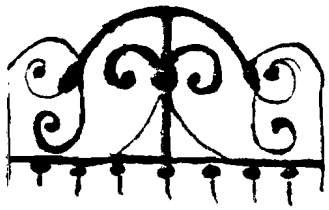

Some of the college bulletins from the early 1900's boast of the bathrooms with hot and cold water. Electric lights were used to "avoid the impurities of gas and oil".

By comparison to most dormitories today, East Hall at the Synodical College was comfortably furnished and quite home-like in atmosphere. The furniture used is not thought of as rare antiques today, but such pieces as the oak dresser, brass bed, chair, and lamp illustrated on the following page have become popular as collectibles.

It can be said that the school was basically successful during its 53 year existence. If not a financial success, it was successful in the turnout of young women of high morals, virtue, patriotism and knowledge in the fields in which it was acceptible for women to be schooled in. The departments listed in the College Bulletin over a period of several years were:

"Literary Department- Mental and Moral Philosophy
English, history, math, natural science, Latin, Frenchand German
Department of Music- Instrumental and vocal
Department of Elocution
Department of Art- oil, watercolors, China, etc.
Department of Physical culture
Department of Domestic Science-(to become Home Economics in 1925) Cooking, Artistic needlework
Department of Business- Bookkeeping, and shorthand

Overall, rules were strict, though some years they were more liberal than others. The pattern for this kind of supervision is sporadic depending upon the particular governing admisitrators. For example: no set dress code was enforced at the school's inception. Later on; however, at the turn of the century uniform dress was required for the purpose of preventing "artificial distinctions".

The comparison of 19th century attitudes to our own societal attitudes is somewhat over-whelming. Our predecessors of the late 1800's and early 1900's must have believed in the puritan dogma which espoused the basic depravity of human nature. Young people, especially women, were kept under constant supervision and not allowed the freedom of individuality or creativity. The girls who attended the Synodical school could not leave the grounds unaccompanied by an appropriate chaperone. In the lising of rules published in the college catalogue for 1907 (also published in other editions) the following request was made pertaining to visiting in the town at term's end:

> "The President earnestly requests parents of boarding-pupils not to give permission for their daughters to remain in town after school closes, as he will not in any way be responsible for the conduct or associates of pupils who thus remain."

This evidence suggests that even though Synodical College was important to the community of Fulton, it was also partially isolated from the town. The 19th century system of education attempted to provide every instruction to the young person: religious, moral and educational. These aspects were equal in value.

The student-teacher and child-adult relationships which existed were totally different that relationships that exist today. Supervision of studenst was an around the clock job for the teachers as many of them lived with the students in the dormitory. Social status could be accumulated with age. Therefore, youngsters were expected to treat their elders with respect.(a respect that was sometimes instilled by fear)

The wife of the headmaster was not always a teacher herself, but she nonetheless occupied an important position as educator:

> "The wife of the President or Lady Principal will give frequent lectures on all subjects pertaining to the etiquette of polite society." [4]

A young woman living during the days of Synodicals operation did not really have any options open to her careerwise. In fact, she would have been fortunate to even be able to attend a school of higher learning at all. If she was extremely exceptional, she could become a teacher or nurse. Chances were that if she chose to do so, she would inevitably be an "Old Maid". In 1905 the school of Business (bookkeeping and shorthand) was added to Synodical's curriculum which added one more career choice to the small list available to the girls: secretarial.

The question then arises: WHY? Why was half of the population forced so long to exist in a state of inequality? It was not the male populace alone who perpetuated the patriarchal system. (Ansd it must be conceded that men suffered also under this system from the burden of being the sole economic supporters of families) Women as well as men were not interested in claiming certain liberties entitled to women that we take for granted now.

Though the problem goes much deeper, the economic system usually provides an apt scapegoat on which to lay the blame. In the case of Women's rights the culpability can be divided equally between two phenomena: the family system and its economics. It is a fact that the female of the species bears children and the male does not. Children were vital to the economic prosperity of the 19th century family. There were different reasons for having many children. One reason is that children worked and contributed to the family income. Another is that life expectancy was not what it is today. People had more children but many of these children- or the parents themselves- died at a young age because of ineffective medical technology. Also, it was the responsibility of children to provide for their parents in old age. Three and sometimes four generations frequently lived in the same household. And finally, large families were due, in part to the lack of effective contraception.

