42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, three-bay commercial building constructed ca. 1925. The building has concrete foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, an exterior and an interior brick chimney. On the main (S) facade, the entrance has been enclosed with wood panels and an eight-paneled wood door. Above the door is an original four-light transom. Over the entrance is a shed roof wood canopy or stoop, with knee brace brackets. Windows are original one-over-one rectangular wood sash with soldier course lintels and brick sills. At the corners of the building are brick quoins. Window openings have been partially enclosed with wood panels. At the roof eaves are exposed eave rafters. In the gable field of the main facade is stucco and half-timbering.

43. History and Significance: The building was built as an office for the Neosho Milling Company, a flour and corn mill, managed by Arthur Fullerton. The office is the only relatively intact building remaining in this mill complex.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential neighborhood adjacent to the KC&S Railroad.

45. Sources of Information: Sanborn Insurance Maps; Interview with Mary Louise Davis, long-time Neosho resident.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame, two-bay rectangular plan church built in 1896. The church has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles and weatherboard siding. On the main (N) facade is a projecting bay which contains the main entrance. This entrance has Ca. 1930 double doors of two-paneled design. Above the doors is an ogee arch and transom. This bay has a mansard roof. On the main facade is a large stained-glass window with three one-over-one sash windows. these windows are set within pointed arches and have diamond light transom windows. On the east and west facades are four-over-four sash windows set within arches.

43. History and Significance: This church was dedicated August 27, 1896 as the Wesley Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church. The church is the last standing historic church that has historically been associated with the black community. Because of its association with the ethnic history of Neosho the church should be considered for National Register listing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of north Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick rectangular plan commercial building constructed ca. 1905. The building has a stone foundation, flat roof, and exterior of seven-course common bond brick. The building has a chamfered corner entrance with a ca. 1920 shed canopy supported by square Doric motif columns. The storefront has been altered with concrete blocks. The main entrance has ca. 1970 metal and glass doors. Above the display window area are transom bars and transom panels which have been painted or covered with wood panels. Across the storefront is a steel lintel. In the upper facade is corbelled brickwork and at the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice.

43. History and Significance: The building has continuously operated as a grocery store since its construction ca. 1905. The store was known at one time as Knott's Grocery Store. Floyd Woods operated a grocery in the building for thirty-four years before his son-in-law, Norbert Lehar purchased it. Previous owners also include Elmer Testerman and Joe Kennedy. Although altered, the building is one of only a few commercial buildings which survive in north Neosho. Two other commercial buildings at the northwest and northeast corners have been altered.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located at a commercial corner in north Neosho.

Big Spring Park--Big Spring Cave

42. Further Description of Important Features: The site is a spring opening located at the southwest corner of the park. This site is composed of a set of concrete steps which descend to a cave and spring. The hillside around the site has been terraced with coursed stone and concrete. A grill and concrete table have also been built into the terraced area around the spring.

43. History and Significance: The Big Spring Cave contains a spring which eventually exits the hillside at the Big Spring site. The area around the cave was landscaped as part of the Big Spring Park in 1928. The landscaping at the cave was built in memory of J.W. Abbott and made possible by the Abbott Brothers Big Spring Park Fund. The cave is part of the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in the southern section of Big Spring Park.

45. Sources of Information: Dedication plaque.

Big Spring Park--Children's Wading Pool and Pavilion

42. Further Description of Important Features: This structure is composed of a circular concrete wading pool and pavilion built in 1928. The pool is approximately two feet deep at its deepest point. It has concrete walls and floor. The pavilion is one-story high with concrete Doric columns supporting a concrete entablature and pergola. The pavilion incorporates two concrete block changing and pump rooms which have ca. 1970 metal and wood doors. At the south side of the pavilion is a concrete balustrade. The east and west bays of the pavilion project from the main section and shelter concrete benches.

43. History and Significance: The pool and pavilion were constructed in the Big Spring Park at a cost of $10,000 and were designed by R. B. Reeves and D. C. Schine, of Joplin, and built by R. H. North and Walter Stroup in 1928. The pool was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Reed. Frank Reed was an oil man and philanthropist. He was a native of Tulsa and lived in Neosho from 1925 to 1931. Reed provided a trust fund that enabled similar pools to be constructed in Carthage and Springfield in Missouri. Twenty-five of the wading pools were constructed throughout Oklahoma. The pool and pavilion are included in the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in the southern end of the Big Spring Park.

Big Spring Park--Restrooms

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story, three-bay, rectangular plan cobblestone and concrete park building constructed ca. 1925. The building has a concrete foundation, flat roof of rolled roofing and exterior of cobblestone and concrete. The central bay has an open breezeway with a tongue-in-groove wood ceiling and cobblestone walls. The breezeway has original pew-like benches on each side. On the main (SW) facade are rectangular concrete panels in the north and south bays with inset diamond shaped single-light windows. Similar concrete panels are located on the north and south facades flanking the entrances to the restrooms. The entrances have ca. 1970 solid metal doors. Restroom areas have been remodeled. At the roofline are projecting cobblestone piers at the corners.

43. History and Significance: The Big Spring Park restrooms were built ca. 1925 and are shown on the Sanborn Map of 1926. The restrooms continue to be used by patrons of the park and have not been altered. The building is included in the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in the southern section of Big Spring Park.

42. Further Description of Important Features: This site is located on the west side of the park where Big Spring emerges from the hillside. A small concrete and stone bridge was built in 1927 and the spring was divided to flow in two branches, one north and one west. A circular landscaped island was also built in the middle of the pool created by the spring as it descends the hillside. This landscaped area and island have stone and concrete banks.

43. History and Significance: This landscaped area was developed in 1927 as part of the Big Spring Park. The adjacent bridge was constructed in 1927 and the stream was divided. The sidewalk leading from the street to the children's wading pool was donated in 1931 by Ed and Charles Haas. This landscaped area is included as part of the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The landscaped area is located in the northwest section of the park, below the western rock cliff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story, coursed limestone, Richardsonian Romanesque influenced church built in 1897. The church has a rectangular bell tower at the northwest corner and gable roof wing on the east facade. The main entrance into the church is in the first floor of the bell tower and consists of ca. 1980 double doors of wood panel design. Above the doors is an arched stained glass transom. The entrance is set within a stone arch. Window openings have rounded Romanesque arches with stained glass windows. At the corners of the church and on the bell tower are stone wall buttresses. The bell tower has a pyramidal roof with a finial and the remainder of the church has a gable roof of asphalt shingles. On the second story of the bell tower are large arched openings. At the eaves is a frame cornice with modillion blocks.

43. History and Significance: The church's congregation was organized in 1867 by the Reverends John Pinkerton, John McFarland, and R.W. Ely. The present building was completed in 1898 after the original building burned in 1897. The new church was designed by architects McCullom and Ely (who was McFarland's cousin) of Washington, Pennsylvania. The building was constructed by builder Charles Davis. The church is a fine example of the Richardsonian Romanesque style and is the only example of this style in Neosho. Because of its architectural design the building should be considered for the National Register.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

340 Brook Street--James Hughes House

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay, residence built with Queen Anne and Colonial Revival influences in 1896. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and aluminum siding. On the main (S) and west facades is a one-story wrap-around porch with Tuscan columns and a railing with milled balusters. The main entrance has a single-light glass and wood door and rectangular single-light transom. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash with wood cornices. In the west bay of the first floor is a secondary entrance with a single light and wood paneled door and transom.

43. History and Significance: The house was built by Nannie and James Hughes in 1896. They took out a building loan for $1000 from Neosho Building and Loan Association to build the house on the lots they had purchased in 1895. Hughes was a county officer. The Hughes sold the house to Bessie Steadman in 1919. The house has had several owners between 1919 and 1986 and has been a single family dwelling, a boarding house, and rental property. Marvin and Debbie Major purchased the house in 1986 and restored the exterior of the house and the grounds. The original interior woodwork has also been restored.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-and-one-half story frame, four bay, Queen Anne influenced residence built ca. 1890. The house has been altered with a one-story addition on the primary facade. The house has a stone foundation, truncated hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and weatherboard siding. On the main (S) facade is a two-story full width porch with Tuscan columns. The main entrance has been altered and there is an added picture window on the first floor. Windows are original one-over-one rectangular wood sash. At the roofline is an open corner tower with milled columns and square balusters. This tower has an octagonal roof. The roofline also has a gambrel dormer with decorative milled panels and one-over-one sash windows.

43. History and Significance: This residence has been extremely altered but is one of the few Queen Anne influenced residences remaining in Neosho. The core of the house is reputed to be of log construction and may have been built prior to the Civil War. The house was transformed ca. 1890 into its present Queen Anne appearance and D.W. Tudor owned the house in the early 1900s. The house belonged to F.M. Davis in 1904. The house was owned for many years by a photographer who used it as his studio and shop. The house has been extensively altered in recent decades.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: two-story frame, eleven-bay building constructed in 1942 as part of Camp Crowder. the building has a gable roof, interior brick chimney, concrete foundation, and exterior of asbestos shingles. Entrances have original single-light glass and wood doors. Windows are original eight-over-eight rectangular wood sash. The main entrance on the west facade is located in a small gable roof projecting bay.

43. History and Significance: Camp Crowder was constructed by the Burns and McDonnell Engineering Company of Kansas City for the U.S. Army during World War. Purchase of the land began in mid-1941 with landowners given only ten days' notice to vacate. The camp was used to train troops for the U.S. Signal Corps. Beginning in 1943, the camp interned German POWs. By the end of the war, about 2,000 POWs were held at Camp Crowder. The camp was deactivated when the war ended, but reopened as a reception center in 1951, when the conflict in Korea erupted. In 1954, the camp was declared a permanent fort but was placed on standby in 1958 and declared surplus in 1962. The Administration Building is one of less than a dozen original buildings which remain at Camp Crowder. Almost all other buildings have been demolished or were sold when the camp was abandoned by the military.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located south of Neosho proper, the area is under development as an industrial area.

Camp Crowder Bowling Alley, LaClede Avenue

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story metal building with a three-bay brick front on the main facade. The building has walls on the east, west, and north facades of metal and the roof is a metal gable design. On the main facade is a brick veneer wall. The main entrance has ca. 1970 solid metal double doors. Flanking the doors are sidelights of structural glass blocks and concrete sills. Across the front is a wood awning supported by metal posts. Above the storefront, the upper facade has a frame false-front parapet. At the west facade is a ca. 1970 concrete block addition.

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed to house the Camp Crowder Bowling Alley in 1942. The building is one of only a few buildings left at the Camp Crowder site and appears to be the only commercial building standing. The building is presently used as a private business.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located at Camp Crowder, south of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story, concrete and cobblestone, three-bay commercial building constructed ca. 1920. The east and west bays have separate storefronts with original multi-light casement windows, concrete and stone bulkheads and six-light transoms over the doors. The doors are ca. 1960 solid wood in the west bay and original multi-light design in the east bay. The central bay has original wood double doors. Windows on the east and west bays are two-over-two and six-over-six rectangular wood sash. At the corners are stone quoins.

43. History and Significance: The buidling was once used as a Coca-Cola bottling works. This building is a good example of the use of concrete and cobblestone construction in a commercial building.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay, rectangular plan Craftsman residence built ca. 1915. The house has a concrete and cobblestone foundation, exterior of weatherboard siding, exterior cobblestone and concrete chimney, and hipped roof of asphalt shingles. On the main (E) facade is a partial width gable roof porch with concrete and cobblestone porch columns and railing. The porch has wide eaves with large support brackets. In the gable field are wood shingles. The main entrance has an original wood paneled door with leaded glass sidelights and transoms. Windows are twelve-over-one and eight-over-one rectangular wood sash with windows on the upper facade having tapered surrounds. The house has wood shingles on the second story exterior and a hipped dormer on the main facade. Beneath the eaves of the house and dormer are large brackets. On the south facade is a bay window on the second story. The south facade also has a porte-cochere with cobblestone columns.

43. History and Significance: Excellent example of an early 20th century Craftsman residence. The house was built by Arthur Fullerton, the owner of the Neosho Mills. The Fullertons were a prominent family in Neosho in the early twentieth century. Ralph Brown owned the home in the mid-twentieth century. At the rear of the house is a two-story garage built with similar features as the residence. The house is a fine example of the Craftsman style and should be considered for National Register listing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: At the rear is a two-story garage with a cobblestone surface on the first floor and wood shingles on the second story. The garage has altered doors but retains its original windows, gable roof, and interior flue. The house is located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, three-bay, one-part commercial building constructed in 1906. The building has been altered with a stucco exterior and has added metal windows and doors. These alterations took place ca. 1970. The building retains its original arched window openings and stepped roof parapet. Above the windows is evidence of corbelled brickwork which has been covered with stucco. At the rear is an attached one story lateral wing with arched windows of eight-light metal design. This wing has a half monitor roof with one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows.

43. History and Significance: Although altered in recent years this large commercial building has historical significance. The Stark Brothers established their nursery headquarters in 1912 in the building that was built for the Mutual Wagon Factory in 1906. The business became the Neosho Nurseries in 1921 when J.J. Hazen bought the company. The Stark company began with the production of fruit trees and developed the J.H. Hale peach, which, because of its comparatively tough skin, made it possible to ship peaches without bruising or marring them. The company later expanded its production to include shade and ornamental trees. A.E. Weston was the General Manager in 1925 and eventually purchased and incorporated the nurseries. The nurseries served a four-state area and published a yearly catalog. The Westons owned the business until Joe Weston phased it out in 1986. The building has integrity problems but should be considered for National Register significance due to its importance in Neosho's commercial history.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The building is located on North College Street in a mixed area of residential and commercial buildings.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, two-bay, Queen Anne influenced residence constructed ca. 1900. The house has a brick foundation, cross gable roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of aluminum siding. On the main (E) facade is a full width shed porch with square columns and a railing with square balusters. At the porch roof is a ca. 1970 wrought iron balustrade. Windows are one-over-one wood sash. The house has interior chimneys and a gable dormer at the roofline of the primary facade. At the rear facade is a one-story porch with Tuscan columns. The main entrance has an original single-light glass and wood door. Several windows on the primary facade have leaded glass upper lights. At the roof eaves are large brackets.

43. History and Significance: Despite alterations this residence retains its appearance as a Queen Anne influenced residence of the early 20th century.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located in a residential area of Neosho. At the rear is a ca. 1920 one-story frame garage.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story, three-bay rectangular plan commercial building constructed ca. 1925. The building has an exterior concrete and cobblestones and a flat roof. On the main (E) facade is an original storefront with concrete and cobblestone bulkheads, copper and glass display windows, and transom. The display windows and transom have been covered with particle board panels. The main entrance has an original wood and glass door. Above the transom are concrete sign panels. At the roofline is a stepped parapet with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: This building is the only remaining building of many that formed the small railroad community of Martling. The street was the main street in martling and was paved prior to 1880. This may be the same frame building that was constructed on this site ca. 1880, but its present appearance dates to ca. 1925.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in the residential area of north Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay, Central Passage-Double Pile residence built ca. 1886. The house was originally built with Gothic influences but was remodeled in the early 20th century and again in recent years. The house has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, weatherboard siding, and ca. 1980 exterior brick chimney. On the main (N), and west facades is a ca. 1910 full width, shed porch with square wood columns and a railing with square balusters. The main entrance has a ca. 1920 multi-light glass and wood door with multi-light sidelights. Flanking this entrance are full height multi-light windows which also appear to have been added ca. 1920. Windows are ca. 1920 twelve-over-twelve rectangular wood sash. The second story of the main facade has three gable wall dormers. There are several additions at the rear and a two-story detached garage.

43. History and Significance: Ozias Ruark came to Neosho after the Civil War and built this house ca. 1886. The house was built with Gothic influences and when completed, it had the first bathtub in town. Justin Ruark, Ozias' grandson, was a Neosho lawyer who was appointed to the Missouri Court of Appeals in 1954. Although the residence is one of the earliest remaining in Neosho it has been extensively remodeled in the 20th century.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, three-bay Victorian Gothic church built in 1896. The church was built in a rectangular plan with a projecting two-story brick bell-tower on the main (S) facade. The church has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of six-course common bond brick. The main entrance is located on the projecting central bay and has ca. 1980 metal and glass doors. Above the doors is an original Gothic arched transom with stained glass lights and three-courses of brick relief arching. Above the transom is a diamond light stained glass window. Windows are two-over-two wood sash with stained glass lights set within a Gothic arched opening. The window bays on the east and west facades are separated by brick pilasters. The bell tower has a mansard roof which supports an open belfry. The belfry has a copper finial. At the rear (N) facade is a ca. 1920 frame addition.

43. History and Significance: The Second Baptist Church was built in 1896 and replaced an earlier frame church on the site. The church is a fine example of the Victorian Gothic style of the late 19th century.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of north Neosho.

1205 Hickory Avenue, Lincoln School, 1940

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story, five-bay rectangular plan school built in 1940. The building has a concrete foundation, exterior of random course rubble stone an a hipped roof of asphalt shingles. On the main (W) facade is an original door opening with three-light sidelights and a ca. 1970 paneled wood door. Over the entrance is a concrete lintel inscribed "Lincoln School, 1940". At the entrance is a ca. 1970 added metal awning with metal columns. Windows are original fifteen-light metal hinged design with concrete sills. The building originally had a flat roof but the hipped section was added ca. 1960. The interior had not been significantly altered and retains its original classrooms, bathrooms, and five-panel doors.

43. History and Significance: The Lincoln School of 1940 replaced the first Lincoln school located at 1227 Hickory Avenue, which was built in 1891. The school served the black students of Neosho and continued as a school until integration in the 1960s. The school has been converted into a residence but continues to display its original design and detailing. The school is located in the proposed Lincoln School Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of north Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, three-bay rectangular plan school building now used as a residence and built in 1891. The building has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of six-course common bond brick. On the main (S) facade is a one-story porch with original square Doric motif columns and railing with milled balusters. On the main facade are two primary entrances with ca. 1920 single-light glass and wood doors. Flanking the entrance are rectangular one-over-one sash windows. The entrance configuration appears to have been altered ca. 1920 and the central bay has a stucco surface. Windows are original two-over-two rectangular wood sash with wood sills. Over the windows are segmental arches and large transoms which have two courses of brick relief arching. The window bays are divided by projecting brick piers.

43. History and Significance: The Lincoln School was built in 1891 and replaced the old "colored school" that was located on Grant Avenue (now demolished). The school was built at a cost of $1,294. The first instructors were Stephen Frost and Miss Jennie Young. In 1901, there were 158 students in attendance but by 1913, there were only ninety-two. The school served as the school for black students in Neosho until 1940 when the adjacent school was constructed. The building is presently used as a residence but much of its original design is intact. The building is located in the proposed Lincoln School Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Central School is a two-story brick, rectangular plan, six-bay school built in 1930. The building has a concrete foundation, flat roof, and exterior of stretcher-bond brick. On the main (N) facade is a two-story projecting bay containing the main entrance. This entrance has paired ca. 1970 metal and glass doors. The door surround is of concrete and has a voluted cornice and fascia panel with garland and swag and urn decoration. Above is a window opening with architrave molding and a concrete sill. The window itself is multi-light hopper design added ca. 1970. Other windows on the main facade are arched windows with concrete keystones and have ca. 1970 metal louvered windows. At the roofline is a concrete parapet. A one-story brick wing is located on the east facade with metal hopper windows which may be original

43. History and Significance: Central School replaced an earlier school building that was deemed unsafe and razed in 1930. The new Central School opened in August 1930 to serve gradessone through six. An addition was constructed in 1954. The school was altered ca. 1970 with new windows and doors which changed the building's original character.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho. Adjacent to the school are surface parking lots and playgrounds.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, five-bay, rectangular plan post office built with Colonial Revival influences in 1934. The building has a concrete and brick foundation, exterior laid up in five-course common bond brick, and flat roof of rolled roofing. The main entrance has an original wood surround with a broken pediment, fluted Doric pilasters, and eave dentils. Incorporated into the pediment is a brass or copper eagle. Flanking the entrance are original metal and glass light fixtures. Windows are twelve-over-twelve wood sash with concrete sills. Metal storm windows have been added to the window openings in recent years. Above the windows is a concrete belt course with vertical and circular incised molding. Below the roofline are corbelled brick panels and at the roofline are brick dentils and concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: The building is a good example of a Colonial Revival post office building constructed by the W.P.A. in the 1930s. The post office was built at a cost of $34,000 and is a Colonial Revival design of government architect Louis Simon. George O. von Nert and March Brothers were the contractors for the project. The building was completed in June 1934 but was not opened until May 1935. The building continues to serve as Neosho's post office and should be considered for the National Register for its design and association with federal government postal construction of the 1930s.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block south of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, two-bay, Queen Anne influenced residence constructed in 1902. The house has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and exterior of weatherboard siding. On the main (N) facade is a prominent full height polygonal bay with a conical roof. This facade has a partial width shed porch with ca. 1950 wrought iron columns. The entrance has an original oval light glass and wood door with a rectangular single light transom. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash. At the second story of the main facade is a polygonal bay window with three multi-light windows. Adjacent to the entrance on the first floor is a leaded glass window.

43. History and Significance: The house was one of the first houses built in the east Neosho neighborhood and was built by Roy C. Lamson, a prominent doctor in Neosho, who died there at the age of eighty-eight in 1961. Tom and Linda Harvel purchased the house from Lamson's estate in 1971. The house was built with Queen Anne influences.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located in a residential area on the east side of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, two-bay, gable-front residence built in 1904. The house has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, exterior brick chimney and weatherboard siding. On the main (E) facade is a one-story full width porch with Tuscan columns on concrete bases. The main entrance has an original multi-light glass and wood door. Windows are one-over-one wood sash. In the gable field on the main facade is a palladian attic window. At the roof eaves are exposed rafters. Between each floor is a wood belt course. At the rear is a ca. 1920 hipped roof frame garage. The kitchen has original floor-to-ceiling cabinets, a pewter countertop with a breadboard and an original built-in china cabinet with glass doors and drawers that were originally used to store bread.

43. History and Significance: The house was built by R. B. Rudy in 1904 and immediately sold to D. L. and Francis Buxton for $2,800. before the Buxtons moved into the house, however, Rudy's daughter Diva threw a party in the empty house. Buxton was a school teacher in Newtonia before he moved to Neosho, when he became Treasurer for Newton County. Francis Buxton's father, a Civil War veteran, lived in the house with them. The Buxtons sold the house to Doris and Pat Kenney in 1941. The present owner, Mrs. W.E. Jones, purchased the house in 1955. The house was built in an Open Gable Front plan with Colonial Revival detailing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located in a residential neighborhood in Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame and stucco, four-bay dwelling built ca. 1890. The exterior stucco surface appears added in the mid-20th century. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and interior brick and stucco chimney. On the main (E) facade is a two-story full-width porch with square stucco and frame columns resting on a stone railing. The second floor of the porch has been enclosed. The main entrance has a single-light transom. The house has one-over-one rectangular sash windows set within segmental arches. Window sills are stone with decorative banding.

43. History and Significance: The building was constructed as the Irons Apartments ca. 1890. Douglas Irons was at one time the owner of the Big Spring Inn. The building is oneof the oldest apartment buildings in Neosho but was altered in the mid-20th century with its stucco exterior and enclosed porch on the second story.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential district of Neosho.

101 South High Street--Daniel Longwell House

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, four-bay, Queen Anne residence built ca. 1890. The house has a stone foundation, aluminum siding, hipped roof of asphalt shingles and interior brick chimney. On the main (E) facade is a one-story three-quarter width porch with original milled columns and vergeboard brackets. The porch has a slight gable over the entrance bay with eave brackets and attached rosettes. The main entrance has original double doors of single-light glass and wood design. Above the doors is a two-light transom. Windows are both one-over-one and two-over-two rectangular wood sash. On the first floor of the main facade is a bay window with a shed roof and eave brackets. The rear of the house faces High Street and has a small one-story shed roof bay containing a single-light glass and wood door. At the roof eaves are brackets.