Given all these considerations, it is easier to understand why women remained in the home for so long.

Therefore, the Synodical schools and schools like it are not to be condemned nor praised for the curriculum. Educational systems reflect the way the society is at a given point in time. This is why most systems of education are rarely progressive. Rather, they seem to be usually dedicated to maintaining society as it is.

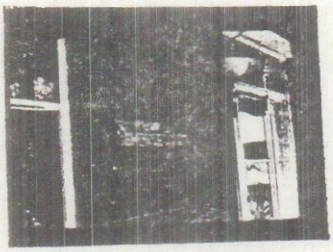

Society progresses in spite of itself and we find ourselves left with physical evidence of the past long after a way of life has ceased to be. Two buildings and the boiler house of the Synodical school still exist in Fulton.

West Hall has been so drastically altered in its appearance that I had to look more than on one occassion to be sure that it is indeed the same building.

East Hall which was built in 1913 is still intact, but like the other structure on the property, is in poor maintenance. None of the buildings is ready to collapse. All could be repaired at a fraction of the cost of rebuilding.

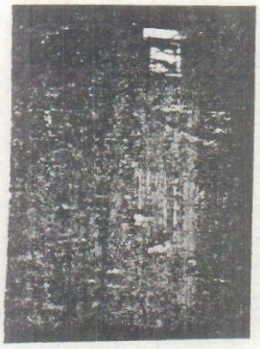

There is no longer any landscape plan. Newer houses have been built and and around the original schoolgrounds. Here and there, one finds ivy bordered walks and old section of picket fencing(See photos on following page). An open garage is loaded with discarded furniture, stoves and refrigerators which can only be described as an eyesore at best.

These two buildings make up a small apartment complex called: the Seminole Apartments (named after the school's Yearbook). The tenants are made up of mainly young people and older people. The floor plans have been altered to accomodate the apartments. It is my suspicion that some of the original furnishings are still being used. A white iron bed was found outside one of the buildings that is exactly like the beds which were used at one time in the student infirmary.

Ill D.

In their present states, these buildings are not especially beneficial to the community. Granted, housing is essential to the citizens of any town. But when our important older structures are left to go to waste and even destruction,(the third building: Senior Hall no longer exists) it is inevitable that they will be pulled down to make way for new buildings and new parking lots.

The function of any existing historical structure need to be carefully adapted to that structure specifically. If this rule is not adhered to the Building loses a large part of its dignity and worth. And once a building seems worthless, it is usually demolished.

Without getting into specific details, I would like to suggest that the Synodical buildings could be put to better use. One example might be to use the buildings as a Womens' Center. This would be in keeping both with the tradition of the buildings and with modern cultural needs.

The surrounding neighbourhood would also do well by such a restoration. Court Street, William Woods College and residential ares nearby are primarily made up of historic structures also. A handful of preservation efforts could lead to an eventual "district nomination" to the National Register of Historic Places.

The residents of Fulton are to be praised for the individual preservation that has allready been done in the town. But each week, one can see another old building in the process of being destroyed. Preservation in communities where it has been undertaken has proven to be culturally and economically stimulating. Preservation is such an all around good thing that one wonders how it can be so controversial for so much of the time.

There is a need to compromise on each side of the preservation issue. Puristic preservation is neither likely to occur, nor is it practical. Buildings are not the same as monuments or archaeological sites. Buildings are constructed for human use and should, therefore, be used.

Does this mean that no new buildings should be built? Not at all. The existing generations ought to leave behind an architectural legacy that future generations may admire and likewise use as guides to interpreting the past that we are creating.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Main Building or West Hall : Originally, ~~is~~ was this building was Italienate in style. The structure is L-shaped and ~~is~~ crowned with a tower or belvedere on top of the low-hipped roof. The construction is of brick laid in the commom stretcher bond. The cornices used to be dentiled. The window treatment was of two varieties: slightly arched lintels, and some windows with hoodmolds. Porches on this structure were ornate and were a combination of Gothic revival and the Queen Anne style, Today, the building is greatly altered. A good deal of stone has been added to the building and it has an air of the german or Tyrolean architecture about it. The entrances are on ground level and not elevated as in the past. Windows hace been replaced.