43. History and Significance: The original owner is not known but Dan Longwell lived in the house in the mid-twentieth century. Longwell was Chairman of the Board of Time-Life and a prominent citizen of Neosho. Neosho was featured as an all-American city in the May 1941 issue of Life magazine. The house is an example of the Queen Anne style and is located in the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in residential section of Neosho, overlooking Big Spring Park.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story, three-bay apartment building constructed of poured concrete, Carthage stone, and stucco in 1926. The building has a cobblestone and concrete surface on the first floor and a stucco surface on the second floor. The building has a concrete and cobblestone foundation, and hipped roof of asphalt shingles. On the main (E) facade is a projecting two-story bay with a one-story porch. The porch has cobblestone piers and railing. Primary entrances are located on the east and south facades and have single light glass and wood doors. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash. A large incised porch extends on the south facade and is supported by large knee brace brackets. The building has a raised basement which also has one-over-one sash windows.

43. History and Significance: The building was built in 1926 as a residence and office by Dr. Onal A. Sale. The building was converted to a hospital and called Sale-Bowman Hospital in 1930. Dr. M.C. Bowman was Sale's partner and nephew. The building was used as a hospital until 1937, when the new Sale Memorial Hospital was constructed. The building was converted to apartments in 1939. Dr. Sale was born in Aurora, MO in 1891 and died in Neosho in 1944. The building was constructed with Craftsman influences.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The building is located one block west of the commercial area.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, eight-bay, one-part commercial building constructed in 1917. The main facade retains an original entrance opening with ca. 1970 metal and glass doors. Above the door is an original ten-light arched transom. Flanking this entrance are original two-light display windows with four-light transoms. Above the entrance is brick relief arching and a brick keystone. Above the display windows are soldier course lintels and concrete corner blocks. The main facade also has two garage door openings with original track doors with glass and wood panels. Above these entrances are arched soldier course lintels. Windows adjacent to these doors are tri-part six-over-nine rectangular wood sash with six-light transoms. Above the doors and windows are rectangular concrete panels with inset brick banding. Below the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice and at the roofline iiscorbelled coping.

43. History and Significance: In 1917, W.B. Jeffers bought into the Neosho Auto Company, a dealer in Ford cars. The dealership was located on South Washington Street, just of the public square. The Jeffers building was built as a Ford agency and repair shop. Mr. Jeffers bought out the other partners in the firm and formed the Jeffers Motor Company in the 1920s. The building is a one-part commercial building with extensive brick detailing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block west of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story tile and stucco, three-bay residence with Craftsman influences built in 1912. The house has a concrete foundation, exterior stucco surface, interior stucco chimney, and hipped roof of asphalt shingles. On the main (E) facade is a one-story, full width pergola supported by paired Tuscan columns. The main entrance has a wood paneled door. Windows are six-over-six rectangular wood sash. At the roofline is a gable dormer with one-over-one paired sash windows. The house was built in a rectangular plan with a large two-story wing on the north facade. In front of the house is a concrete retaining wall.

43. History and Significance: Shown on 1916 map as stuccoed hollow tile. The house was built in 1912 by the construction company of J.E. Lewis. The house was designed by Austin Allen of Joplin for the H. Clark Armstrong family. Clark's father, Bailey Armstrong, operated a hotel on the square until it burned in 1881. The house has had three owners: Mr. and Mrs. Clark Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Don Barnett (less than one year), and Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Dabbs. The house is a good example of a Craftsman residence with Colonial Revival detailing and should be considered for National Register listing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located one block south of the Neosho commercial area.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three bay, Neo-classical residence built ca. 1914. The house has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, exterior brick chimney, and weatherboard siding. On the main (E) facade is a full height portico with Doric columns and a railing with milled balusters at the first floor. The main entrance has a multi-light glass and wood door with eight-light sidelights and an elliptical transom. Above the entrance is a small balcony with milled balusters. Opening onto the balcony is a second floor multi-light glass and wood door. Windows are six-over-one rectangular wood sash. In the gable field of the portico is a Palladian window with a multi-light central win dow and flanking six-over-one sash. At the corners of the house are paneled Doric wall pilasters.

43. History and Significance: The house was built around 1914 by the Tatums. The house that stands at 206 West Hill Street was moved from this lot to make way for this house. Charles E. Prettyman, III, purchased the house from Mrs. Urick, a teacher, in 1937. The house is the most significant example of the Neo-Classical style in Neosho and should be considered for National Register listing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho. At the rear is a one-story frame ca. 1920 garage.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame, rectangular plan, four-bay Craftsman residence built ca. 1910. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles,@exterior stone chimney, and aluminum siding. On the main (W) facade is a three-quarter hipped-roof porch with Tuscan columns resting on a stone railing. The main entrance has a multi-light glass and wood door. Windows are sixteen-over-one rectangular wood sash.

43. History and Significance: The house was probably built ca. 1910 by F.E. Wasson, who occupied the house until 1969. Dr. and Mrs. Marion Weston purchased the house from Wasson's daughter in 1972 and sold the house in 1974. H. Ronald Burk owned the property in 1978, Mike and Rita Chaffin owned it from 1982 to 1984. The Gary Reed family lived in the house 1986 - 1989, when they sold it to Rocky and Rita Macy the present owners. The house is a good example of the Craftsman residence.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located in a residential section of Neosho.

45. Sources of Information: Rocky and Rita Macy, owners.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, two-bay, irregular plan Queen Anne residence built ca. 1895. The house has a stone foundation, pyramidal roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and exterior of metal siding. On the main (E) and south facades is a one-story wrap-around porch with ca. 1970 square columns and screen panels. The main entrance has a single light glass and wood paneled door with a stained glass light. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash. At the southeast corner of the roofline is a small turret with a conical roof, finial, and three-over-one sash windows.

43. History and Significance: The house was originally constructed ca. 1895 by Dr. Welles. A.R. McNabb, an agent on the Kansas City System railroad, later occupied the house. The house burned ca. 1920 and was rebuilt with its present porch. Despite the fire the house retains much of its Queen Anne design.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, irregular plan, two-bay residence built in 1885. The house has a stone foundation, hipped and gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and aluminum siding. On the main (E), south and north facades is a one-story wrap-around porch with square Doric motif columns, brackets, a spindled frieze and a stone railing. The main entrance has a single-light glass and wood door and rectangular single-light transom. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash. In the north bay of the main facade is a secondary entrance with a single-light glass and wood door. The interior floors are hardwood laid in a parquet design. The original woodwork and stairway also retain the original finish.

43. History and Significance: John Baptist Murry purchased the lot from the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad for $120. Mr. J.M.Z. Withrow was contracted to build the house in 1885 for $4200. Other owners include Moses and Laura Elliot, J.W. and Maggie West. Reverend and Mrs. Green, and Edna Spencer, who inherited the house from the Greens. Mrs. Green boarded soldiers and their wives in the house during WWII. The current owners, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fausett purchased the house in 1953. The house has Queen Anne influences.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho. At the rear is a ca. 1910 board and batten storage shed.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, two-bay, irregular plan residence built in 1896. The house has a stone foundation, gable and hipped roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimneys, and aluminum siding. On the main (E) and south facades is a one-story wrap-around porch with square Doric columns and a stone railing added ca. 1920. On the south facade the porch extends to form a porte-cochere with similar support posts and railing. The main entrance has a ca. 1970 multi-light glass and wood door. In the north bay of the main facade is a single light glass and wood door and rectangular single light transom. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash. In the north bay of the second story are paired multi-light windows. In front of the house is a concrete hitching post formed in the shape of a tree trunk.

43. History and Significance: The house was built in 1896 by H.S. Price. Truman and Mary Elmore purchased the house in 1907. The Historical Society has on file a letter from J. Pitts Elmore of Modesto, CA, describing his childhood in Neosho, specifically, his memories of the house at 612 South Jefferson. The Elmores sold the house in 1911 to a Creek Indian named Thomas Payne, who moved to Neosho from Oklahoma so his children could attend Neosho schools. L.M. Pierce, a Justice of the Peace in Newtonia and Neosho, purchased the house in 1922. He sold it in 1956 to L. Maxwell and Elinor Lampo, the present owners. The house was built with Queen Anne influences and has a Craftsman porch added in the 1920s.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho. At the rear is a ca. 1910 storage shed with added metal siding.

45. Sources of Information: L. Maxwell and Elinor Lampo, owners.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-and-one-half-story brick, two-bay, Gabled Ell plan residence with Italianate influences built ca. 1890. The house has a stone foundation, interior brick chimney, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of five-course common bond brick. On the main (W) facade is a porch with ca. 1960 wrought iron columns and brick railing. The main entrance has a single-light glass and wood door. Windows are arched two-over-two wood sash with rock faced stone lintels and two-course brick relief arching. In the gable fields are arched one-over-one attic windows. On the north facade is a one-story ca. 1970 addition.

43. History and Significance: This residence is one of only a few late 19th century brick residences remaining in Neosho. The house may be associated with the railroad in some way, as it is located on the north side of the tracks. The building is a good example of a Gabled Ell plan residence.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located to the north of the Neosho industrial area on a short street of four houses.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, five bay, T-plan building with Italianate influences built ca. 1890. The building has a two-story wing on the south facade which appears to have been added ca. 1925. The original section has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and exterior of stretcher bond brick. On the main (E) facade is a full width one-story shed porch with round brick columns on a brick railing. The columns are of molded brick with a rock-faced finish and stone cushion capitals. This porch treatment may have been added ca. 1910. The main entrance has an original single-light glass and wood door with a segmental arched single light transom. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash set within segmental arches. The arches have a single course of brick relief arching and a stone keystone. In the gable fields are added stucco. The ca. 1925 addition has an exterior surface of brick and stucco, a stepped parapet, and six-over-one sash windows. The entrance on this wing has a multi-light glass and wood door and eight-light sidelights.

43. History and Significance: The original section facing Hickory Street dates to ca. 1890 according to the Sanborn Maps. The rear section has been altered so much that it is difficult to tell by the maps whether it was built in 1890 or 1925. The house was owned by Ambrose McKee in the late nineteenth century.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential area of Neosho just off the public square.

217 South Lafayette Street--Shambaugh House

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay, rectangular plan Craftsman residence built in 1913. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, interior stone chimney. The first floor of the house is of limestone veneer while the second story is of weatherboard siding. The main (W) facade has a partial width porch which extends on the north facade of the house to form a porte-cochere. This porch has stone piers and a solid stone railing. The porch has wide eaves with exposed rafters. The main entrance has a multi-light glass and wood door and multi-light sidelights. Windows are wood, multi-light casement design with eight lights in the upper and lower panels of the windows. On the south facade is a one-story shed roof bay window. The house has wide eaves with exposed eave rafters.

43. History and Significance: The house was built in 1913 by Allie Hubbard for Mrs. Anna Lane Shambaugh. Mrs. Shambaugh designed the house room by room and took one year to complete it. Most of the materials, including the native rock, were purchased through Hurley Lumber, managed by Frank Nicely. The thick glass windows were imported from Kansas City. An Army officer copied the house plans and constructed an identical house in Illinois. Other owners include Ivan and Clive Lane, and David and Francis McMillan, who have owned the house since 1976. The house is a good example of a Craftsman residence.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: At the rear is an original one-story stone garage with a gable roof of metal standing seam and exposed eave rafters. The building has original paneled doors and added overhead track doors. The house is located just to the south of the commercial district.

42. Further Description of Important Features: This complex of buildings was constructed ca. 1940 as a tourist court just off of Highway 60. The complex is composed of a concrete and cobblestone office, two-story garage apartment and six individual frame cottages. Several other cottages are located on the property which were built in recent decades. The office has a concrete foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of random course stone and concrete. On the main (N) facade is a full width porch with ca. 1970 metal columns. The main entrance has a ca. 1950 glass and wood door. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash.

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed as the office for the Hopi Court development of the 1940s. The court was constructed to serve tourists and travelers and is located one block east of U.S. Highway 60. Hopi Court is the only extant tourist court of its type in Neosho.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The motor court is located on the edge of a residential neighborhood in Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick and frame, three-bay Neoclassical residence built in 1916. The house has a concrete foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and interior brick chimneys. The first floor of the house has a brick veneer while the upper story is of square wood shingles. On the main (N) facade is a full height portico with a gable roof and brick columns. The exterior brick is laid with two courses of corresponding stretcher bond. The main entrance has a single light glass and wood door and flanking the door are large multi-light full height casement windows. Other windows are four-over-one vertical light sash. The house has wide eaves with purlins and eave rafters and in the gable field is a louvered vent window.

43. History and Significance: The house was built by Henry Curtis Roark in 1916. The Roark family lived in the house until 1920. (Henry's daughter, Hugla Roark Bliss lives on East McKinney.) Other owners include the Zbraneks, Bobby Patterson, and the current owners Gregg and Kathy Lee. The house was divided into rental property during WWII. The house is a good example of a Craftsman residence with Neo-Classical influences.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story, three-bay, frame and stucco Prairie-influenced residence built in 1917. The house has a concrete foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimneys, and exterior of stucco. The main entrance has a small gable stoop with knee brace brackets. The entrance has a multi-light glass and wood door. Windows are original nine-over-nine rectangular wood sash. Dividing the first and second floors is a belt course of soldier bond brick. The house has wide eaves and at the roofline is a hipped dormer with a six light attic window.

43. History and Significance: The house was constructed on the site of Senator M.E. Benton's home that burned in 1917. Nat Benton was the contractor. Nat supposedly based the design of the house on his mother's Long Island home to entice her to stay in Neosho. The house was noted for its beautiful flowers, especially in the rose gardens. The barn stood at the corner of McKinney and Washington Streets. Thomas Hart, the well-known artist and son of M.E. Benton, occupied the house for a time as well. The Hazen family leased the house while their own house was under construction. Mr. Hazen managed Neosho Nurseries. The Benton family sold the house to Dr. Barberick and his family. The present owners, Thomas and Margaret Thorne, purchased the house from the Barberick estate. The house may be eligible for the National Register due to its association with the prominent Benton family.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

The house has a concrete and cobblestone foundation, interior brick chimney, gable roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of square wood shingles. On the main (S) facade is a curved railing of concrete and cobblestones. The main entrance has a multi-light glass and wood door. Windows are nine-over-one rectangular wood sash. At the eaves are purlins and eave rafters.

43. History and Significance: The house was built in 1922 by Roy Anderson for Leslie and Anna Rice, who purchased the lot from the Bentons. It was the first house built in the Benton Hills subdivision. The Rices owned the house until 1975 when they sold it to the present owners, Robert and Nola Daugherty. The house is a good example of a gable front Bungalow.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

45. Sources of Information: Sanborn Insurance Maps; Robert and Nola Daugherty.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, four-bay, frame residence. The house has a stone foundation, exterior of metal siding, gable roof of asphalt shingles, and interior flues. The main section appears has three bays with two gable wall dormers on the main (N) facade. The dormers have sawtooth shingles in the gable field and pedimented surrounds over the windows. The main entrance has a replacement door and an original pedimented surround. Windows are two-over-two and one-over-one rectangular wood sash. On the west facade an original large two-story polygonal bay. This bay has one-over-one wood sash windows and at the eaves are brackets. On the main facade is of the original section is a partial width one-story porch added ca. 1920 with square columns on stone piers.

43. History and Significance: This residence was built ca. 1880 and has an unusual floor plan. The house appears to have been constructed at the same time but the unusual polygonal bay suggests that it may have been added at a later date than the east section of the house. Little is known of the residence except it belonged at one time to a Dr. Bowers.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building is located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, four-bay, rectangular plan I-House built ca. 1882. The house has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, an interior end brick chimney, and aluminum siding. On the main (S) facade is a full width one-story shed porch with square columns. These columns have been enclosed in aluminum panels. On the second story is a pedimented portico with square columns and an added wrought iron railing. The main entrance has an original four-panel door and rectangular transom with stained glass. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash with added metal shutters. On the second story of the main facade is a four-panel door which opens onto the portico's balcony.

43. History and Significance: The house was built ca. 1882, probably by A. M. Sevier, a Missouri State Commissioner and one of the publishers of the Neosho Times. George Cookey bought the house in 1913. Other owners between 1941 and 1980 include the Woolfindens, Fillinghams, Graves, and the Aronhalts. The Windhursts bought the house in 1980 and sold it to the Mabreys in 1984. The residence has not been extensively altered.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho. At the rear is a one-story frame, gable roof servant's quarter's built ca. 1900. In front of the house is a ca. 1980 cast iron fence.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1895. The building has four separate storefronts with various degrees of alteration. The 101-103 storefront was remodeled ca. 1970 with brick veneer pilasters, and metal and glass display windows. The upper facade of these two sections was covered with metal panels ca. 1949. The upper facade of the building on the 105-109 storefronts remain visible. The 105 storefront was remodeled ca. 1940 and ca. 1970. The storefront has ca. 1970 metal and glass display windows and Carrara glass panels are located over the storefront which appear added ca. 1940. The 107 storefront has a recessed entrance with a ca. 1970 glass and metal door. Transoms have been enclosed on this storefront and wood panels added at the bulkheads. The 109 storefront was altered ca. 1960 with brick bulkheads and metal and glass display windows and doors. Above the storefront the transom has been enclosed with wood panels. Dividing the 105-109 storefronts are brick piers with rock faced stone bases and inset stone panels. The upper facades of the 105 and 107 sections have one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows with rectangular rock faced stone sills and lintels. Window openings on the 109 upper facade have been enclosed with wood panels and the central opening has a ca. 1970 two light window. Across the roofline of all the exposed building bays is a sheet metal cornice with large brackets and floral panels.

43. History and Significance: The building was built in 1895 to house the Golden Eagle, a dry goods store. Construction of the building cost $15,000. The Golden Eagle had such innovations as the Barr system of cash carriers and baskets which served to connect the different departments with the cashier's office via overhead lines. McGinty's was founded in 1904 in a building on the south side of the square. (This original building no longer stands) The department store moved into the Golden Eagle building in 1918. The interior of the building burned in July 1949 and reopened in November of the same year. Sturgis and Geyer Store and the real estate agents of Withrow and Smith occupied the site of Oldham Jewelry. Deluxe Cleaners has been at this same location since the business first opened in 1913. The site was originally the First National Bank. Matters Jewelry was founded in 1892 and was originally located in the 300 block of Spring Street. The business has occupied its present site since 1956. Also in 1956, Matters was recognized by the National Jeweler as one of the 300 oldest jewelers in the country, and the third oldest in Missouri. The store has since become the one of the 100 oldest jewelers in the nation, the oldest in Missouri, and the oldest family-run business in the state. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the southwest corner of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick and stone veneer temple front commercial building constructed in 1922. The building is three bays wide with full height Corinthian columns and pilasters on the main facade. The building's storefront was altered ca. 1980 with the addition of metal and glass display windows and doors. On the second story of the upper facade are three bays of tri-part windows which are concealed behind metal grille panels. Above the second story is a stone cornice and frieze inscribed "Neosho Building and Loan Association." Above this frieze is a cornice with modillion blocks and dentils. At the roofline is a stone parapet wall.

43. History and Significance: This building was originally the First National Bank and was built in 1905 on a lot purchased from M.E. Benton. In 1922, the bank purchased the adjoining lot and building and remodeled and rebuilt the two buildings fronting forty feet on the square. [The building is shown as a bank on both the 1916 and the 1926 Sanborn map.] The bank was robbed by Irish O'Malley and others on March 2, 1935. $8,000 was taken and First National had to borrow money from the Bank of Neosho to commence with business that day. Neosho Building and Loan Association dates to 1884 and occupied several locations [one of which was the second floor of Deluxe Cleaners at #107 Main] before moving into the First National Building ca. 1965. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the south side of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1906 with four separate storefronts. 121/123/125 storefronts are occupied by one business and have been altered with brick bulkheads and metal and glass display windows and doors ca. 1970. The #121 storefront retains an original recessed entrance with a single-light glass and wood door. The transom above these storefronts has been covered with wood panels. The #127 storefront contains a separate business and was remodeled ca. 1985 with metal and glass display windows and door. The storefront retains wood bulkheads which may be original. The transom above the storefront has been covered with wood panels. The upper facade of the building has not been altered and retains its original design. The upper facade is divided into four bays with each bay containing paired one-over-one sash windows. These windows share rock faced rectangular stone lintels and sills. Below the windows is a belt course of yellow glazed brick and yellow glazed brick is also used in corbelling above the windows. Dividing the upper facade bays are brick piers with glazed brick panels. Below the roofline the glazed brick has been used to create diamond patterns. At the roofline is a parapet of rock faced stone.

43. History and Significance: The building was built for Briggs Hardware Company in 1906 after fire destroyed the original 1896 building. The business was struck by fire again in 1951. The building has also been occupied by J.C. Penney's. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1906. The building has an exterior of glazed white tile. The storefront is chamfered with a brick pier on a concrete base at the southeast corner of the building. The storefront has been altered with metal and glass display windows and door. The upper facade retains its original detailing and above the storefront is a terra cotta cornice with rectangular panels and egg and dart molding. The upper facade has three window openings containing original rectangular one-over-one wood sash windows. Below the roofline is another terra cotta cornice with dentils and a plain frieze.

43. History and Significance: This building was reconstructed to replace a 1902 building that was destroyed in the 1906 fire. The building is shown as a hotel on the 1909 Sanborn map and was connected to the Hotel England through a tunnel below Washington Street. The building has also been occupied by Evans Drug Store, which was purchased by the Guthries Drug Company in 1928. The building is included in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame, three-bay, rectangular plan residence with a prominent polygonal bay built ca. 1900. The house has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and exterior of weatherboard siding. On the main (N) facade is an entry porch with Tuscan columns and a railing with square balusters. The entrance has an original single light glass and wood paneled door and rectangular single light transom. The primary feature of the main facade is a polygonal bay at the northwest corner of the residence with conical roof. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash with two windows on the primary facade having stained glass upper lights.

43. History and Significance: The original building was probably built ca. 1900--it is shown on the 1902 Sanborn map. The bay was probably added ca. 1906 and is shown on the 1909 map. The house was owned at one time by George Hubbert.

44. Description of Environment and XXXXOutbuildings The house is located to the east of the commercial section of Neosho.

West Main Street--City Hall and Auditorium

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story concrete, six-bay, Art Deco public building completed in 1938. The building has a concrete foundation, flat roof of rolled roofing and exterior of concrete panels. On the main (N) facade are five sets of double doors of single-light glass and wood design. Above the doors are large single-light rectangular transoms with opaque lights. Above the doors are chevron panels and vertical fluted panels. Windows are four-light hopper design. In the second story central bay the window openings have structural glass blocks. At the roofline is concrete zig-zag molding. Located to the east and west of the main section are original one-story wings with single-light glass and wood doors and four-light hopper windows. Inscribed on the main facade is "Neosho Auditorium City Hall".

43. History and Significance: The building was designed by St. Louis architect Neal C. Davis, a native of Newton County, and financed by the Work Projects Administration, project #1302DC. Edward and Charles Haas donated $15,000 to the project. The citizens of Neosho voted bonds of $40,000 and the U.S. government matched with $40,000. Edward Haas also donated 100 books to the library, which was located in the building. The building is a good example of an Art Deco public building of the 1930s and is included in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one-half block west of the Neosho public square.

45. Sources of Information: Dedication plaque. "The Gathering Place: Neoshoans Remember Auditorium as it was." Neosho Daily News. 1 April 1990.

East Park Street--National Fish Hatchery

42. Further Description of Important Features: The site consists of original earthen sluiceways and holding ponds that were inlaid with concrete and rocks in the late 1930s by the WPA, under the direction of Robert North, a local contractor. Other buildings and structures on the site were built in recent decades.

43. History and Significance: The National Fish Hatchery in Neosho is the oldest fish hatchery in operation today. The original hatchery was built in 1888. The land was purchased by the U.S. government from Lemuel and Mary Hearrell for one dollar. Hearrell Springs was the water source. Two additional warm-water ponds were constructed in 1901 on 3.3 acres of land purchased from Harold G. Geyer. The original wood pipes were replaced with lead pipes in 1908 and water from McMahan Spring was obtained for use. The only original building that remains standing is the 1926 glazed brick garage and feed building. Much of the construction of the hatchery was done by the WPA in 1938/39. The original hatchery building and residence were torn down in 1961/1962 when the hatchery was renovated. New rearing facilities were also constructed. The hatchery has historic significance but no buildings and structures remain from its original construction. The hatchery should be considered for inclusion on the National Register for its remaining buildings and structures from the 1930s.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located southeast of Neosho's town square.