East Hall maintains most of its original character. The building's shape is an H shape. The roof is the original hipped- roof of patterned slate. The windows have plain sills and stone lintels. The main door must be approached from a steep flight of steps centered in the front of the building. The style of architecture is from the second major neo-classical revival. The building is fairly simple and symmetrical. From the rear, it is much the same as from the front. A long porch adorns the front side of the structure. The dentiled cornice is supprted by slender Tuscan columns. More modern alterations consist of Aluminum storm windows and doors, an aluminum awning, and extensive interior construction. Interior space ~~was~~ divided into several apartments.

The landsaape design has been changed due to newer structures erected on the original grounds. Trees have been cut down. Some traces of walkways exist, along with some picket fencing and arbours. The tennis lawn and Gazebo are no longer existent.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE East Hall Begun 1913

Synodical College is significant historically as an all-female institution. The school operated from 1873 - 1928. The education of women in the 19th and early twentieth cenury serves to remind all of us (mendand women) that society has taken great strides in liberating both sexes from pre- conceived sex roles. These sex roles were important in maintaining the culture of that earlier period. These buildings are living reminders of a bygone era. Though our values are differnt today, we need the lessons that can be learned from our heritages.

Even more practically, the buildings are located in a well-preserved older neighbourhood of Fulton. The nomination of these structures would serve to augment the character of the surrounding residential district. Fulton is a community with many educational institutions located in it. There is the existing: Westminster College for Men, William Woods College For Women, and the State school for the Deaf. The relationships of the schools to the community is a close one. Therefore, Synodical College as an educational institution is equally significant historically.

SYNODICAL FEMALE COLLEGE

by Kirk Koepsel

At one time in Fulton's past the town had three colleges. Most of us know what the first two were, (Westminster & William Woods), but not too many people know about the third one; Synodical Female college. For fifty seven years Synodical served as an institute for higher education. Although Synodical closed its doors in 1928 its impact can still be seen today. Some of Fulton's most predominant women are graduates from the college.

In 1867 the Presbyterian church held a convention, and at it many of the delegates expressed the need for a Presbyterian college for women. The Synod of Missouri met again in the city of Palmyra in 1871, and decided that the young women of the Presbyterian church needed an institute of higher learning. The delegates then decided to look for a site for this school. In November of that same year Judge G. H. Buckhardt of Callaway County declared Synodical College, "a body political and cooperate". A year later the Synod of Missouri at their Cape Girardiau convention accepted Fulton's bid. This was partly because of the success of Westminster College.[1]

From the beginning, Synodical had financial trouble. First of all the synod could not find anyone to loan the money for construction. Finally the synod loaned the college money from their own funds. The first building was started in 1872 and was finished the next year at a cost of $23,000. Mr. D. M. Tucker help the college out a great deal in its early years.[2]

Through the years more buildings were added. The Main Building or West Building is the most attractive of the buildings remaining. The East Building is also still standing, but is much less attractive. There are also some minor buildings that still remain. The school at one time also had a science hall, an outdoor swimming pool and a conservatory.[3]

Synodical had a very close relationship with Westminster College. They were both Presbyterian colleges and often shared facility members because of Synodical's financial condition.[4] Even though Charles F. Lamkin in his book A Great Small College described atmoshere at Synodical as a nunnery, they did have some social events together.[5]

There were two main reasons why Synodical College had problems; 1) financial and 2) academic. The school had trouble with finances althrough its existence as mentioned earlier. Since the idea of of women's colleges was still fairly new in this part of the country when Synodical started they did have the trouble of loans and from then on they had a shortage of - money. For the same reason Synodical had trouble with academics. There were no academic standards for women's colleges. Synodical had started out to be a four year college but then switched to a junior college because a combination of these two reasons. The school was never known for its high educational standards. Infact around town it was known for just the opposite.[6]

Synodical College was more than just a college.. It was also a high school and kindergarden. In 1922 the school had 27 college students. By 1928, the last yeat the school was in operation, the number of students had increased to 130, of this 65 were in the college.[7]

The school had many activities for the women that attend. Sports included basketball,.tennis, baseball, golf, hiking, and archery. There were three sororities at Synodical also. They were the Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Omicron started October 9, 1891, the Gamma Chapter of Theta Tau Epsilon started March of 1923, and the Phi Chapter of Sigma Iota Chi started March of 1925.[8] The school also had two annual publications which I was able to find. One was their yearbook, The Seminole, which was issued from 1904-1928. The other was the Synodical Female College Catalog, which was issued almost every year throughout the college's existence.