317 Patterson Street--Geyer House

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay asymmetrical plan residence built in 1902. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, exterior brick chimney, and aluminum siding. On the main (N) facade is a one-story porch added ca. 1925 with tapered cobblestone columns. The main entrance has an original single-light glass and wood door. In the central bay on the second story is a similar door which originally opened onto a second story porch. Windows are original one-over-one rectangular wood sash. On the west facade of the first story is an elliptical stained glass window. In front of the house is a cobblestone and concrete retaining wall built ca. 1925.

43. History and Significance: The house was built in 1902 by A.L. Brannock for his wife. She did not like the house, so he built another house down the hill facing Jefferson Street. Brannock sold this house to E.J. Phillips in 1903, who installed central heating before selling it to H.G. Geyer in 1912. A member of the Geyer has lived in the house since 1912. The house has been remodeled in recent years with added siding and shutters.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, three-bay I-house with Greek Revival influences constructed in 1855. The house has a stone foundation, exterior and interior brick chimneys and an exterior of six-course common bond. On the main (W) facade is a one-story partial-width porch built ca. 1925. The porch has square Doric columns resting on stone piers and a stone railing. The main entrance has an original six-panel door, five-light sidelights and seven-light transom. Windows are original six-over-six rectangular wood sash with ashlar stone lintels an sills. At the central bay of the second story is a door opening which has been converted to a one-over-one sash window. This opening has five-light sidelights and a six-light transom. At the eaves are brick dentils. The roof appears to have been replaced ca. 1920 and has exposed eave rafters. On the east facade is a two-story porch with original square columns and balusters. On the south facade, the original chimney was removed and windows added ca. 1910. These windows have rock-faced sills and lintels. The interior has a original staircase with milled newel post and milled balusters. There is also the original floor and Greek Revival influenced mantels and four-panel doors.

43. History and Significance: Job Ratliff came here from Tennessee and Arkansas and built a log cabin on this site in 1831. This residence was built in 1855 on 360 acres along Shoal Creek. The bricks for the house were made on the farm. Ratliff fathered sixteen children and lived to the late nineteenth century (1898). James P. Ratliff is said to have been the first white male child born in Newton County. The house remained in the Ratliff family until 1934. Other owners have been P.S. Reese, M.B. Scaggs, H.G. and Beulah Geyer and George and Joyce Kelly, who purchased the house in 1974 and added a lateral wing to the north facade in 1975. The house is the oldest remaining residence in Neosho. The house is eligible for the National Register for its architecture and association with the settlement of the Neosho area.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the northern edge of Neosho. All outbuildings were constructed in the late 1940s.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Description: Two-story tile and stucco, two bay, Tudor influenced residence built in 1921. The house has a stretcher bond brick exterior, cross gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and concrete foundation. On the main (E) facade is a full width gable porch with square brick columns. The main entrance has a multi-light glass and wood door and four-light paneled sidelights. Windows are nine-over-one rectangular wood sash. In the upper facade of the porch gable and house is a stucco surface with wood half-timbering. On the south facade is a second story bay window with a shed roof.

43. History and Significance: This residence is a good example of a Tudor influenced residence. Originally owned by Phil and Katherine Graves and built for them by Omer Crowder (he drew the plans on a tree stump). The house was built around an earlier house. Graves was a prominent attorney in Neosho, and was friends with Harry Truman, who visited the home often and played poker in the dining room.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is located in a residential section of Neosho. At the rear is a one-story brick and stucco garage built in 1921 with original double doors and a gable roof.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part, four-bay commercial building constructed in 1898. The storefront is chamfered and retains an original brick pier at the southwest corner. The storefront was altered ca. 1925 and ca. 1970. The primary entrance has a ca. 1925 single-light glass and wood door and a rectangular single-light transom. In the east bay of the storefront is a secondary entrance which also has a ca. 1925 single-light glass and wood door and transom. The central bay has ca. 1970 metal and glass display windows. Dividing the east bay from the rest of the storefront is an original cast iron pilaster. Above the storefront is a multi-light transom added ca. 1925. On the upper facade are four window openings with original one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows. The windows share rock-faced stone lintels and sills. At the roofline is a sheet metal bracketed cornice.

43. History and Significance: Shown under construction on the 1896 Sanborn map, the building served as a saloon in 1902, and is shown as a grocery in 1909 and 1916. The building was constructed by H.M. Rice in 1898. The second story was added after the completion of the first. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the north side of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1880. The building has a storefront which was altered ca. 1940. In the west bay is an original recessed entrance with a single-light glass and wood door and rectangular single-light transom. At the corner of this bay is an original cast iron pilaster. The central bay of the storefront is composed of glass and wood display windows on a tile bulkhead. In the east bay is a secondary entrance leading to the second story. This entrance has a ca. 1930 multi-light glass and wood door and adjacent to the door is an extended wood pier with Carrara glass panels. Above the storefront is a transom which has been covered with wood panels. The second story contains three window openings with each opening covered with wood panels. These window openings match those found at 114 East Spring Street and have cast iron sills and hood molding. Above the windows are round vent openings with star shaped grilles and a corbelled brick cornice at the roofline.

43. History and Significance: The building appears on the 1884 Sanborn map with an I.O.O.F. Hall located in the rear of the second story. In 1891, there was a drugstore on the first floor and a post office on the second, with the I.O.O.F. continuing to meet in the rear. In 1896 and 1902, the building is shown as a drugstore and jewelry store and as a pool room in 1909. By 1916, the store sold hardware, Queensware, and racket (miscellaneous). The building retains much of its original Italianate detailing and is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the north side of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building with Italianate detailing built ca. 1880. The storefront was altered ca. 1965 and has stone veneer bulkheads, and metal and glass display windows and doors. On the second story are three window bays with arched openings. The window openings have been covered with wood panels but retain original cast iron sills and sheet metal hood molding. The hood molding has acroterion panels. Above the windows are two round vent openings with star shaped grilles. At the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice.

43. History and Significance: A tin shop operated in what appears to be the same building in 1884. In 1891, the store sold hardware and dry goods. The 1896 and 1902 maps show a drugstore and in 1909, a grocery. In 1916 the building housed a hardware store and tin shop. The building retains original Italianate detailing and is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1890. The building retains an original storefront with formica marble bulkheads, copper and glass display windows, and a central recessed entrance. The entrance retains an original glass and wood door with a leaded glass transom. Adjacent to the door is a large single-light sidelight. Across the width of the building is a ca. 1970 metal awning and sign. Above the storefront is a large transom with opaque glass lights. On the second story are six window bays with rectangular window openings. The window openings have been enclosed with wood panels. Above the windows are rock-faced stone lintels and the windows rest on smooth stone sills. At the roofline the original cornice has been removed and covered with metal panels.

43. History and Significance: There was originally a saloon built on the lot that was replaced by the present two-story building ca. 1890. The store served as a furniture store and a millinery in 1891. In 1896 it was a newsstand and in 1902, it served as a newsstand and a post office. In 1909, the store was again a millinery and later became McElhany Grocery. Newton County Hardware opened in the building on August 23, 1913, with proprietors Virgil Green an George Stansbury. The business continued as a hardware store under different names and in 1966 became Johnston's True Value Hardware. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the north side of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Four-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1906. The storefront was altered ca. 1970 with the addition of concrete panels and a shed roof wood awning. The southeast corner of the storefront is chamfered and has an original marble column. Above the storefront level is a concrete cornice with modillion blocks. Window openings on the upper facade have been enclosed with wood panels and one-over-one rectangular metal windows. Over the windows are concrete label lintels. The upper facade is composed of two bays with each bay divided by brick pilasters with Doric capitals above the fourth floor level. Below the roofline is a concrete cornice with large modillion blocks and brackets. At the roofline is a stepped parapet with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: The building was constructed by the Haas family in 1906. It was built to house the offices of the Missouri and Northern Arkansas Railroad but the firm went bankrupt before ever occupying the building. The building is shown as a bank (Neosho Savings Bank) on the 1909 and 1916 Sanborn maps and as city offices on the 1926 map. There are jail cells in the basement of the building. Neosho Hospital leased the top two floors in 1923. The building housed the Newton Hotel in the 1960s. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located at the northeast corner of the public square in the commercial district of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1890. The building had a storefront with original cast iron pilasters. In the west bay is a secondary entrance leasing to the second story staircase. This entrance has an original single-light glass and wood door. The rest of the storefront was altered ca. 1970 with brick bulkheads and metal and glass display windows and door. The transom has been covered with wood panels. On the upper facade are three window bays with each window covered with wood panels. Windows retain original cast iron sills and hood molding. At the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice. The building originally had an ornate metal front.

43. History and Significance: This is the only building shown on the block on the 1891 Sanborn Map, it served as a seed store with a club room on the second floor and was known as the Bigham Building. In 1896 and in 1902, it is also shown as a feed store. In 1909 it was a second-hand store and in 1916 an undertaker's. In 1926, it was occupied by a vulcanized rubber store. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one-half block east of the Neosho public square.

45. Sources of Information: Sanborn insurance maps.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, one-part commercial building constructed ca. 1905. The building retains its original storefront and has brick bulkheads, fluted wood pilasters, copper and glass display windows, and a three-light transom. The entrance has a single-light glass and wood door with a rectangular single-light transom. Across the storefront is a structural steel lintel. At the corners are brick quoins with stone bases and capitals. Above the storefront is a corbelled brick cornice and panels. At the roofline is a pedimented stone parapet.

43. History and Significance: The 1902 map shows a vacant lot but 1909 shows the building as an office. The Railway Express office was located in the building in 1916. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one-half block east of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, one-part commercial building on a concrete foundation constructed ca. 1930. The building retains its original storefront and has brick bulkheads, plate-glass wood frame display windows, and an eight-light wood-frame transom across the facade. The entrance is recessed and the wood frame doors are set at a 45 degree angle to each other. The full-length single lights in the doors have been replaced with plywood. The hardware is original. The facade is laid up in a tapestry brick design and has a pedimented roof.

43. History and Significance: The building was constructed ca. 1930 and in recent years has been occupied by a liquor store. The building is included in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one-half block east of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story, six-bay, one-part commercial building constructed in 1923. The building is of concrete construction with an exterior of concrete and cobblestone. The building has two separate storefronts. Each storefront has a central entrance with a glass and wood paneled door and flanking display windows. The #314 storefront has had its entrance enclosed with concrete blocks but retains its original four-light transom. The adjacent secondary entrance bay has also been altered with wood panels. Display windows are original with five-light transoms. The #316 storefront has similar display windows and an original entrance with a glass and wood paneled door. The secondary entrance on this facade also retains a glass and wood paneled door and flanking display window. The upper facade consists entirely of a cobblestone surface and there is no other detailing.

43. History and Significance: The building was constructed by the North Transfer and Storage Company in 1923. Dick North closed the business in 1936 to establish a paint and body shop and an Oldsmobile dealership in the same building. The dealership sold the Oldsmobile Willy, an early small car. The other section of the building was occupied by the Farmers Exchange.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The building is located in a commercial area just to the east of the public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1880. The corner storefront (#100) was remodeled ca. 1985 in keeping with the original character of the building. It has a recessed entrance with a single light glass and wood door, frame bulkheads, large display windows and a multi-light transom. #102 has original wood bulkheads and display windows and a recessed entrance with a ca. 1920 single-light glass and wood door. The transom panel has been covered with metal panels. Framing the storefront are stone quoins. The upper facade has six window bays with original two-over-two segmental arched sash windows. All windows have pedimented sheet metal hood molding and metal sills. At the roofline is a sheet metal cornice with dentils and a central pediment. Eight window bays extend on the east facade as does the cornice. The building originally had an iron balcony on the second story.

43. History and Significance: There has been a dry goods store and a drugstore on the property since at least 1884, when the building first appears on the Sanborn map. In 1926, there was a drugstore and the Empire District Electric Company in the building. The building retains much of its original Italianate detailing and is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located at the northwest corner of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1880. The building's storefront was altered ca. 1980 with wood panels and metal and glass display windows and door. The upper facade is composed of two asymmetrical bays with the west bay containing a narrow one-over-one rectangular wood sash window. The window is set within a segmental arch and has brick label hood molding. The east bay has paired one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows set within a segmental arch with brick label hood molding. Dividing the two bays is a brick pier. At the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice.