In 1928 there were plans to expand Synodical College and return it to a four year college. It would of cost $750,000 for the improvements,[9] but Synodical was already in financial troubles. In the same year a fund raising drive was started.. The money needed to keep the the school going was raised, but the majority of it came from one person. The administation felt that this was too much of a financial burden for this one person to bear, so they returned all the money raised. On May 16, 1928, Dean Botts announced the closing of the school because of financial and academic problems. School operations were stopped on June 5, 1928.[10] Westminster College absorbed the books from Synodical's library, and became the official repository for their student's records.[11]

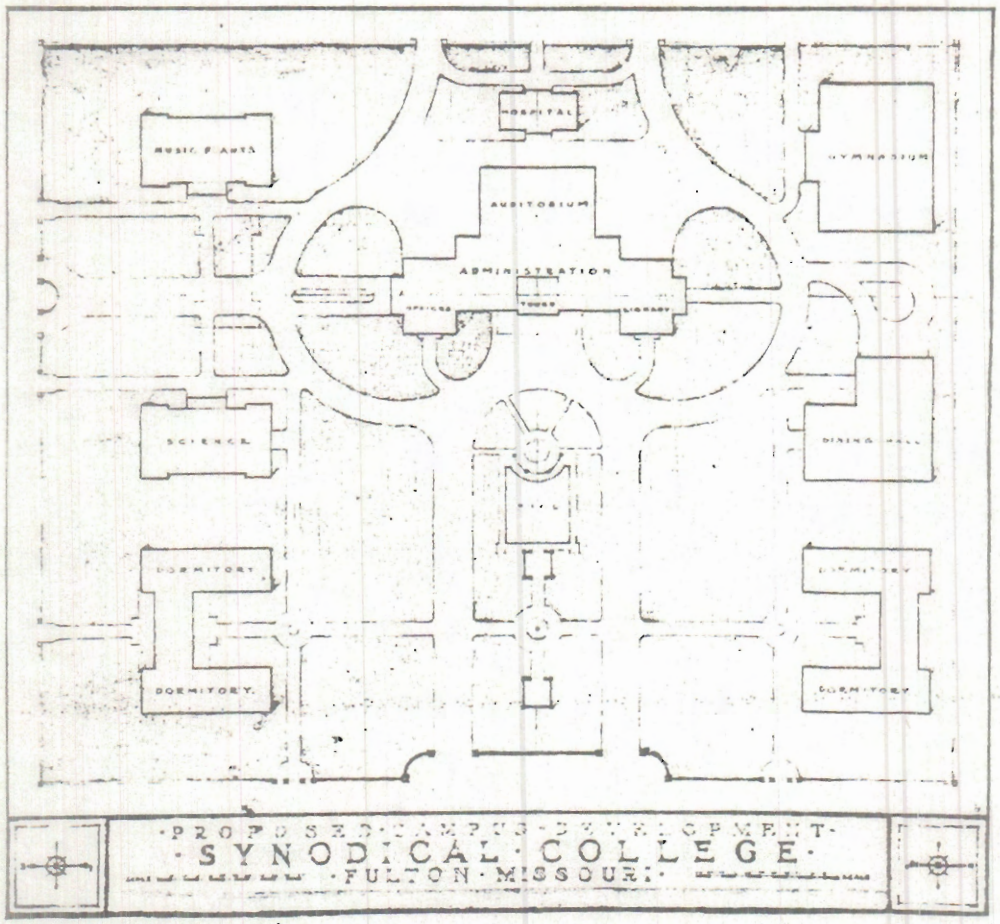

Synodical College's campus is now used as apartments, and is called the Seminole Apartments. The old campus is located on Tenth Street and West Avenue and is very interesting to see..

The college has not been operating for along time, but it does have interesting past. It can almost be looked as an experment.

The college started because the Presbyterian church was trying to contend with the augmentation of the of the importance of female's role in society. Since there were no set standards on how to handle this new innovation and Synodical did not have the strong foresight to cope with the situation, it inevitably lead to the school death.