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed ca. 1880 and in 1884 there was a meeting hall on the first floor and a photographer's studio on the second. In 1891 and 1896, a cobbler occupied the building. In 1902 there was a restaurant in the building. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1890. The building has a ca. 1980 storefront of brick and metal panels. The upper facade is of pressed metal and retains its original design. On the upper facade are three window bays with ca. 1980 one-over-one fixed metal windows. Dividing each window bay are paired metal pilasters with cushion capitals. At the roofline is a frieze panel with floral decoration.

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed ca. 1890 and has a pressed metal facade. In 1891, the building was used to store groceries, etc. In 1896, the building was occupied by a barber. A cobbler is shown on the 1902 and 1909 maps, and in 1916, a tailor occupied the building. Oldham Jewelry occupied the building in the mid-twentieth century. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building is located one-half block west of the public square in the commercial section of Neosho.

45. Sources of Information: Sanborn Insurance Maps.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building with a pressed metal facade built ca. 1895. The building retains an original storefront at 111 West Spring Street with wood bulkhead panels, copper and glass display windows, and a recessed entrance with a single light glass and wood door. Above the entrance and display windows is a seven light transom. The other two storefronts have been altered in recent years with various materials such as glass and wood display windows and doors and stone veneer. The upper facade retains its original pressed metal front and is divided into four bays. Each bay contains three rectangular one-over-one sash windows. Dividing each window bay are single or paired Ionic motif columns resting on floral panels. Above the windows is a frieze with rosettes and at the roofline is a bracketed sheet metal cornice with modillion blocks and a frieze with round floral designs. At the roofline is a stepped parapet over each bay. The interior of the #111 section retains an original pressed metal ceiling.

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed ca. 1895 with a pressed metal facade. On the 1896 Sanborn map, #111 was a clothing store, #113 a bakery, and #115 was vacant. In 1902. #111 was vacant, #113 as a restaurant, and #115 was a bakery. In 1909, #111 had become an "electric theater", with #113 and #115 remaining as a restaurant and bakery, respectively, through 1916. In 1916, #111 is shown as a pool hall. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The building is located one-half block west of the public square in the commercial section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1895. The building's storefront was altered ca. 1960 with brick veneer, double doors of wood and glass, and metal display windows. Part of the upper facade below the windows is also concealed beneath metal panels. On the upper facade are three window bays with each bay containing an original one-over-one rectangular wood sash window. The windows have brick relief arching with rock-faced stone shoulders and keystones. The windows share a continuous stone sill. At the roofline is a sheet metal cornice with rectangular panels and rosette and floral designs. Beneath the cornice is a datestone inscribed "Heaton 1895".

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed in 1895 and is shown as a grocery on the 1896 map and as a bakery on the 1902 map. In 1909, it was a pool hall. In 1916, it was again a bakery. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block west of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1886. The building's storefront was altered ca. 1970 with brick veneer bulkheads, metal display windows and panels, and wood and metal doors. The upper facade is composed of seven window bays. The west three bays have one-over-one rounded arch sash windows with brick relief arching and stone sills. The east four window bays have rectangular twelve-over-twelve sash windows with single-light arched transoms. These windows also have brick relief arching and connecting the windows are corbelled brick belt courses. Dividing the window bays are brick wall buttresses. At the roofline is a sheet metal cornice with brackets and rosettes. The central bay has an elaborate stamped metal panel inscribed "Berger's Block 1886". Just below this metal panel is a small stone datestone inscribed "June 1, 1886". At the corners of the building are pyramidal design metal finials.

43. History and Significance: The Berger's Block building was constructed in 1886. In 1891, #114 sold notions, #116 meat, with a hotel on the 2nd floor, and #118 was a restaurant with a 2nd floor dwelling. In 1896, #114 was a barber shop, #116 a saloon, #118 a restaurant, and the Globe Hotel was located across the 2nd floor of all three storefronts. In 1902, #114 was a barber, #116 sold meat and #118 was the office and dining room for the Central Hotel on the 2nd floor. In 1909, #114 was a restaurant, #116 sold meat, and #118 continued as the office for the Central Hotel. In 1916, #114 was vacant, #116 sold meat, and #118 was shown again as the office and dining room for the Central Hotel. The building was used as the Comfort Lodge Hotel in the 1940s. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block west of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story stone and brick, one-part commercial building constructed ca. 1880. The building's storefront and upper facade appear to have been remodeled ca. 1920. The storefront retains its original concrete bulkheads, copper and glass display windows, and a recessed entrance with an original single-light glass and wood door with a rectangular transom. Above the display windows is a twelve-light transom. The upper facade consists of yellow glazed wire brick. At the roofline is concrete coping. Framing the storefront at the corners are stone quoins.

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed ca. 1880 but the storefront was added ca. 1920. The building is shown as storage for agricultural implements on maps from 1884 to 1902. In 1909, it was a livery, and in 1916 a jewelry store and office space. Meyers Motor Supply occupied the building in the mid-twentieth century. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story stone, one-part commercial building built ca. 1890. The building has an exterior of cobblestones set in concrete. This material was used for the bulkheads as well as the upper facade. The main entrance has original double doors with lower panels of wood and fifteen-light glass designs in the upper panels. The building has original display windows with three-light transoms.

43. History and Significance: This building appears to have been constructed ca. 1890 but the exterior of concrete and cobblestones was probably added ca. 1915 when it became an automobile garage. Shown as a livery and feed stable on the 1891, 1902, and 1909 maps. In 1896, it was a hardware store, and in 1916 was shown as an automobile garage. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block west of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame, three-bay, gable-front rectangular plan church built in 1895. The church has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles and an exterior of asbestos shingles. On the main (N) facade is a gable-roofed vestibule with exposed rafters. This contains the main entrance which has double doors of raised panels in cross designs. Flanking the entrance are stained glass lancet windows. on the east and west facades are paired rectangular stained glass windows. On both the east and west facades are ca. 1920 wings which rest on stone and concrete foundations. These wings have gable roofs, asbestos shingles, exposed rafters, and paired one-over-one sash windows.

43. History and Significance: This church was built in 1895 to serve as Neosho's Episcopal Church. The building was constructed in a gable front plan and the rear wing was added in the 1920s. The church continues to be used by the local congregation and it is included in the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The church is located adjacent to Big Spring Park on West Spring Street.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story stone, four-bay, rectangular plan public building built ca. 1930. The building has a stone and concrete foundation, gable roof with asphalt shingles, stone and concrete exterior end chimney and an exterior of coursed rubble stone and concrete. On the main (S) facade is a gable roof porch with stone columns. The main entrance has an original multi-light glass and wood door. Flanking the door are large wood thirty-light picture windows. In the east bay are ten-light double doors which open onto a wrought-iron and wood balcony. On the east facade are six-over-six sash windows and decorative wrought iron balconies. At the roofline are exposed eave rafters. The interior has been remodeled but retains an original rubble stone mantel.

43. History and Significance: This building was constructed ca. 1930 as part of the Big Spring Park and Hotel complex. Its original use is unknown but was later occupied by the Chamber of Commerce. The building is known to have been used as a home for the owners of the Inn, although it is not known who built it. The building is located in the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in the northern section of the Big Spring Park.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-and-one-half story, three-bay brick, Queen Anne influenced residence built in 1902. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of slate shingles, interior brick chimneys, and brick exterior. On the main (N) facade is a full width one-story porch with square brick columns resting on a stone railing. The brick columns have square rock faced stone capitals and have rounded corners. The main entrance has a single light glass and wood door with a rock faced stone lintel. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash with rock faced stone lintels and sills. At the eaves are large dentils. In the gable field on the main facade is a Palladian motif window with one-over-one sash attic windows. Also in the gable field are hexagonal wood shingles. On the east facade is a two-story porte-cochere with a sun porch on the upper story. The porte-cochere has brick and stone columns similar to those on the main facade porch. The sun porch has a series of connected one-over-one sash windows. The sun porch also has an exterior of hexagonal shingles. The interior of the house has original quartersawn oak woodwork and polished golden oak floors downstairs. The upstairs floors are refinished polished pine. Other interesting decorative features include a beveled paneled staircase, a built-in entrance foyer,,and built-in window seats on the two floors. In the dining room is a built in china cabinet that extends the width of the wall and has leaded glass doors and drawers with ornate brass hardware. There are similar units in the parlor and library. Two floors have round walls. The house is also equipped with a maid's bell and intercom. laundry chutes, and an elevator that services three floors.

43. History and Significance: The house is known by its historic name, "Twin Oaks", and is sometimes referred to as "the Old Hunt Mansion". The house was built in 1902 by Howard Speakman. It was originally a three-acre estate, and now sits on two acres. It is rumored that the house was built from one year's profits of strawberries. The house has been owned by Judge H.G.C. Baldry, Russell Hunt, Dr. and Mrs. James D. Warn, and Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Brend, the current owners. At one time, Mrs. Russell Hunt sold the house to Russell Tatum, who kept a strawberry farm and fruit orchards outside town. The house is a fine example of a Queen Anne/Colonial Revival influenced residence and is one of the most architecturally significant houses in Neosho. Because of its architecture the residence should be considered for inclusion on the National Register.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: At the rear is a two-story frame, carriage house with one-over-one sash windows and square shingles in the gable field. This building was also constructed in 1902. In front of the house is a stone retaining wall. The house is located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick and stucco, five-bay, irregular plan Italianate residence built ca. 1867. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, brick interior end chimneys, and a stucco exterior. On the main (E) facade is a ca. 1910 full-width shed porch with Tuscan columns. The main entrance has a single-light glass and wood paneled door with a stained glass light. Above the door is an arched three-light transom. Windows are arched two-over-two wood sash with wood sills. At the eaves are rectangular panels with attached star designs. The eaves also have large paired milled brackets. In the south bays of the east facade are three entrances with multi-light glass and wood windows. At the rear of the house is a one-and-one-half-story garage apartment building constructed ca. 1920. The building has a stone first floor and frame half-story.

43. History and Significance: This residence is one of Neosho's best examples of the Italianate style. The house was built ca. 1867 by Clarence Robinson. In 1869, the property was owned by Hutchinson, Goodykoontz, and Carpenter. They sold it to James Smith on November 4, 1869. Smith willed the property to his wife, Nancy Ann Smith, who passed it to her son Ulysses Grant Smith and his wife, Lucy. Ulysses and Lucy Smith sold the house in 1914 to C.M. Robeson. Judith Ann Haas Acheson purchased the house in 1971 from the Robeson estate. Mrs. Acheson is the grand-daughter of Charles Haas, Sr. and the niece of Edward Haas, a prominent Neosho property holder. The house is located in the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay, Italianate influenced residence built ca. 1900. The house has a stone foundation, composition siding, cross-gable and hipped roof of asphalt shingles and interior brick chimney. On the main (E) facade is a one-story three-bay ca. 1920 porch with square wood columns on stone piers. The main entrance has an original single-light glass and wood door. The door is surrounded by sidelights and a two-light transom. Italianate-influenced windows are two-over-two rectangular wood sash. A change in the roof from gable to hip and the off-center placement of the windows indicates that a two-story addition was made to the north end of the house, perhaps when the composition siding was put on.

43. History and Significance: The house was built ca. 1900 by the Matters family, who owned a jewelry store in downtown Neosho. Matters Jewelry is the oldest family-run business in the state of Missouri, having been established in 1892. The business is also one of the oldest jewelry stores in the country. The house has been remodeled but retains its original Italianate influences. The house is located in the proposed Big Spring Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame, rectangular plan, three-bay, residence built ca. 1942. The house has a concrete foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and asbestos shingle siding. The main entrance has a bracketed stoop and a multi-light glass and wood door. Windows are six-over-six rectangular wood sash. On the west facade is a one-story wing and attached garage.