This was the proposed plan to enlarge the school in 1928.

This was found in the 1928 Seminole Yearbook.

42 Further Description of Important Features #36. Rear frame addition is now front of house, original front porch on W side has been removed and the two original front doors have been converted to windows; a frame addition on the S side has been removed since the 1936 H.A.B. Survey; one w-ndow on original main facade has been lowered - both windows were flat-arched.

43 History and Significance This house appeared on the Historic American Buildings Survey of 1936; it is one of the earliest houses still standing in Fulton; it is also historically significant because of its place in the founding of the Baptist Church in Fulton, and further research on the McClanahans and on Sallie Ann McCredie will undoubtedly yield further insight regarding the significance of this house in the history of Fulton. #43. (cont.)

It most definitely should be preserved.

According to the Legal abstract for the property, on April 18, 1851 John W. Harris, James Harris and his wife, Martha Ryland Harris, John M. Harris and M.R. Harris Maupin, his wife, W.A. Harris, M.T. Harris and O.M. Harris, the heirs of Overton Harris sold James McClanahan, from Jackson Co., Mo., lot 13 in the original town plat of Fulton, for $35. The deed was filed on August 28, 1852 and on September 5, 1834, James Humphreys sold James McClanahan lot 14 for $10.

James McClanahan and his wife, Maria, probably built the two-room brick house within the timespan 1834-54. James McClanahan was probably the son of John and Mary Griffith McClanahan of Kentucky who settled in Callaway Co., in 1832. (H.C.C.,150).

In a newspaper article printed in 1913, Mrs. E.M. Herndon was quoted as saying that she believed this house was one of the oldest houses in Fulton and referred to it as the "Old McClanahan place". She said the house was at one time "occuppied by a family named McClanahan who later moved to Independence, where its members became prominent."

James and Maria L. McClanahan sold lots 13,14,17,18 and 19 to Sally Ann McCredie on October 21, 1852 (although the warranty deed was not filed until October 6, 1858), (Bk.P,p.669),for $850.00. Sallie Ann McCredie owned the property until 1878.

According to information written by a member of the Harris family included with a photograph of the McCredie house, c. 1930's in the possession of Helen Gilpin Overstreet, as well as information included in Yesterdays in Callaway Co., Mo., Sallie Ann McCredie's house was used as the first United Baptist Church of Jesus Christ in Fulton, and was organized on October 18, 1854. The Charter members of the church were: Mrs. Louvisa Cook, Mrs. Sallie A. McCredie, Miss Levisa McCredie, Elkanah Smith, Mrs. Sarah Smith, James Greene Smith, Mrs. Eliza Norris, Mrs. Edy E. Tucker, Mrs. Mary B. Hardin, Lewis Overton, James G. George, Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer, Henry Clay Anderson (?), and Mrs. Anne F. Anderson.

The new church building was erected on E. 5th and was dedicated on August 9, 1857. The building committee had been composed of: Elkanah Smith, William Craig, Samuel Watson, John Snell, William Wright, J. Flood and Thomas B. Harris. The first pastor was Rev. Xerxes Buckner. (This information was supposed to have come from the Baptist Church records; this has not been verified.)

Further research is required on Sallie Ann McCredie. She seems to have owned property on Court Street, as her name has appeared on at least one or two abstracts for Court St. properties read by P. Strawn. Her name does not, however, appear in the Callaway Co. History of 1884.

On April 11, 1878 Sallie Ann McCredie sold lots 13,14,17,18 and 19 and part of lot 23 to James K. Sheley, Jr. for $1000. (Bk.9,p.257). James K. and Kate B. Sheley only owned property about a year though, as they sold it on May 14, 1879 to John F. Craigo, for the same amount of money as they had bought it. (Bk. 12,p.13).

The Craigos owned the property until 1911, when it was sold to Greene D. McCall and Minnie McCall. The McCalls sold the property in 1914,to S.V. and Annie E. Lynes, and they sold it to A. Finley, in 1915. Mr. Finley died and left the property to his daughter who later married Oscar Duke. The Dukes then sold the property to George W. Berry.