43. History and Significance: This residence is located in the section of Neosho built to house the officers stationed at Camp Crowder during World War II. There are several (at least two) house plans in the area and this one surveyed is representative of the housing types of the period. The majority of the residences have been altered with added siding, modern porches, and additional wings.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, three-bay, Second Empire style building constructed in 1888. The building has a limestone foundation and is of five-course common bond brick. The main (W) facade was covered with stucco ca. 1920 when a two-story porch was added to the main facade. The porch has a concrete and stucco railing with square stucco columns. The second story of the porch is enclosed and has paired one-over-one sash windows. The main entrance has a ca. 1960 wood and glass door and a two-light transom. Windows are arched one-over-one rectangular wood sash with stone sills and brick relief arching. At the roofline is a bracketed wood cornice. The house has a mansard roof with asphalt shingles.

43. History and Significance: Built in 1888 as the sheriff's house and county jail until the new jail was built on top of the new courthouse in 1936. The building was designed and constructed by the Pauly Jail Building and Manufacturing Company of St. Louis at a cost of $6000. Six jail cells were originally located in a two-story rear ell constructed of brick. The Welfare Department occupied the building from 1936 to 1958. The Newton County Historical Museum has occupied the building since 1958. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block north of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Four-story brick, three-bay, two-part commercial building with Italianate influences built in 1898. The first story of the primary (W) facade has a sheathing of rock-faced limestone. The entrance is set within a large arched opening with radiating voussoirs. The arches spring from bases which have four marble columns and floral capitals. The entrance has ca. 1970 metal and glass doors but retains its original cast iron columns, frame bulkheads, display windows and transoms. Display windows which flank the entrance bay are also original with three-light transoms. Above the storefront is a stone frieze with incised chevron molding. The upper facade has three bays. The central bay has three one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows while the flanking bays have two one-over-one wood sash windows. Each window has a rock-faced stone lintel and sill. Dividing each bay are rock-faced stone piers and at the corners of the building are also stone piers. Windows on the fourth floor are arched with stone keystones. At the roofline is a large sheet-metal cornice with dentils and brackets. The central bay of the cornice is pedimented with a stamped panel inscribed "Edw. Haas, 1898". The north and south facades are divided into six bays with similar window designs. At the rear of the building is an original one-story wing with arched windows and corbelled brick panels. The interior retains an original pressed metal ceiling, columns with pressed metal panels and Corinthian capitals, and a cast iron safe.

43. History and Significance: The building was built as Haas Wholesale Grocery Company in 1898. It was constructed with an electric elevator and an automatic sprinkler system. This company was one of the leading produce companies of southwest Missouri in the early 20th century. The company was begun by Edward Haas and the company shipped fruits and vegetables throughout the region. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block north of the Neosho public square.

45. Sources of Information: Datestone; Newton County Historical Society. Neosho, A City of Springs.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building originally constructed in 1883 and enlarged and remodeled in 1913. The building has three bays with the central bay containing an entrance opening onto stairs leading to the second story. This entrance has a ca. 1960 metal and glass door, original brick piers, and above the door are yellow glazed brick belt courses and pediment. The #101 and #103 storefronts were both remodeled ca. 1960 with brick bulkheads and metal and glass display windows. The #103 storefront retains its original entrance with a single-light glass and wood door. Transoms over both storefronts have been covered with wood panels. Above both storefronts is a belt course of yellow glazed soldier and sailor brick courses. The upper facade is composed of two bays with extensive use of yellow glazed brick. The two window openings on the facade contain ca. 1960 metal windows. The window openings retain original surrounds with glazed brick lintels, sills, and quoins. The corners of the building also have glazed quoining. Above the windows are brick dentils, rectangular panels, and belt courses of glazed brick. At the roofline is terra cotta coping at the parapet walls and decorative concrete finials.

43. History and Significance: The original section of the building was constructed in 1883. The lodge was expanded in 1913 and a new facade placed on the building. The Masonic Lodge met on the second floor, and there were stores on the first floor. In 1916, #101 was a harness shop and #103 a clothing store. In 1957 Lawrence and Earleen Mills started Mills hardware store in #103. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the south side of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1920 and enlarged ca. 1930. The storefront is divided into two bays with both bays altered ca. 1990 with wood panels and wood and glass doors. Dividing the storefront bays are brick piers of soldier and sailor brick coursing and concrete capitals. Above the storefront is a soldier course belt course. On the upper facade are six window openings with each opening containing a ca. 1990 one-over-one fixed window. The windows share a sailor course brick sill and the window surrounds have soldier coursingand concrete shoulders. Below the roofline is a large rectangular brick panel with sailor or header bond brick. At the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice and terra cotta coping at the parapet.

43. History and Significance: Only a one-story building (ca. 1920) is shown on the 1926 Sanborn map, although it is in the same plan. The building was enlarged ca. 1930 into two-stories and housed a Safeway store in the 1930s. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1902. This building has three separate sections all built at the same time. On each section is a stone panel at the roofline inscribed with what appears to be original occupant names. The #123 bay has "Miller-Wills" inscribed; the #121 bay has "The Times" inscribed; and the #119 bay has "J. Pickens" inscribed. All of the storefronts have been altered in recent decades with a variety of materials such as brick veneers and metal and glass doors and display windows. The upper facade has six bays of window openings with the openings in the 119/121 sections covered with wood panels. The #123 bay retains original one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows and all window openings have smooth stone sills and rock faced stone lintels. Below the roofline are brown glazed brick belt courses and a blind Romanesque arcade. Dividing each bay are rounded brick and stone buttresses topped with stone finials. At the roofline is rock faced stone coping and finials.

43. History and Significance: The building is shown as under construction on the 1902 Sanborn Map. The building housed a feed and seed store, a drug store and a post office in 1909 and 1916. The building also served as the offices for the Neosho Times. The building is one of the largest on the public square and is included in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

The east and west bays have one-over-one sash windows. The windows have concrete sills and lintels. Below the east and west windows are rectangular brick and concrete panels. Below the roofline is a concrete cornice with modillion blocks. At the roofline is a parapet wall with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: In 1916 the Neosho Savings Bank purchased the lot from Billy Lee Grocery for $8,500. Neal C. Davis designed a new building for the bank that was completed in 1917. The building was occupied by the bank until the 1930s. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the south side of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, single-bay, rectangular plan industrial building with Colonial Revival influences built in 1906. The building has a brick and concrete foundation, hipped roof of composition shingles, and exterior of stretcher-bond brick. The main facade (W) has two entrances with two panel wood doors. Windows on the side and rear facades are six-over-one wood sash with rock-faced sills. At the corner of the building are brick quoins of brown glazed brick. At the roofline is a wood cornice with eave dentils. At the roofline of the main facade is a hipped dormer with a wood shingle exterior and diamond light attic window. At the rear of the building is a one-story wing of hollow core concrete block construction which is attached to a concrete water tank. Two other water tanks of concrete and a metal water tank are also located on the property.

43. History and Significance: This building is part of a waterworks complex that was built in 1906. The city had used ten-inch cedar water pipes (laid by Michigan Pipe Company) since 1890 and began its conversion to lead in 1906, when the standpipe, reservoir and stand house were built on Washington Street. The entire waterworks system had been converted to lead by 1911.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential section of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1900. The building's storefront was altered ca. 1970 with concrete bulkheads, metal and glass display windows and doors. Above the display windows is a ten-light transom which appears to date to a ca. 1920 remodeling. The upper facade retains its original pressed metal design. There are four window bays with original one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows. Dividing each bay are paired Ionic design engaged metal columns. These columns have floral panels. Above the windows is a frieze with rosettes. The original cornice at the roofline has been removed.

43. History and Significance: Built ca. 1900 on the site of an earlier building. In 1902, #108 sold jewelry and Queensware with lodging on the second floor; #110 was a livery and feed store. In 1909, #108 was a barbershop and still sold Queensware with lodging on the second floor; #110 was a livery and feed store. In 1916, #108 was a barber shop and a restaurant and #110 was a livery and feed store. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one-half block north of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed in 1905. The building's storefront has been somewhat remodeled with a ca. 1970 glass and metal door at the entrance. In the north bay is a secondary entrance leading to the second story staircase. This door is an original two-light glass and wood design with a rectangular transom. Display windows and frame bulkheads are original and over the entrances and windows are multi-light transoms. Across the width of the storefront is a structured steel lintel. On the upper facade are two window bays with each bay containing paired one-over-one rectangular wood sash windows. The windows rest on a continuous rock-faced stone sill and above the windows are stone lintels. At the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice and stone parapet. Brick just below the roofline is textured and there is a stone panel inscribed "Heating and Plumbing".

43. History and Significance: Built on the site of an earlier building, the structure was constructed by Stroop Plumbing in 1905 and included sheet metal works in 1916. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one-half block north of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, three-bay, Victorian Romanesque church built in 1907. The church has a stone foundation, stretcher bond brick exterior and gable roof of asphalt shingles. On the main (W) facade is a one-story incised loggia with Romanesque stone columns, stone arches and a castellated parapet. The main entrance has ca. 1920 solid wood doors. Windows are arched one-over-one wood sash with stained glass lights. At the northwest corner is a square bell tower with stone belt courses and arched openings with stone shoulders and keystones. Other windows are rectangular with rock-faced stone lintels and sills. In the gable field of the main facade is a Palladian window with stained glass. A handicap ramp has been added to the main facade in recent years.

43. History and Significance: The First Congregational Church was first organized in 1866, the second church to organize in Neosho. This church was built in 1907 and continues to be used by the First Congregational Church congregation. The building is a good example of the Victorian Romanesque style and is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block north of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, one-part commercial building constructed ca. 1930. The building retains most of its original storefront with brick bulkheads, concrete bulkheads, and copper and glass display windows. The storefront has three bays with the central bay containing an original single-light glass and wood door. Above the door is a ca. 1980 stained glass light. Dividing each bay is a brick pier. The south storefront has a ca, 1960 glass and metal door. The upper facade is of wire brick with an inset rectangular panel of header bond brick. At the roofline is a stepped parapet with terra cotta coping.

43. History and Significance: The building was constructed ca. 1930 and was originally home to Nolan V. Embrey Chrysler Plymouth Sales. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block north of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick school with a raised basement constructed in 1916. The school has a concrete foundation, exterior of Flemish bond brick, and flat roof. The building has fifteen window bays with ca. 1970 metal windows added in the window openings. Above the windows are concrete lintels and below are concrete sills. The main entrance is recessed within a Tudor-arched, one-story brick wing. The arch is of concrete with a concrete lintel. The main doors are ca. 1970 metal and glass design. Dividing the basement and first floor levels is a concrete belt course. At the corners of the one-story wing and window bays are concrete quoins. Below the roofline is a concrete cornice and at the roofline is a stepped parapet and soldier course banding. At the rear of the building is an attached gymnasium wing. This wing has three arched openings on the Jefferson Street facade with concrete keystones. Windows have also been altered on this facade.

43. History and Significance: The school was designed by St. Louis architect Neal C. Davis, a native of Newton County who later designed the courthouse and auditorium. The contractor was J.B. Wagor. The building was constructed in 1916 and served as the city's primary high school for several decades. The Neosho High School has been altered in recent years with new windows and doors but should be considered for National Register listing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The Neosho High School is located just to the north of the commercial section of the community.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay, rectangular plan Italianate house built ca. 1880. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior aluminum siding. On the main (E) facade is a one-story shed porch with original square milled columns on a ca. 1920 stone railing. The main entrance has original double doors of single-light glass and wood design. Windows are 1/1 rectangular wood sash. In the central bay of the second story is a single light glass and wood door. On the south facade is a one-story bay window. At the eaves are paired Italianate milled brackets. At the rear are two ca. 1920 frame sheds and a ca. 1920 gable roof garage. In front of the house is a ca. 1920 hollow core concrete block retaining wall.

43. History and Significance: This residence was built ca. 1880 on the north side of Neosho. The house is one of the town's best remaining examples of the Italianate style but no information is known of its history.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the northern edge of Neosho. At the rear are several frame sheds and coops built in the early 20th century.