In October of 1940, there was a suit by Lorraine Pasley against Quinn Blackburn for the right to the title of the property on which the McCredie house sits. The abstract does not have a deed indicating when Blackburn had gotten this property. As a result of this suit, the property was sold on December 2, 1940 at the Courthouse; Lorraine Pasley was the highest bidder at $400. Lorraine Pasley owned the property until October 17, 1944 when she sold it to C.D. Carrington, who also bought the rest of the Berry property at the same time.

C.D. and Tina Carrington sold the property to Donald J. and Frances J. Tucker on July 23, 1959 (Bk.172,p.669). Louis Steinrauf is apparently now the owner of the property.

#43. In 1907 F. Emil Neukomm, a tailor, and the son of John Neukomm, lived here with his wife Mattie and their children, John M. and Amy A. Neukomm. John Neukomm may have had this built for his son, as he had had a house built for his daughter Rose at 300 E. 6th. It is also possible that this house may have been built by M. F. Bell since he seems to have designed so many homes for the Neukomm family.

This house is definitely significant and requires further research.

42. Further Description of Important Features
30. Plain rock-faced plain ashlar with wood water table.
32. Varies by sections; Main SW section, hip, A-gable, B-gable, C-shed, dormer on S side; shed. Despite variations, the same decorative exposed rafters appear under most eaves. Asbestos shingles.
34. Beaded pilasters at corners, from water table to eaves.

43 History and Significance
More research is needed on this house-which has neighborhood significance but which could get a much higher rating if it were properly restored.

44 Description of Environment and Outbuildings
To south of house, a driveway platform comes in off of street. However, yard beyond is grassed over; not a driveway.

C-enclosed porch on 2nd story.
Brick porch supports on NW corner look slightly out of character with decorative Ionic columns. Pieces broken off Ionic detailing reveal terracotta construction.

Period details of interest:
Front door on west side is old; oval glass in top, with inset, decorated panel below. Diamond patterned transom above door.
On wall to south of door, a leaded glass, diamond patterned window.
Large pilastered Neo-Jacobean chimney on main SW section of house, rear slope.

32. Main section to west; bellcast hip with L-shaped gable. Additions vary. All asphalt shingle.

36. Nickelsons took house over in 10/78 and are making a good number of alterations. When they started, central hall "C" split the house into a duplex. A bathroom in this hall has now been removed, and the house is being made into a single residence again.

43 History and Significance

Nickelson bought the house in May, 1978, from Mrs. Verda Smith. Rumor has it that Mr. Smith committed suicide in the 1940's by jumping off the 5th Street bluff, east of Market Street. Nickelson also mentioned the abstract of the property indicates there have been a number of previous owners.

Two flues have been taken out. Kitchen has been completely renovated. Porch A being enclosed.

Fall 1978, house insulated through holes cut in existing clapboard. Foam insulation blown in. Vinyl siding put on, including over imbricated wood shingles at gable ends. (Photo taken at stage where holes had been cut in clapboard.)

Porch B had been enclosed previously. D appears to be an addition.

The east side of the house is said to have burned at one time; apparently before 1930-40 when porches A and B were added. Traces of fire uncovered during recent renovations.

43 History and Significance
According to Mrs. Earl Taylor, 814 Center, Hilts moved in in 1960. House had previously belonged to the Bernard Herndons, who were living in the house in 1945 when Taylors moved into the neighborhood. Mr. Herndon was postmaster in Fulton for some time. Much more research required on this house with neighborhood significance.

Study of window surrounds as follows: sections A, C, and door on east side of D have distinctive matching moldings. Lintels have projecting vertical pattern at either end with horizontal saw-tooth pattern in-between. Sills extend up the sides of windows for 5" in decorative pattern. This would seem to suggest that these sections date from the same period. However, windows on west side of D and E have only same vertical design at either end of lintels, without sawtoothing inbetween. (NOTE): Saw-tooth molding also observed at 209 E. 9th Street.
Outstanding door on east side of section D: Fancy octagonal etched glass in top half of door, arched at the top. Two panels below have raised wood detailing that unfortunately, a dryer has been vented through. Transom above door has been painted over.

Outside staircase on south side of house leads up to 2nd story porch, B. Door apparently access to apartment. (Not verified.) Iron railing; porch.

Architectural details include: Pendants hang from decorative corner eave brackets, most 2nd story corners.

Most windows have aluminum storms over, in particular, 1st story enclosed porch B.