45. Sources of Information: On-site inspection.

521 North Wood Street--Herman Knotts House

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, three-bay, Gabled Ell plan residence with Queen Anne influences built ca. 1890. The house has a stone foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney and exterior aluminum siding. On the main (W) and north facades is a one-story wraparound porch. This porch has a flat roof, original milled columns, milled balustrade and spindled frieze. The main entrance has a ca. 1960 glass and wood door. Over the door is a single-light transom. Windows are original one-over-one rectangular wood sash. On the projecting bay of the first story is a pent roof over a large single-light sash window. This roof has milled support brackets and wood fish scale shingles. A similar pent roof is over paired windows on the second story of this bay. In the gable field are milled panels, vergeboard, drop pendants, and knee braces. At the rear is a modern guest house and frame garage. In front of the house is a ca. 1925 concrete and cobblestone fence.

43. History and Significance: This house is an excellent example of a two-story gabled-ell design house with Queen Anne influences. The house has been occupied by the Herman Knotts family for many years but little other information is known of the house.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the north edge of Neosho. At the rear is a garage and adjacent to the residence is a guest house both built in the 20th century.

Wood and Hickory--United Methodist Church

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, irregular plan church with Victorian Gothic influences built in 1897. The main (east) facade is of three bays and the primary entrance is located on the first floor of the building's bell tower. The entrance consists of ca. 1970 metal and glass doors and above the doors is a Gothic arched transom with stained glass lights. The church has a stone foundation, exterior of stretcher-bond brick, and gable roof of asphalt windows. On the east facade facing South Wood Street is a large keyhole design stained glass window. Other windows in the building are one-over-one rectangular wood sash with stained glass lights and rock faced stone lintels and sills. At the corners of the building are stone quoins. At the southeast corner of the building is a two-story bell tower with stone quoins, corbelled brickwork, and a castellated parapet. On the south facade facing East Hickory are five bays. On this facade is a large keyhole design stained glass window with a rock faced surround with radiating voussoirs and keystones. Beneath this window is a large stained glass window divided into four one-over-one sash sections. To the north of the original church is a ca. 1940 two-story brick wing with stone quoins, eight-over-eight sash windows and a flat roof.

43. History and Significance: The church was designed by John M. Propst and built by Charles S. Davis at a cost of $8,000. The datestone was cut by Mr. D. Markey and set October 23, 1897. The church was dedicated on April 20, 1901 by Dr. C.C. Woods. The church has served the Methodist congregation for almost one hundred years. The building is a good example of the Victorian Gothic style and is included in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one block south of the Neosho public square.

45. Sources of Information: datestone; Newton County Historical Society. Neosho, A City of Springs, 60.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building with Colonial Revival detailing built in 1913. The building has a chamfered corner entrance with a square stone column. Part of the storefront has been covered with metal panels in recent years but visible are rock-faced stone bulkheads and brick piers. The entrance and display windows are of ca. 1970 metal and glass. The building has stone quoins. On the upper facade, facing Wood Street, are four window bays with rectangular one-over-one wood sash windows and brick soldier course lintels. At the northeast corner, the bay projects slightly and has stone quoins. Below the roofline is a terra cotta cornice with modillion blocks. On the Main Street facade are seven window bays with both paired and single one-over-one sash windows.

43. History and Significance: The building was constructed as the Newton County Bank in 1913. In 1926, the bank occupied the first floor with the telephone exchange on the second. The building was occupied by the bank for several decades. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located at the southwest corner of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story Carthage stone and metal building constructed with Art Deco influences in 1936. The building was constructed in a cross gable plan with one-story wings extending to the north and south from the east and west sections of the building. The building is oriented with the primary entrances located on the east and west facades. These facades are composed of five bays while the north and south facades are also of five bays. The exterior of the building is of smooth concrete panels and rests on a raised basement. The basement level has small rectangular window openings with ca. 1980 two-light casement windows. The entrance surrounds have fluted pilasters and concrete panels with chevron molding. The doors were added ca. 1980 and are of aluminum and glass design. Window openings have incised concrete lintels but the windows are ca. 1980 metal casement design added ca. 1980. Each bay is divided by fluted pilasters. At the roofline are diamond shaped concrete fret bands and concrete panels inscribed with chevron molding and motifs such as the scales of justice and eagle and floral designs. On the north facade a one-story wing was added ca. 1980 to provide for handicapped access. On the south facade is a large ca. 1980 HVAC unit which has been surrounded with a chain link fence. The interior retains original wood doors, marble wainscoting, fluted marble pilasters, and metal staircases.

43. History and Significance: The present Newton County Courthouse was built on the site of four previous courthouses. The cornerstone was laid on July 30, 1936, with Senator Harry S Truman making the address. The building was designed by St. Louis architect Neal C. Davis, a native of Newton County, and was funded by the Work Projects Administration. The county jail was originally located on the top floor of the building. The courthouse was contracted for $162,687 and the jail for $11,150. M.V. Woodward was the landscape architect. The Courthouse is a good example of the use of Art Deco detailing in public buildings in the 1930s. The building is included as part of the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The courthouse is located at the center of the Neosho public square. At the southeast corner of the courthouse grounds is a rectangular brick pergola. Also on the grounds are assorted stone and marble memorials and monuments.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1885. The building retains an elaborate pressed metal upper facade. The storefront has been altered but retains original wood bulkheads and transoms over the entrance. The entrance was added ca. 1980 and has metal and glass doors. Several display cases behind the display windows also appear to be original or added in the early 20th century. Framing the storefront are original cast iron pilasters with floral panels and capitals. Above the storefront is a transom which has been covered with wood panels. The upper facade is divided into three bays with each bay separated by sheet metal pilasters. Each pilaster has inset floral panels and short Romanesque columns. The south and north window bays are rectangular wood sash windows. The upper sash is Queen Anne style fifteen-light design with border glass lights of blue and orange color. The bottom sash is composed of a clear, single glass light. The central bay has paired similar design windows. At the roofline is a large sheet metal bracketed cornice with floral rectangular panels and rosettes.

43. History and Significance: The original building burned in 1884 and was rebuilt as part of the Robinson Block between 1885 and 1890. The building has continuously housed a drugstore since it was constructed and presently serves as Evans Rexall Drugs. Evans has been at this location for fifty years.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the west side of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, two-part commercial building with Italianate influences built ca. 1885. The building's storefront was altered ca. 1970 and has a brick veneer exterior and metal and glass display windows and doors. On the upper facade are four window openings with original two-over-two segmental arched windows. The windows have cast iron sills and sheet metal hood molding. At the roofline is a sheet metal cornice with floral panels, rope molding, and three finials.

43. History and Significance: The original building burned in 1884 and was rebuilt as part of the Robinson Block between 1885 and 1890. In 1891, 1896, and 1902, there was a grocery on the first floor with a photographer's studio on the second. The studio is shown again on the 1909 Sanborn map, with a confectionery on the first floor. The building was a restaurant in 1916.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located on the west side of the Neosho public square.

45. Sources of Information: Sanborn Insurance Maps. 1908 Souvenir Book of Neosho.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, three-bay, two-part commercial building constructed ca. 1916. The building's storefront has been altered with ca. 1970 metal panels and metal and glass doors. The marquee was either added or altered ca. 1970. The upper facade is original and has three bays of windows. In the north and south bays are three two-over-two rectangular wood sash windows with soldier course lintels and header brick sills. The central bay has three windows in a Paladian motif with the central window larger than the flanking windows. The upper facade has a stuccoed surface and at the roofline is a stepped parapet with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: G.D. Hall built the theater in 1917 and called it the New Dreamland theater. The seating capacity was 700 on the floor, with 150 in the balcony. The first movies shown were talkies. The opening movies were "Red Hot Rhythm" with Kathryn Crawford singing "My Idea of Heaven", and a Mack Sennett comedy. The name was changed to the Orpheum in 1921 and a cooling system was installed in 1922. A new sound system was installed in 1929, after Hugh Gardner purchased the theater. Several theaters flourished in Neosho during WWII, but the Orpheum is the only theater that remains in Neosho. The building is located in the proposed Neosho Commercial Historic District.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located one-half block south of the Neosho public square.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, four-bay, rectangular plan, building constructed with Colonial Revival detailing constructed ca. 1905. The building was originally used as a residence and is presently a funeral home. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and brick exterior end chimneys. Wings have been added to the rear and north facades of the building. On the main (east) facade is a full width, one-story porch with Ionic columns resting on stone piers. Between the piers is a railing with square balusters. At the eaves are dentils and at the roofline of the porch is a wood balustrade. The main entrance has an oval single light glass and wood door with beveled glass sidelights and three light transom. Windows are one-over-one and sixteen-over-one rectangular wood sash. The windows have ashlar stone lintels and keystones. At the roofline are gable dormers on all facades with sixteen-light paired windows. At the corners of the house are yellow glazed brick quoins. On the south facade is a sun porch on both floors with one-over-one and two-over-one sash windows.

43. History and Significance: The house appears to be constructed on the site of an earlier building that is shown on the 1902 Sanborn map. This house first appears on the map in 1909. The house was the home of William Wills, Vice-president of the Bank of Neosho for many years. The house is one of Neosho's best examples of the Colonial Revival style and should be considered for listing on the National Register.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The building is located to the south of the Neosho commercial area.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, rectangular plan, five-bay, Italianate residence built ca. 1870. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of asbestos siding. On the main (W) facade is a three-quarters width one-story porch with original milled columns, brackets, and modillion blocks. At the roofline is a balustrade with original milled panels. The main entrance has a single light glass and wood door with decorative panels. Over the door is a two-light transom. Windows are one-over-one wood sash. At the central bay of the second story is a door leading to the porch roof. This door is of single light glass and wood design. The house has bracketed eaves.

43. History and Significance: The house was constructed ca. 1870. It was built for J.E. Alexander, who owned Alexander and Son plow factory in Neosho. The factory is known to have been operating in 1872, with the family living at 321 S. Wood Street. Alexander was elected presiding judge of the Newton County Court in 1882. The family occupied the house through the 1930s. The house is one of the oldest in Neosho and retains much of its original Italianate detailing. The addition of the artificial siding compromises its integrity but the residence should be considered for National Register listing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: In front of the house is a hoop and dart cast iron fence manufactured by the Ambroswell Compaanyof Joplin. The house is located two blocks the south of the Neosho commercial district.

335 South Wood Street--The Heaton House

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-and-one-half-story frame, three-bay, Queen Anne residence built in 1902. The house has a stone foundation, gable and hipped roof of slate shingles, weatherboard siding, and interior brick chimneys. On the main (W), north and south facades is a one-story wrap-around porch with Tuscan columns and railing with milled balusters. The main entrance has an oval single-light glass and wood door and rectangular single light transom. Windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash. At the northwest corner of the house is a full height three-story tower with a conical slate roof and copper finial. At the roof line of the house is copper ridge cresting and finials. The main facade's roofline also has a gable dormer with one-over-one sash windows and border glass lights. In the gable fields are milled panels in sunburst designs. In the north bay of the first floor is a secondary entrance with a glass and wood single light door.

43. History and Significance: The house was built by Warren Heaton, the inventor of the auger post-hole digger. Heaton paid $8,000 for the construction of the nineteen-room house. The house was begun in 1897 and completed in 1902. Mrs. Cora Justice Heaton (Warren's widow) lived in the house until 1957, when it was purchased by Clarence Schultz. The building remained empty for several years until the Schultz' began restoration. The present owners are Jeff and Julie Cotton. The Heaton House is Neosho's finest expression of the Queen Anne style and has been well maintained. The house appears eligible for National Register listing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: In the front yard of the house is a stone hitching post inscribed "Heaton". In front of the house is a stone retaining wall. The house is located two blocks south of the commercial area.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame, three-bay residence built ca. 1900 in a Prow house design. The house has a stone foundation, cross-gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney and exterior of weatherboard siding. On the main (W) facade is a partial width porch with Tuscan columns. The main entrance has a multi-light glass and wood door. Windows are original one-over-one rectangular wood sash. On the north facade is a one-story bay window.

43. History and Significance: This house has been recognized by the Carver Birthplace Dist. Association Inc., as the "Former home of Aunt Mariah Watkins, where George Washington Carver lived while attending school in Neosho in the mid-1870s." However, this is probably incorrect, as the house does not appear to have been built until around the turn of the century. The house is a good example of a Gabled Ell design.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: Located in a residential area of north Neosho.

45. Sources of Information: Commemorative plaque.
